To

Edson I. Carr

Who did what I hope that this book will do. His efforts as expressed in "Carr Family Records" were the inspiration and challenge that were needed to launch me upon my task.

PREFACE

The most important thing that I have to say in presenting to you of the Carr Family this result of the use of the leisure hours that I have snatched from a busy life is that it is not a finished product.

Many years ago when the fascination of the job made it apparent that some day I might publish my findings I expected that I would write down the material, inscribe "Finis" and close the book. Some years back I discovered that it could never be so. Genealogy being history the last word can never be said. Further, genealogy, or the study of it being laid under great debt to private and obscure records it is always on the brink of great discoveries. Thus my dear fellow descendants of the two lads that dared to come to the primitive shores of America I give you this book not as something complete and finished but as a stimulating puzzle that lies upon the table half pieced together. I hope that you will find here the same thrill of knowledge and the urge to further labor that I have found in preparing it.

In presenting the material I have tried to keep in mind two goals. You will find here a mixture, perhaps incongruous, of reference work and romantic family history. The reference side of the book shows largely in the uniform and perhaps over prominent presentation of the vital statistics and in the cumbersome system of individual numbering. These things certainly do not add to the pleasure of perusal but do help mightily to make it of value as a reference book. The records of the lives and doings of more than a thousand Carrs here introduced I have tried to keep on the romantic and good reading side. With what success I leave you to judge.

Assistance in this work has been so general and generous that individual acknowledgement would be sure to slight some most deserving of mention. Nevertheless I do not wish all of the courtesy and help to go unmentioned. Indeed it is not I, but YOU that have written this book. From all parts of our country have come your personal and family facts and your words of encouragement. Those of the family who live among the scenes in southern Rhode Island that were the familiar home scenes of Robert and Caleb three hundred years ago have been notably helpful. Edson I. Carr, although enjoying his eternal reward long before this present work was begun, should have our everlasting gratitude for the monument to his memory that exists in his "Carr Family Records".

I am profoundly aware that conflicting accounts of our family history exist. Controversy on this matter I shun. The historical data contained in this "CARR BOOK" I have checked and rechecked and I am firmly convinced that it is reliable. Few references are made to other versions. I prefer to allow truth to stand on its own square pedestal, unbuttressed by argument.

I have said that I do not present this as a finished product. I hope that the story of the Carr family will never be finished. All that I have done and all that the future can do will be to dig into the past as we record the expanding future.

Notes To The User Of This Book As A Reference Work

The subjects of all sketches in this work meet three requirements. (a) They are descendants of one or the other of the two brothers, Robert and Caleb. (b) They were born with the surname CARR. (c) They had (or have) children. Deceased, unmarried and childless children are mentioned under the sketch of their parents in cases where any data is available.

I have wilfully violated the common American practice of beginning the count of generations with the emmigrant ancestor. I count as generation I, the parents of the two brothers in order to preserve the relationship in the numbering system.

This system of numbering is granted to be cumbersome. I am persuaded that it is of sufficient value to warrant its use. It consists of assigning the original ancestor (In this case the father of Robert and Caleb) the number "1". Each succeeding generation then takes the father's number and adds a digit from "1" up according to the order of birth. Thus Caleb being the second child of the original ancestor, as far as we now know, he receives his fathers number "1" plus the digit "2" or "12" and his third child taking his number of "12" and adding the digit "3" is numbered "123". A study of this system will reveal many uses of these numbers. The number of digits in a number indicates the individual's generation. Using a person's number you may refer to his ancestor in any previous generation without tracing back generation by generation. Knowing the numbers assigned to any two or more persons their relationship at once becomes apparent.

To reduce the weight of these numbers without destroying all of their value I have, in the tenth generation, assigned small numbers to all males. With these numbers in Generation XI we begin again the same system using the number and a hyphen instead of the original "1".

To assist you I have kept each sketch in a set form so that dates, ages, places etc. may be quickly checked. It is my hope that the separation of male and female Carrs in the index and the index of places mentioned may be of help to you.

Names of husbands and wives appearing in the sketches are carried in bold faced type to facilitate quick recognition.

Where dates or parts of dates and in some cases other data is not at hand I leave a blank space thus presenting an invitation to further search and the filling in of the spaces.

An "+" preceding the name of a child indicates that a sketch of that child appears in the subsequent generation.

OUR SURNAME

Peer into the past as we may, the beginnings of the name of Carr are not clearly to be seen. The genesis is shrouded in the oft referred to "mists of antiquity".

A similar name (Carre or Karre) is found in France and seems of considerable antiquity. Edson Carr dug up the information that a "Karre was among those that went from France to the conquest of England under the great William. One of the early comers to Rhode Island and therefore one of the contemporaries of our early ancestors was a French Huguenot named Ezekiel Carre.

The name under several spellings was rather common in Scotland as early as the fifteenth century. Sir Walter Scott who was himself related to the family has much to say regarding the group. These references appear in the original notes to his "Lay of the Last Minstrel". He cites the varied spellings of the name as Ker, Kerr, Car and Carr.

One authority who made a lifetime study of surnames has, to my mind, the best light yet on how it all started.
He states that in the ancient 14th century records of England he found several references to persons who were known by their given name with the appendage "della carr". This word "carr" he states is a word of Norse origin meaning a low lying meadow. Thus "Robert della carr" meant Robert, who was from that particular sort of a place. This points to our surname having originated in the same manner as did such other surnames as Hill, Lake, Brooks, Field etc. Some remote, single named, ancestor resided near a distinct part of the landscape. In our case near a bit of bottom land known as a carr.

The name in America is not a common one yet a few are found in nearly every city of the land. The spelling is settled down to the two forms Kerr and Carr. Every person of the name that I have ever contacted has been either recently or remotely from the British Isles. Excepting the recent arrivals the remainder of us belong in one of four family groups.

The first group, in point of arrival of the ancestor, are those descendants of the brothers, Robert and Caleb who came to these shores in 1635 and set up in southern Rhode Island their lares and penates.

The second to arrive was George Carr who was at Ipswich, Mass. in 1638. He later removed to what is now Salisbury, Mass. and passed down the name to many sturdy descendants. The third Group are the descendants of another pair of brothers. Thomas and Robert Carr hailing from the English Scottish border country settled in Virginia about 1700. This group have seemingly held more public offices and achieved more individual prominence than any of the other Carr groups. The fourth "clan" go back to the Scotch Karrs, Bradbury and John, who about 1720 took up residence in New Hampshire, adopted the Carr spelling of the name and carved from the wilderness homesteads which still stand as monuments to their worth and industry.

As indicated in the title of this work it is devoted entirely to the chronicalling of the lives and exploits of those who like myself derived their name from those parents somewhere beyond the sea whose sons, Robert and Caleb made the one way trip to America in 1635.

THE CARR BOOK

Generation I

> "It is they that have made us what we are, and we exist only thru them. Not only are we what they were, we are nothing more, nothing else than they continue to be. Death has not carried them far away from us; he has planted them within us. And now it is within us that they are, within us that they exist and have their being, and we are nothing but their shadows. When we forget them it is our whole future that we lose sight of, and when we fail to respect them it is our immortal soul that we are trampling under our feet."
>
> Maeterlinck's "The Power of the Dead"

Of Generation I we have no certain knowledge. The only proof that these people ever lived is the proof that progeny furnish of the progenitors. Two brothers existed; therefore parents existed. These parents are Generation I.

The difficulties of research in this field are especially forminable. In the very first record available on the brothers Robert and Caleb we run into a blank wall. Many of the immigrants of the period came under the blessing of the established Church which furnished affidavit not only of their steadfastness in matters religious but also of their places of origin. Not so the Carrs. Of all the passengers on their ship they and a few others are set apart in the old shipping records of London under a brief heading stating that they had permission to embark for the New World. Not a word as to origin, religion or reason for the trip.

Dr. Turner of Newport, R. I. writing about the time of the Civil War calls Caleb a Scotsman. I have found nothing to either prove or disprove this.

The fact that William Coddington was apparently a close friend of the Carrs and that he originated in Boston, England is a clue that should be explored.

I leave these things to the future and to you, my adventurous relatives. Meanwhile may this nearly blank page at the beginning be a challenge to you.

These people were most certainly natives of the British Isles. Please refer to the preface to Generation 1. Nothing is known of them except that they were the parents of the two sons:

11 + Robert Carr b. Oct. 4, 1614
12 + Caleb Carr b. Dec. 9, 1624

Generation II

On May 9, 1635 the ship Elizabeth and Ann slipped her moorings and put out from London, England under the command of Roger Cooper, Master. Her destination was New England. On board were one hundred and two passengers bearing permission to emmigrate to the new world that lay on the western shore of their ocean.

Among these passengers two should command our attention. These were a young man of twenty one and his little brother of eleven. They are listed in the old records as Robert and Caleb Carr. The notation of "Taylor" is appended to the name of Robert designating his trade. A later writer, Dr. Turner of Newport, refers to them as from Scotland. As yet we do not know exactly from whence they came.

Sometime in the following June (early midsummer, one account says) the ship arrived in Boston harbor and our ancestors were in America.

For the next two years we have to guess as to the residence of these two passengers on the Elizabeth and Ann. For the remainder of their lives Robert and Caleb Carr were close associates of William Coddington who came from Boston, Lincolnshire, England as one of the original members of the Mass. Bay Company in 1629 and was a leading merchant in Boston, Mass. during this period. Robert and Caleb landed at Boston and two years later left Boston. Adding all these facts together are we not permitted to assume that our ancestors were for these first two years of their living on this side the Atlantic in the rapidly growing town of Boston.

Early in 1637 a group of Boston people led by William Coddington left Boston because of religious differences. They went to Providence and conferred with Roger Williams as to settling in those parts. With the active aid of Mr. Williams the group purchased from the Indians the large island of Aquidnick and immediately proceeded to the business of founding the town of Pocassit (later called Portsmouth). It is thought that the Carrs left Boston with this group. Certainly they were early at the Pocassit settlement for on Feb. 21, 1638 Robert Carr was listed as an inhabitant. It is my thought that Caleb who was still but a child of fourteen accompanied Robert.

Many seem to have come to the new settlement at Pocassit that summer of 1638 and the following winter for in the spring of the next year William Coddington and a small group of the leading men removed to the south end of the island to lay out a new settlement leaving at Pocassit a goodly company to carry on.

Again the Carrs followed William Coddington and like him remained at the new settlement the rest of their days. The name which they gave this new home has remained unchanged all these years. It is still Newport.

Lying in the mouth of Narragansett Bay off shore from Newport is the sizable island of Conanicut (known now as Jamestown). In contrast with the forested shores of Aquidnick, Conanicut had some cleared land where the Indians had for generations summered and grown their corn and vegetables. This area of hay, pasturage and vegetable land appealed to the forest bound colonists of Newport. Thus in 1659 we find William Coddington, Benedict Arnold, William Brenton, Caleb Carr and Richard Smith leading a company of Newport citizens in arranging the transfer of Conanicut and the small adjoining islands of Gould and Dutch to themselves. Chief Quisaquam made the transfer on the part of the Indians.

Both Robert and Caleb were among the ninety eight original purchasers of the island. It is thought that neither of the brothers resided on the island. This move was left to their children. But that is another story for which I refer you to Generation III.

The settlements of southern Rhode Island had a visitor during this period who should be noted because of the similarity of names and the confusion possible thereby. This visitor was Sir Robert Carr who came as a member of the Royal Commission attempting to hear and settle disputes of the Colonies with the mother country and with each other. Sir Robert was in Newport and its environs early in 1665. He must have found the country to his liking for a letter of his to the King is recorded in which he craves a grant of land in the Cowessett country. This grant probably was never made as Sir Robert died shortly after his landing in England upon his return to that country in 1667. His family had no connection with Rhode Island and if he was related to our Robert and Caleb it went unmentioned on both sides as far as I have been able to learn.

ROBERT CARR 11

Born in the British Isles Oct. 4, 1614
Died in Newport, R. I. between Apr. 30 and Oct. 4, 1681
Married in on to

The date of Robert's marriage or the name of his wife has not yet come to light.

The first mention that is found of this emmigrant ancestor of ours is shown in the ~~illustration opposite.~~ frontispiece The story behind this permission for Robert and Caleb to "pass beyond the seas" still lies beyond our ken. For now it must suffice us that they came. The ship bearing our ancestors arrived in Boston in early midsummer of 1635 and both of the Carrs are lost to view for about two years.

On Feb. 21, 1638 Robert Carr is mentioned as an inhabitant of the new settlement at Pocassit (now Portsmouth, R. I.). See the introduction to this generation. Two years later, on Mar. 16, 1641 he is listed as a freeman in the then forming settlement at Newport, R. I. This last spot, Newport, became the permanent home of Robert Carr. Here he engaged in trade and thrived as is attested by his will which disposed of considerable property. See Appendix No. 1.

Robert Carr embraced the religion of the Society of Friends probably about the time of the visit of George Fox to Rhode Island.

He was involved in the purchase of the island of Conanicut (Jamestown) from the Indians but it is quite certain that he always remained a resident of Newport.

Walter Clarke, a son-in-law of Roger Williams and the brother, Caleb, were made overseers of Robert's will. This will places his death date between Apr. 30 and Oct. 4 in the year 1681 as it was executed on the first date and proven on the second.

The following six children were born to Robert and his wife:

111	+	Caleb Carr	b.
112	+	Elizabeth Carr	b.	1651
113	+	Mary Carr	b.
114	+	Robert Carr	b.
115	+	Esek Carr	b.
116	+	Margaret Carr	b.

GOV. CALEB CARR 12

Born in the British Isles Dec. 9, 1624
Died by drowning Dec. 17, 1695
Married (1) Ann Easton, b. 1631-1651
(2) Mercy Vaughan, b. 1630, d. Sept. 12, 1675.
(3) Sarah Clarke (Widow Pinner) of Jeremiah and Frances (Latham) Clarke, b. 1651 d. 1706

Having thus listed the three wives of Caleb Carr, I must at once qualify it by saying that the records are very confusing on the subject of Caleb's wives. The above is the best guess that I can make after studying the many sources that mention his marriages. I feel very sure that the children of Caleb were all borne by his last two wives as is indicated below.

From the mention of Caleb, as a child of eleven years, in the shipping record to his admission as a freeman in Newport, R. I. in 1655 there is no mention in the early records of this younger brother of Robert (11). Who can doubt however that he was with his older brother during that period as he was with him the remainder of their lives.

As mentioned in the Introduction to Gen II and in the record of Robert (11) Caleb came to America in 1635 and spent the first three years somewhere in Mass. Bay Colony. In 1638 we may suppose him with his brother at Pocassit as we may suppose him removing to Newport the year following.

Caleb Carr took a very prominent part in the affairs of the settlement at Newport and in the Colony of Rhode Island. Among the offices in which he served were:

Town Commissioner
Deputy Justice
General Treasurer
Colonial Governor

This last office was attained in 1695 and terminated by his death late that same year.

He and his wife Mercy were both buried in Newport, R. I. near where the Coddington School now stands. On Sept. 8, 1900 the bodies of Caleb and Mercy Carr were disenterred and removed to the island of Jamestown where they still are. They lie in a small private cemetery and are properly marked with the stones that marked their graves in Newport.

Probably the thing that Caleb did that had the most lasting effect upon the family was his purchase of large tracts of land on the island of Conanicut (Jamestown). Here several of his children took up their residence, here his descendants still live almost three hundred years afterward. During all that time the Carrs have taken a prominent part in the affairs of the island. See Introduction to Gen. II.

Another thing that perpetuated the memory and influence of Caleb Carr was his establishment of a ferry between Newport and Jamestown.

This he did about 1675. In 1695 his rights were confirmed by a grant of the ferry rights to Jamestown from both the east and west approaches.

The ferry business seems to have been conveyed to his son John before his death. From this son, John, the business came down in the family for about two hundred and fifty years. During all this span there was always a Carr connected with the Ferry business. A bridge superseded the west ferry in 1940. The Newport-Jamestown Ferry Co. is now, 1945, owned by the town of Jamestown. Mr. George Carr and Miss Lucy Carr both of the family are connected with the Co. Thus the ferry business which Caleb Carr founded and from whose boat he was drowned still stands as a monument to him. Indeed the commodious boat now in operation bears the name "Governor Carr".

Governor Caleb, in the course of all these activities became possessed of considerable wealth. His residence was on what is now Mill St. in Newport. He owned wharves and a warehouse at the foot of Mill St. where the ferry now docks. His will, for which see appendix No. 2, disposed of human as well as real and personal property.

Eleven children were born to Caleb, ten of whom married and with the exception of the daughter Mary are treated in Gen. III. The daughter Mary was without children but had a rather famous husband in Thomas Paine. He was a seafaring man and there is strong evidence to prove that he was partner and intimate of the famous pirate, Captain Kidd. W. L. Watson in his interesting sketch "The House of Carr" calls attention to a letter written by Sarah Kidd, the wife of the famous Captain who was imprisoned with him in Boston. This letter was addressed to Capt. Thomas Paine of Conanicut and asked that the bearer be given 24 ounces of gold to support herself and husband while they were imprisoned. Again we find reference to Capt. Paine and his association with Kidd in an entry in Lord Bellemont's Journal. In 1699 he entered this note "I also examined Capt. Thomas Paine (formerly a pirate) upon his oath relating to goods or treasure imported by Captain William Kidd and reported to be left by Kidd with said Paine". Well may we wonder at the story quoted by Edson Carr in his "Carr Family Records" (Appendix No. 3). Did this Captain of the frigate "Pearl" play a yankee trick and cover some of his adventures with a Royal Commission. The dau. Mercy d. young.

The children of Caleb and Mercy were:

121	+	Nicholas Carr	b. Oct. 22, 1654
122		Mercy Carr	b. April 6, 1656

123	+	Caleb Carr	b. Aug. 23, 1657
124	+	Samuel Carr	b. Dec. 15, 1659
125		Mary Carr	b. Jan. 1, 1661
126	+	John Carr	b. about 1664
127	+	Edward Carr	b. about 1666

The children of Caleb and Sarah were:

128	+	Francis Carr	b. about 1678
129	+	James Carr	b. about 1680
12–10	+	Sarah Carr	b. about 1682
12–11	+	Elizabeth Carr	b. about 1684

Generation III

Attracted by the tolerance of the R. I. settlements many of the religiously persecuted of the other New England settlements went to early Providence, Portsmouth and Newport. Some sixteen years after our forebears helped lay the foundations of Newport the Quakers began coming to America and most especially to Rhode Island for there at least they were tolerated if not welcomed. At Newport they were not only tolerated but welcomed and their faith accepted by many of the leaders. Arnold in his "Hist. of R. I." says that Mr. Coddington, Mr. Easton and others became followers of George Fox in this period. It seems almost certain that both Robert and Caleb embraced the faith and practice of the Society of Friends as have many of their descendants even to this day.

Generation III consists of the sketches of fifteen of the children of Robert and Caleb.

The steps taken by these children that had the greatest historical results were the retention and development of Caleb's ferry to Jamestown and the settlement on that island of several children of both Caleb and Robert. Ever since Jamestown has been "HOME" to Carrs and the family have helped actively in shaping the affairs there for lo these nearly three hundred years.

In this Generation begins in a very modest way the "moving out" process that is to keep the family on the crest of the wave of immigration that will eventually sweep to the Pacific.

CALEB CARR 111

Born in Newport, R. I.
Died in Jamestown, R. I. , 1690
Married in on to

Phillis Green. She was of John and Ann (Almy) Green and was born on Oct. 7, 1658 and died after 1690. Her father, John, was a Deputy Governor of the Colony. Peter Green was her brother. "Greene Family" says her name was Phillippa Greene.

This Caleb seems to have been one of the first settlers of the island of Jamestown. His father was one of the original purchasers of the island from the Indians. (see introduction to Gen. II) At his father's death he received by will a farm on the island of Jamestown where it is likely that he was living at the time.

The will of Caleb is dated Jan. 27 the 1st of William K. of Gt. B. It was proved in Newport Mar. 30, 1690. This will mentions, among others, his cousin Nicholas which proves the relationship of the first Robert and Caleb if indeed such proof is needed.

Seven sons and daughters were born to Caleb and Phillis. The eldest of these, Robert, died as a child. After the death of Caleb his widow, Phillis, married Charles Dickinson by whom she also had children. These children of Caleb and Phillis are mentioned in "Annals of Our Colonial Ancestors" by A. M. Shotwell who is in some small disagreement as to dates of birth. The son, Job, married but is supposed to have been childless. His wife was Mehitable Sherman of Kingstown, R. I. (b. Mar. 4, 1688; d. Nov. 3, 1751). Job died Jan. 23, 1753.

The seven children of Caleb and Phillis were:

1111		Robert Carr	b. Jan. 2, 1678

MARY CARR 113

Born in Newport, R. I.
Died in
Married (1) in on to

John Hicks. The little known of this John Hicks is that he was a ship's carpenter. He is supposed to have died a few years after marriage for we find Mary marrying (2) Ralph Earle. He was of William and Mary (Walker) Earle and was born in 1660 and died in 1757. Ralph was a member of the Society of Friends as I feel sure was Mary and most of the other Carrs of that day in Rhode Island.

The names of all the children of Mary are not known. She and John are said to have had four children. Three children of Mary and Ralph are known.

Among the children of Mary and John was:

George Hicks b.

The known children of Mary and Ralph were:

William Earle b.
Robert Earle b.
Abigail Earle b.

ROBERT CARR 114

Born in Newport, R. I.
Died in Newport, R. I. , 1704
Married in on to

Elizabeth Lawton. She was of George and Elizabeth (Hazard) Lawton

Robert Carr was a merchant of Newport. His will was dated July 8, 1703 naming his wife executrix and his brother-in-law, Robert Lawton, overseer. This will was proved Feb. 5, 1704. It gave his wife management of the estate enjoining her to bring up his children until their coming of age when a certain portion of the estate was to be delivered to them. Elizabeth died in 1724 possessed of some means which she distributed by will to her grandson, James Honeyman, her granddaughter, Elizabeth Dunbar, her sister-in-law, Mary Earle and others.

The names of but two children of Robert and Elizabeth are known. From the fact set forth above that they had a granddaughter named Dunbar would mean that there was either two daughters or that the daughter Abigail married twice. The son Robert did not marry. He died in 1710 willing all of his property to his mother.

Robert and Elizabeth are known to have had:

1141		Robert Carr	b.
1142	+	Abigail Carr	b.

ESEK CARR 115

Born in Newport, R. I.
Died in Little Compton, R. I. , 1744
Married in on , 1684 to Susanna ________.

Esek followed the trade of a cooper and seems to have settled in Little Compton. His will was dated May 16, 1739 and was proved Nov. 12, 1744. With the exception of small cash bequests to his daughters and grandchildren and a quarter acre of land for a family burial plot the estate all went to his son, Robert.

The ten children of Esek and Susanna were:

1151	+	Mary Carr	b. July 14, 1685
1152	+	Sarah Carr	b. Mar. 19, 1689
1153	+	Elizabeth Carr	b. July 29, 1691
1154	+	Esek Carr	b. Aug. 23, 1693
1155	+	Anna Carr	b. Feb. 28, 1696
1156		Martha Carr	b. May 29, 1698

1158	+	Margaret Carr	b. Jan. 16, 1703
1159	+	Robert Carr	b. Feb. 24, 1706
115-10	+	Thankful Carr	b. April 27, 1709

MARGARET CARR 116

Born in Newport, R. I.
Died in Middletown, N. J. (prob.)
Married in on Nov. 27, 1670 to Richard Hartshorne. Richard was born in Halhearne, Leicestershire, England on Oct. 24, 1641, and died, probably at Middletown, N. J., on May 3, 1722. His father's name was Hugh.

I suppose that Richard Hartshorne lived at Newport at the time of his marriage to Margaret Carr. They later moved to Middletown, N. J. Embracing the Quaker faith he became one of the eminent men of that persuasion. When George Fox, the founder of the Society of Friends, visited America he honored this family by visiting their home. Both

Richard and his wife are highly spoken of in the journal of that great leader. Richard served as Speaker of the N. J. Assembly from 1687 to 1708

Seven children were born to Margaret and Richard. The eldest son, Hugh, died as an infant. The seven were:

Hugh Hartshorne	b. May 15, 1673
Mary Hartshorne	b. Aug. 14, 1676
William Hartshorne	b. Jan. 22, 1678-9
Catherine Hartshorne	b. May 2. 1682
Hugh Hartshorne	b. June 2, 1685
Sarah Hartshorne	b. July 3, 1687

NICHOLAS CARR 121

Born in Newport, R. I., Oct. 22, 1654
Died in Jamestown, R. I., Feb. 17, 1709
Married in on to Rebecca Nicholson. She was of Joseph and Jane Nicholson and is thought to have been born in Portsmouth, R. I. Her birth date was Feb. 1, 1656. She died May 13, 1703.

Upon his marriage it is thought that Nicholas and his wife set up their home on one of his father's farms on the island of Jamestown. We are certain that he was there in 1679 for on May 6th of that year the records show that he was made a free man of the Colony and mention him as of Jamestown. He was chosen as the first representative from Jamestown to the General Assembly. That office he filled at different times during his lifetime. His name occurs often in the early records of the Town of Jamestown.

Nicholas and Rebecca were Friends.

The fine old house on the Jamestown farm that has for many years been known as the "Homestead" was quite certainly built by this Nicholas. A board bearing the legend "1776" was found some years ago in this house. This legend was thought for many years to refer to the year that the house was built. In fact it became known as the '1776 House". Recent expert examination of the building yields the fact that it was built around 1700 which lines it up with the family tradition that Nicholas built it as a wedding gift for his son, Thomas.

Nicholas and Rebecca had need of the good farm on Jamestown island for the mouths to feed were many. Rhode Island historians disagree as to the number and names of the children. Austin in "R. I. Genealogies" inserts a Robert between Mercy and Rebecca. "Representative Men and Old Families of R. I." makes no mention of Margaret. Dr. Turner's mss. in the library of the Newport Hist. Society gives the eleven as below. At least three of the children died before reaching maturity. Joseph on Aug. 9, 1702, Benjamin on Dec. 27, 1684 and Caleb on Jan. 4, 1704-5.

The eleven children were:

1211	+	Nicholas Carr	b. Sept. 19, 1679
1212		Joseph Carr	b. Mar. 7, 1681
1213		Benjamin Carr	b. July 7, 1683
1214	+	Margaret Carr	b. Oct. 22, 1684
1215		Jane Carr	b. Aug. 3, 1686
1216		Caleb Carr	b. Mar. 27, 1688
1217	+	Mercy Carr	b. Apr. 20, 1690
1218		Rebecca Carr	b. May 12, 1692
1219		Ann Carr	b. Feb. 5, 1694
121-10	+	Thomas Carr	b. Jan. 25, 1696
121-11	+	Benjamin Carr	b. Nov. 21, 1697

CALEB CARR 123

Born in Newport, R. I., Aug. 23, 1657
Died in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 10, 1700
Married in on to
Deborah Sayles. She was born about 1656 and died about 1700. She was the daughter of John and Mary (Williams) Sayles. This makes her the granddaughter of the great Roger Williams.

Caleb and Deborah were residents of Jamestown. Whether they spent all of their lives on that island is not known. Ten children were born to them. Of the children not carried forward into Gen. IV the following data should be noted. The son Benjamin died Mar. 15, 1701; Daniel mar. a Mary ____ and is thought to have settled in Warwick, R. I. no issue are known: Robey was twice married but thought to have been childless. Her husbands were Robert Hopkins of West Greenwich who she married on Oct. 16, 1743 and John Noyes who she married on Aug. 1, 1751.

The ten children of Caleb and Deborah were:

1231	+	John Carr	b. Jan. 4, 1681
1232		____ Carr	b. Sept. 16, 1682

1233	+	Mercy Carr	b. Oct. 7, 1683

SAMUEL CARR 124

Born in Newport, R. I., Dec. 15, 1659
Died in , 1694
Married in on to
———— ————.

Bayles' "History of Newport Co." says that one of the sons of Caleb Carr settled in Long Island. I believe it to have been this son, Samuel. Almost nothing is known of Samuel except that he married and had the son:

1241	+	Job Carr	b. Oct. 31, 1689

JOHN CARR 126

Born in Newport, R. I. about 1664
Died in Newport, R. I. , 1714
Married in on to
Waite Easton. She was the daughter of Peter and Ann (Coggeshall) Easton and was born in Newport on Nov. 5, 1668. She died in that same city on Aug. , 1725.

It was through this John that the ferry business established by his father, Caleb, was passed along to become almost traditional with the Carr family of Newport and Jamestown. If we may be allowed to assume, and I think that we may, that Caleb started a regular ferry service between Newport and Jamestown around 1675 it appears that the ferry was owned by members of the family for almost two hundred years for in 1873 George C. Carr (121-10-639) helped to organize the Jamestown and Newport Ferry Co. which took over ownership of the enterprize. Since that date Carrs have continued to serve as officers of the Ferry Co. which makes of this ferry a business that has had the continued interest of the Carr family since the beginning of the Colonial period or now nearing the three hundred year mark.

Waite Easton Carr was a granddaughter of the beloved Colonial Governor, Nicholas Easton. Both she and John are buried in the family lot in Newport. John evidently willed all of his property to his son Samuel with instructions as to its disposal. See No. 4 of the appendix for an interesting undertaking of Samuel in which are set forth these provisions.

John and Waite had eight children. The eldest and the youngest lived but short lives. The first John dying on June 5, 1694 and Joshua on Mar. 25, 1703. All six of the maturing children married but three are not known to have had children and are therefor mentioned only here. Ann mar. on Jan. 18, 1709. Her husband was Caleb Barker of Scituate. Francis was married to Hannah Weeden on Feb. 24, 1720. Patience was twice married. Her first husband was Joseph Peckham. Her second Edward Edes (or Estes) whom she married on Aug. 27, 1730.

Following are the eight children of John and Waite:

1261		John Carr	b. Nov. 23, 1691
1262		Ann Carr	b. about 1693
1263	+	Samuel Carr	b. about 1694
1264	+	Caleb Carr	b. about 1695
1265	+	John Carr	b. about 1697
1266		Francis Carr	b. about 1699
1267		Patience Carr	b. about 1700
1268		Joshua Carr	b. Feb. , 1702

EDWARD CARR 127

Born in Newport, R. I. about 1666
Died in Oct. 14, 1711

Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Oct. 6, 1686, to Hannah Stanton. She was of John and Mary (Harndell) Stanton of Newport. She was born Nov. 7, 1670 and died in 1712.

This is another of the Carr families that lived on the island of Jamestown in the early years. I do not have exact data on the occupation or place of residence of this Edward but few lived on the island in those days that were not interested in agriculture of one sort or another.

Nine children were born to Edward and Hannah. But one of these failed to grow up. The daughter, Phebe, died on July 17, 1711 as a child of four years. The daughter, Hannah, had two husbands. The first bore the surname of Slocum. The second was Samuel Watson of South Kingstown, R. I. All other details of the life of this daughter are lacking. The daughter, Mary, married Josias Lyndon but was childless. This Josias Lyndon became rather an important figure in Rhode Island. He was one of the founders of the Redwood Library as well as one of the incorporators and first trustees of Brown University. For a number of years he served as Clerk of the R. I. Assembly and in 1768 was elected Governor of the Colony. When during the Revolution the British possessed Newport he removed to Warren, R. I. where he died of smallpox on Mar. 30, 1778. Mercy, the third daughter of Edward and Hannah was also twice married. She was married first on Dec. 20,1718 to a man named Paine. Her second husband was Samuel Brown who had also been married once before. Nothing further is at hand on this daughter.

The nine children of Edward and Hannah were:

1271	+	Edward Carr	b. Sept. 14, 1689
1272		Hannah Carr	b. Oct. 13, 1691
1273		Mary Carr	b. Oct. 26, 1693
1274		Mercy Carr	b. Feb. 24, 1696
1275	+	Avis Carr	b. May 29, 1698
1276	+	Patience Carr	b. Feb. 14, 1701
1277	+	James Carr	b. Oct. 27, 1703
1278		Phebe Carr	b. Sept. 6, 1706
1279	+	Sarah Carr	b. Dec. 28, 1708

FRANCIS CARR 128

Born in Newport, R. I. about 1678
Died in , 1717
Married in on June 18, 1700 to Damaris Arnold. She was of Josiah and Sarah (Miller) Arnold and was born May 19, 1684.

Little can be found on this family. Francis is said to have been a ship's carpenter by trade.

A daughter was the only child of Francis and Damaris. This daughter married George Piggott but had no children.

This daughter was:

1281	Sarah Carr	b.

JAMES CARR 129

Born in Newport, R. I. about 1680
Died in
Married in on to

The record of this Carr is mostly "don't know". He was made a freeman in Newport in 1701 and had the son below. These fragments of data are all that we now have.

The son of James was:

1291 + Caleb Carr b.

SARAH CARR 12-10-

Died in Feb. 8, 1765
Married in on Jan. 10, 1705 to John Hammett. He was born about 1680 and died May 20, 1773.

Sarah and John had the following six children:

John Hammett	b. Oct. 10, 1705
Mercy Hammett	b. Feb. 14, 1710
Thomas Hammett	b. April 11, 1712
Sarah Hammett	b, , 1714

James Hammett	b. Dec. 31, 1718

ELIZABETH CARR 12-11-

Born in Newport, R. I. about 1684

Two sons and two daughters were born to Elizabeth and John as follows:

Mary Godfrey	b. Mar. 23, 1702
John Godfrey	b. Jan. 31, 1704
Caleb Godfrey	b. July 17, 1706
Elizabeth Godfrey	b. May 21, 1709

Generation IV

The great grandchildren of Robert and Caleb Carr that are sketched in this generation lived in one of the great formative periods of American History. From the British Isles multitudes had joined the ranks of these adventurers in a new land. The early comers had obeyed bibical injunction and both possessed the land and increased their numbers. The Indians with whom Robert and Caleb had traded were being forced farther and farther back into the wilderness. These folk of the fourth generation doubtless knew many indians but after King Philip's war which was endured by their fathers and grandfathers the red men took an increasingly inferior part in the economy of southern New England.

The lives of these fourth generation Carrs were lived mainly in and about Newport and Jamestown, R. I. These places must have seemed a very settled home to them as their parents, grandparents and great grandparents had all lived in these parts.

For reasons unknown the descendants of Robert Carr that lived on the island of Jamestown removed in this generation to nearby places "off island" leaving the descendants of Caleb alone to keep alive the name on that large and lovely isle. This job they did so well that Carrs still have their places in the life of Jamestown.

CALEB CARR 1112

Born in Jamestown, R. I. Mar. 26, 1679
Died in West Greenwich, R. I. after 1750
Married (1) in on April 30, 1701 to Joanna Slocum. She was of Ebenezer and Mary (Thurston) Slocum and was born in Jamestown on Jan. 2, 1680. She died Nov. 31, 1709. Caleb Carr married (2) on 11, 1712 Mary __________.

Caleb and his wife, Joanna were Quakers for we find the record of her death in the "R. I. Friends Records". The record of her death is of interest also because it speaks of Caleb Carr as being of Conanicut, which shows how the lovely old Indian names clung to places. Conanicut being the Indian name of the island called Jamestown.

In 1731 Caleb and his family left the island of Jamestown and bought land on the western shore of the bay in the town of West Greenwich. This purchase was made of John and Rose Williams and abbutted a pond which was later called Carr's Pond a name that it still bears over two hundred years later. Deeds of land are found from Caleb to his sons

Joseph, William and Charles. His will dated 1750 divided the property among the five sons.

Caleb was the father of seven children. His first wife, Joanna bore five as below:

11121	+	Caleb Carr	b. Nov. 6, 1702
11122	+	Joseph Carr	b. about 1704
11123	+	Patience Carr	b. about 1705
11124		Mary Carr	b. about 1707
11125	+	William Carr	b. Dec. 26, 1708

The children of Caleb and Mary were:

11126	+	Benejah Carr	b. about 1713
11127	+	Charles Carr	b. about 1715

WILLIAM CARR 1113

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 16, 1681
Died in before 1711
Married in on Feb. 8, 1708-9 to Abigail Barker.

I give the son of William and Abigail below as "Carr Family Records" has it. I would call attention to the fact that the R. I. General Assembly of 1711 speaks of Abigail as a widow with her estate in the hands of Caleb Carr who is there enjoined to "subsist" her. The birth of their son then in 1715 is quite unlikely.

This son was:

11131	+	Robert Carr	b. July 2, 1715

ROBERT CARR 1114

Born in Jamestown, R. I., June 7, 1683
Died in Swansea, Mass., Oct. 12, 1722
Married in Swansea, Mass. on Oct. 21, 1708 to Hannah Hale. She was born in Warren, R. I. Mar. 8, 1690 and died there May 31, 1771.

Robert, like most of the grand children of Robert Carr, left the island of Conanicut or Jamestown. This Robert settled up across the state line in Swansea, Mass. where he lived until his death. The subsequent history of three of the children of this family is a field for further research.

The four children of Robert and Hannah were:

11141		Mary Carr	b. Mar. 2, 1710
11142		Robert Carr	b. July 2, 1715
11143		Hannah Carr	b. Sept. 18, 1717
11144	+	Caleb Carr	b. June 3, 1719

NICHOLAS CARR 1211

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 19, 1679
Died in
Married (1) in on Mar. 16, 1706 to Frances Holmes. Frances was a great grand daughter of the founder of Providence Plantations, Roger Williams. The marriage of Nicholas and Frances was performed by Governor Samuel Cranston. Frances seems to have passed to her reward sometime after Feb. 5, 1724, when her last child was born as "R. I. Friends Records" says that Nicholas married (2) in Newport on Mar. 1732 to Mary Gould (widow). The same source records the death of this Mary Gould Carr on Sept. 10, 1770 at the age of 80 years.

Nicholas and Frances were residents of the island of Jamestown. He served that town as Deputy at the General Assemblies of 1723, 1728 and 1734.

Nicholas was the father of nine children, all by his first marriage. The daughters, Mary and Deborah died young. The daughters, Anne and Frances both married but children, if any, of theirs are not known. Anne married Immanuel Northrup of North Kingstown on Mar. 11, 1746. He was of Henry and Mary Northrup and was born in North Kingstown on June 17, 1699. Francis married Christopher Spencer of North Kingstown on Sept. 26, 1745. He was of William and Elizabeth Spencer.

The nine children of Nicholas and Frances were:

MERCY CARR 1217

Born in Jamestown, R. I., April 20, 1690
Died in
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Dec. 20, 1711 to John Weeden.

All that I have to add to the above bits of data is the fact that Mercy and John had the following five children.

____ Weeden	b, Nov. , 1712
Edward Weeden	b. July 12, 1716
Peleg Weeden	b. Jan. 29, 1718
Daniel Weeden	b. Jan. , 1720

THOMAS CARR 121–10–

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Jan. 25, 1696
Died in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 14, 1753
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Feb. 23, 1720 to Hannah Weeden. She was of John and Jane (Underwood) Weeden and was born in Jamestown on April 14, 1699.

Thomas and Hannah are supposed to have been the first to occupy the ancient house that still stands on the Carr farm a mile or so north of the village of Jamestown. Wooden buildings in the rear of the house at one time housed numerous slaves. These buildings have long since gone the way of their occupants. It is probable that the slaves served the family of Thomas. The wood work in the old kitchen of the house in several places bears "S" shaped marks. The story told in the family is that the slaves at times for amusement would heat pot hooks and with the tongs press them against the kitchen doors and walls leaving the neat imprint burned into the wood.

This family were all members of the Society of Friends.

Large families were the rule in Colonial America of the 1700s and the family of Thomas and Hannah abided by the rule. The following eight children were born to them.

121–10–1	+	Sarah Carr	b. Jan. 11, 1721
121–10–2	+	Jane Carr	b. Jan. 14, 1723
121–10–3	+	Benjamin Carr	b. Sept. 14, 1725
121–10–4	+	John Carr	b. Sept. 20, 1728
121–10–5		Thomas Carr	b. Oct. 6, 1730
121–10–6	+	Nicholas Carr	b. Dec. 25, 1732

121-10-7	+	Rebecca Carr	b. June 22, 1735
121-10-8		Joseph Carr	b. July 15, 1739

BENJAMIN CARR 121-11-

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Nov. 21, 1697
Died in
Married in East Greenwich, R. I. on to Ann ________.

All that is known to date on this family is that they lived in East Greenwich and had the two children:

121-11-1	Phebe Carr	b. May 6, 1730
121-11-2	Peleg Carr	b. Feb. 26, 1732

Died in
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Dec. 15, 1704 to Abigail Remington. She was born in Jamestown on March 3, 1686. Her death occurred March 6, 1763.

John and Abigail lived all of their lives on the island of Jamestown. John inherited the bulk of the estate of his father.

Three sons and a daughter were born to John and Abigail. Except for the son carried forward to Gen. V there is no data to present on these children.

The four children of John and Abigail were:

12311		William Carr	b. Aug. 28, 1705
12312	+	Caleb Carr	b. June 15, 1707

MERCY CARR 1233

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 7, 1683
Died in Swansea, Mass. , 1776
Married in on Nov. 29, 1705 to Esek Brown. Esek was born on Mar. 8, 1679, probably in Newport. He was the son of Elizabeth Carr (see 112). Thus it was that this marriage united a grand child of the original Robert with a grand child of the original Caleb.

Mercy and Esek resided in Swansea, Mass.

Two of their eight children died in infancy. These were the first Mary and the first Deborah.

Their eight children were:

Mary Brown	b. Mar. 28, 1707
Elizabeth Brown	b. Oct. 10, 1708
Deborah Brown	b. June 11, 1711
Esek Brown	b. Aug. 13, 1712

CAPT. PELEG CARR 1236

Died in Jan. 4, 1736
Married in on Nov. 29, 1711 to Anne Crawford. She was born May 13, 1690 and died Sept. 14, 1729.

The title of Capt. Peleg doubtless came from the sea rather than from the military. It is not known where he lived. He owned land in Newport and by his father's will land in Kingstown and Cowset.

The two daughters of Peleg and Anne died as young ladies. Freelove passed away on June 28, 1730 and Alma on Oct. 22, 1729.

The two daughters were:

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Nov. 24, 1696
Died in , 1774
Married in Newport, R. I., on June 10, 1740 to Martha Child.

Not too much is known of the subject of this sketch. His father's will conveyed to him land in Cowset and New Bristol, R. I. also a share in Gould Island.

The only children of Sayles and Martha of which anything is known is the son,

123-10-1	+	Sayles Carr	b. about 1742

JOB CARR 1241

Born in Newport, R. I., Oct. 31, 1689
Died in Jericho, Long Island, N. Y.
Married in on Feb. 11, 1711 to Hannah Willetts. She was of Jericho and the only child of Richard and Abigail (Browne) Willetts.

Job and Hannah were Quakers and resided in a small Quaker colony in the town of Oyster Bay near Jericho. Their farm was later owned by Matther F. Robbins who recounted that as a boy he knew of a family burying ground on the farm. This has long since disappeared but Mr. Robbins told of seeing a rough stone there with the initials "J. C." cut upon it. This he stated was always pointed out as the grave of Job Carr. The records of the town of Oyster Bay show that in 1714 "Job and Hannah Carr deeded to George Townsend 500 acres of land in Buck Co., Pa. by Neshaming Creek, formerly laid out by Job Browne, deceased, in 1688 and conveyed by his son Samuel Browne in 1696 to Hannah Carr."

Job and Hannah had four children. On Aug. 16, 1743 the son Samuel died supposedly unmarried.

The four children were:

12411		Mary Carr	b. Aug. 4, 1712
12412		Samuel Carr	b. Nov. 10, 1714
12413	+	Hannah Carr	b. July. 24, 1716
12414	+	Caleb Carr	b. Nov. 4, 1719

SAMUEL CARR 1263

Born in Newport, R. I. , 1694
Died in Newport, R. I., June 19, 1739
Married in about 1719 to Mary Greene. At the time of her marriage Mary Greene resided in Warwick, R. I., but she was born in Cowesett on April 6, 1697. She is thought to have died the latter part of 1745 as her will which was dated July 13, 1745 was proved the 5th of the next January. This will mentions her four sons and the deceased daughter, two grandsons and her sisters Susanna and Elizabeth.

Samuel Carr was a gunsmith and plied his trade in the thriving port of Newport.

Four sons and one daughter were born to Samuel and Mary. The ever present scourge of small pox took both Samuel and the daughter on June 19, 1739. They are buried together on Goat Island. His tomb stone bears the following epitaph:

> "Nor human skill, nor prayers, nor tears could save
> From the dark chamber of the silent grave.
> Thus are we from our fondest hopes beguiled
> The tenderest husband and the sweetest child.
> In this distinguished day of both bereft
> The happiest wife a mournful widow left
> Does to their much loved memory bestow
> This stone, sad monument of real woe."

The children of Samuel and Mary were:

12631	+	Caleb Carr	b. , 1720
12632	+	Samuel Carr	b. July 28, 1722
12633		Waite Carr	b. , 1726
12634	+	Ebenezer Carr	b. Oct. 2, 1735
12635	+	John Carr	b. Oct. 6, 1738

CALEB CARR 1264

This son was:

12641	Caleb Carr	b. , 1723

JOHN CARR 1265

Born in Newport, R. I. around 1697
Died in
Married in Swansea, Mass. on Sept. 15, 1735 to Mary Hill.

The remarks regarding John's brother also apply to him.

They are supposed to have had but the one child:

12651	Patience Carr	b. June 21, 1736

EDWARD CARR 1271

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 14, 1689
Died in

Married (1) in Warwick, R. I. on July 13, 1721 to Naomi (Barton) Slocum. She was the widow of Ebenezer Slocum. She lived but a few years after her marriage to Edward Carr passing away on Jan. 23, 1726. The second venture in matrimony of Edward was in Jamestown, R. I. on April 11, 1734 when he married (2) Hannah Hazard. She was the daughter of Oliver Hazard. Austin's "Gen. Dict. and Vital Records of R. I." is quoted by the Aug. 29, 1935 Boston Transcript as authority for the statement that the second wife of Edward was Hannah Haxton and that he was married the second time in Warwick. I regard this as confused data.

Information as regards the life and doings of this Edward Carr are still lacking. He was the father of nine children, two of them by his first wife. Three of the daughters are known to have died before maturity. The eighth child died as an infant, the daughter Mary on June 16, 1760 and the daughter Patience on April 10, 1760.

The children of Edward and Naomi were:

12711	+	Edward Carr	b. Nov. 6, 1723

Married in Warwick, R. I. on Aug. 20, 1719 to Hezekiah Gorton.

Avis and her husband lived in Warwick.

They are known to have had at least one child although this child died as a baby on Nov. 1, 1720.

This child was:

Samuel Gorton	b. May 20, 1720

PATIENCE CARR 1276

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Feb. 14, 1701
Died (prob. West Greenwich, R. I.) Mar. 27, 1753
Married in Newport, R. I. on Sept. 27, 1724 to Joseph Slocum.

He was of Giles and Mary (Paine) Slocum and was born in 1768.

Joseph Slocum and Patience settled in West Greenwich, R. I. where he became one of the influential citizens. He was Deputy from West Greenwich to the R. I. General Assembly for the years 1741, 1742 and 1744.

Some fifteen years after the death of Patience, Joseph and at least part of his family removed to Wyoming Valley, Pa. I have no record of any subsequent marriage of Joseph.

The following six children were born to Patience and Joseph:

Joanna Slocum	b. , 1725
Mary Slocum	b. Nov. 3, 1727

Desire Slocum	b. Oct. 1, 1731
Jonathan Slocum	b. Mar. 1, 1733
Abigail Slocum	b. July 4, 1740
Patience Slocum	b. Sept. 19, 1742

JAMES CARR 1277

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 27, 1703
Died in
Married in on to Abigail Cary. She was of John and Damaris (Arnold) Cary.

The scant data here leaves much to be discovered.

Of the nine children below one (the first Hannah) is known to have died as an infant.

The nine children of James and Abigail were:

12771	+	Damaris Carr	b. Nov. 3, 1727
12772		Hannah Carr	b. Aug. 30, 1731

CALEB CARR 1291

Born in Newport, R. I.
Died in Married in

The meager information regarding this family must be preserved although its presentation makes but a sorry picture of lack.

Caleb was the father of three children. The daughter, Catherine, married Asa Cramer. The three children were:

12911	+	James Carr	b.
12912		Joseph Carr	b.
12913		Catherine Carr	b.

Generation V

What did the Carrs of this generation chat about with their neighbors while they waited for the ferry at Jamestown? What were the subjects of conversation while the grist was being ground at the mill at West Greenwich? What did the old heads wag about after the meeting on Sunday?

We can only guess. The sea had a large place in the lives of these southern Rhode Islanders and probably their conversations reflected this. Some were themselves "sea going folks". The phrase "lost at sea" enters the story in this generation. So they talked about pirates and their doings, ships over due, cargo and profits, boats and gear.

Tales of Indian trouble still came to them from the settlements pushing to the north and west. The local Indians were by this time becoming just stories that the grandparents told the wide eyed youngsters before the blazing winter's fire. There were 26 Indians, all likely being slaves, on Conanicut Island in 1748. These few sorry remnants of the tribes, many of their soft, musical place names and their life sustaining corn remained to remind our ancestors of those that had once tilled the soil of Jamestown and fished the bays of Narragansett.

I am sure that the records of all the Carrs of this generation are not contained in this record. Nearly forty of them are. More diligent study of town records in Little Compton, Warwick, West Greenwich etc. may well add to our story.

CALEB CARR 11121

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Nov. 6, 1702
Died in West Greenwich, R. I. , 1769
Married in on to
Sarah Richmond. She was born Nov. 8, 1711 and died Nov. , 1798.

Due to the fact that there are probably more descendants of Caleb and Sarah alive today than of any other of this generation I hope that the future will add much to the almost nothing that is known of their lives. Most of their lives were probably spent near Carr's Pond in West Greenwich, R. I.

Whatever their occupation their greatest claim to fame still remains their family of thirteen children all of whom, with one possible exception, married and ten of whom had medium to large families of their own. The daughter Mary was childless. Her husband was Thomas Rogers. Joshua was also without issue although twice married. His wives were Sarah Stafford and Elizabeth Colegrove.

The thirteen children of Caleb and Sarah were:

111211		Patience Carr	b. Aug. 7, 1729
111212		Mary Carr	b. Feb. 18, 1731
111213	+	Rebecca Carr	b. May 29, 1732
111214	+	Susanna Carr	b. Feb. 3, 1734
111215	+	Robert Carr	b. Dec. 22, 1735
111216	+	Merebah Carr	b. July 3, 1739
111217	+	Comfort Carr	b. Aug. 7, 1741
111218	+	Caleb Carr	b. June 19, 1744
111219	+	Eleazer Carr	b. Apr. 22, 1746
11121-10-		Joshua Carr	b. Dec. 28, 1748
11121-11-	+	Richmond Carr	b. Apr. 4, 1751
11121-12-	+	Edward Carr	b. July 4, 1753
11121-13-	+	Thurston Carr	b. July 2, 1756

JOSEPH CARR 11122

Born in Jamestown, R. I. about 1704
Died in West Greenwich, R. I. in 1765

Married in West Greenwich, R. I. on June 21, 1741 to Percilla (Priscilla) ______.

Joseph and Priscilla probably lived most of their lives in the town of West Greenwich. His will dated Feb. 15, 1765 was recorded in that town. In this will he mentions his wife and their seven children.

There is a bit more data at hand on two of the children of Joseph and Priscilla that are not carried into the next generation. John was married on April 7, 1768 to Rosanna Straight. They had no children. Job Carr evidently did not marry as his will made on April 23, 1772 bequeathed his property to his mother and his brothers, Joseph and Slocum.

The seven children of Joseph and Priscilla were:

111221	+	Susanna Carr	b. July 19, 1742
111222		John Carr	b. Sept. 27, 1744
111223		Job Carr	b. May 5, 1748
111224		Ruth Carr	b, Aug. 10, 1750
111225		Patience Carr	b. , 1752
111226	+	Slocum Carr	b. May 5, 1754
111227	+	Joseph Carr	b. April 3, 1757

PATIENCE CARR 11123

Born in Jamestown, R. I. about 1705
Died in
Married in on July 9, 1723 to John Westgate (Westgeate).

I have no information as to Mr. Westgate's ancestry, occupation or residence.

The union was blessed with six children, to wit:

Edward Westgate	b. April 23, 1724
Avis Westgate	b. Nov. 9, 1725
Patience Westgate	b. Dec. 16, 1728
Sarah Westgate	b. Mar. 11, 1732
Hannah Westgate	b. June 1, 1735
Mary Westgate	b. June 30, 1740

WILLIAM CARR 11125

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Dec. 26, 1708
Died in
Married in East Greenwich, R. I. on April 19, 1733 to Elizabeth Cory. She was a daughter of William Cory.

William Carr followed the trade of ship carpenter. They seem to have lived in East and West Greenwich, R. I.

Three sons and three daughters were born to William and Elizabeth but not a hint of what became of any of them is at hand. Perhaps the future may throw some light in this dark place.

The six children of William and Elizabeth were:

111251	William Carr	b. May 16, 1733
111252	Caleb Carr	b. July 7, 1734
111253	Joanna Carr	b. May 24, 1736

Died in
Married in East Greenwich, R. I. on Dec. 18, 1735 to Hannah Hopkins. She was the daughter of Joseph Hopkins.

Part if not all of the life of Capt. Charles was spent in the Narragansette Bay town of East Greenwich. The census of 1744 places his residence there. He was for thirty years a Deacon of the Baptist Church of East Greenwich. He also served the town as a Representative to the R. I. General Assembly and Kent County as its sheriff. It was while he was sheriff that thirteen pirates paid for their misdeeds with their lives at the yard arms of ships lying in the bay of East Greenwich.

Capt. Charles and Hannah had seven children. All grew up and married. The daughter, Martha, who is not further considered married a man bearing the surname of Austin. Nothing further is known regarding her.

Of the six children of this family two are carried into Gen. VI. All the material that we have on the others is their names and birth dates with the exception of the daughter Elizabeth. She lived to be a very old lady passing away on Dec. 19, 1846. I believe that she never married.

ROBERT CARR 11593

Born in Little Compton, R. I., Sept. 13, 1734
Died in (at sea) , 1803
Married in on to
Judith Swain.

This Carr family is especially connected with the sea. Robert himself was a man of the sea and as noted above met his death at sea. The son Obed was also lost at sea. He left a French wife and their son in France. The son, Robert, owned a merchantman and doubtless sailed her himself as both he and the ship were taken by the French during the troublous times of this period. The ship, we suppose was sold or converted to their own use while its Master languished and died in a foreign prison. Some indemnity was eventually paid to Robert's relatives. Even the place of residence of this family is associated with the sea for Robert was among the early settlers of Nantucket. He is thought to have married there.

Robert and Judith had the four children:

115931		Obed Carr	b.
115932		Robert Carr	b.
115933		Mary Carr	b. April 13, 1775

This daughter was:

NICHOLAS CARR 121-10-6

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Dec. 25, 1732
Died in Jamestown, R. I., Mar. 3, 1813
Married in on Nov. 10, 1768 to Mary

Eldred. She was of John and Mary Eldred. Her death occurred on June 13, 1800.

Nicholas Carr was a farmer tilling the paternal acres on the island of Jamestown (Conanicut). He was probably the second Carr to occupy what has come to be known as "The Homestead". The farm however quite surely has never yet been owned by any but Carrs since its purchase from the Indians by Caleb. For many years this Nicholas was mistakenly thought to have been the builder of the present "Homestead" house. It seems now quite well established that the building was done by his grandfather, Nicholas.

This family lived thru exciting times indeed. During the Revolution the British occupied Newport and inflicted numerous hardships on the inhabitants of Conanicut. Many fled the island. No so Nicholas and his family. Although a Quaker and inclined to peace he refused to be drived from his farm. A descendant of his, Mr. W. L. Watson in his valuable sketch of the history of Jamestown and especially of the Carr family which he titled "The House of Carr" includes the following story of this period:

> "One day as he was plowing the north lot this Captain (of a British man of war) came along and in a very insolent manner ordered him to stop his team. The command being disregarded the Captain struck him a blow on the head with his cane. Nicholas immediately declared a war of his own, and they fought the war of the Revolution in miniature, and with the same re> sult. After the Captain was soundly thrashed he cried for quarter and was allowed to go on his way. Upon reaching his ship he sent a file of Marines who seized Nicholas and carried him to the vessel where he was held a prisoner in irons for three days. Each morning he was brought on deck, a rope put around his neck and given the choice of getting down on his knees and kissing the hand of the Captain and being liberated or being hung at the yard arm of the vessel.

>
> While he was thus held prisoner, William Battey, a Tory and a near neighbor went on board and interceded for him. Finding that the fear of hanging had no effect on this staunch patriot, and possibly because of this friendly act from a Tory he was finally liberated and sent ashore."

Nicholas was for a number of years a Judge of the Newport County Court. Nearly all of his adult life he served on the Jamestown Council. As an old man although then no longer a member of the Council he never missed a meeting. Out of respect for his long service he was always allowed a seat in the Council.

Nicholas and Mary had four children. The son, Thomas and the daughter, Hannah both married but were childless. Thomas married Abigail Hull and lived in Jamestown. He left his property to his nephew, George Cross Carr. Hannah married Thomas Carter and lived in Killingly, Conn. Mr. Watson in his "The House of Carr" says that she was very, very religious.

The four children of Nicholas and Mary were:

121–10–61	+	Mary Carr	b. Feb. 19, 1771
121–10–62		Thomas Carr	b. Oct. 13, 1772
121–10–63	+	John Carr	b. May 5, 1774

Born in Warwick, R. I. around 1742

123-10-12	Caleb Carr	b. Sept. 23, 1791

HANNAH CARR 12413

Born near Jericho, Long Island, N. Y., July 24, 1716
Died in , N. J., Nov. 19, 1762
Married in on to Jeremiah Robbins.

Little is known of the life of Hannah and her husband. Her death was described by her brother, Caleb, in a letter which Edson Carr quotes thus:

> ‘‘Dear sister Hannah is lying at the point of death. As her husband and I were standing by her she expressed herself thus, “I feel a degree of peace that cannot be expressed, Methinks I have a sight of the tree of life.” Then she followed with an ex> ceeding fervent prayer. I took my leave of her with the conviction that she would soon be with my beloved and I prayed God that we might live such lives that we might come to them in the Lord's good time."

We may be sure that the life whose end we have glimpsed was a busy one. She was the mother of ten children. They were:

Almy Robbins	b.	, 1733
Elizabeth Robbins	b.	, 1736
Hannah Robbins	b.	, 1739
Sarah Robbins	b.	, 1742
Samuel Robbins	b.	, 1745
Isaac Robbins	b.	, 1746
Stephen Robbins	b.	, 1750
Phebe Robbins	b.	, 1752
Abigail Robbins	b.	, 1755
Job Robbins	b.	, 1758

CALEB CARR 12414

Born near Jericho, Long Island, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1719
Died in Mt. Holly, N. J., Sept. 11, 1783

Married in Little Egg Harbor, N. J. on , 1746 to Sarah Ridgway. She was a daughter of Thomas and Mary Ridgway and was born July 11, 1727. She died in Little Egg Harbor, N. J. on April 16, 1762.

As a young man Caleb is thought to have made a trip to England. Upon his return he settled in New Jersey where he was soon married and in business. He is described as a prosperous farmer with the trade of Carriage maker on the side. Caleb and Sarah were both earnest Quakers and possessed of considerable ability and education. Witness his "Charge to his Children" written in 1762 shortly after their mother's death.

> "As your dear Mother but a short time before her death, beside giving you her charge, desired of me that you might be brought up in the fear of the Lord; and my desire as your father is this, that you may have the fear of the Lord always before your eyes, and be faithful in going to Friends meetings, and of a sober civil behavior. And as it was her wish so it is mine, that you should not make yourselves too fine, speak no bad words, take not God's name in vain by any means, keep no bad company, tell no falshoods, be not forward in idle discourse, be just in your dealings, as I have been, punctual to your promises, charitable to the poor, and keep to the Friend's plain language. And if you should arrive to be men and women and are inclined to marry set not your affections on any person until you find them to be well grounded in your own religion and to be living in the fear of God. For that with a morsel will be better to you than great riches without it. To my children. Given by me, your father. 4th month, 19th day, 1762."

The accounts of the family of Caleb and Sarah differ somewhat. I have had access to family records that prove the list of their seven children as given in "Carr Family Records" to be correct. The four children not carried forward to Gen. VI are accounted for as follows. The son Thomas died as an infant. Mary married Brazilla Scott and died, it is supposed childless, on June 12, 1831. Hannah married a Mr. Winner and died on Aug. 9, 1778 leaving an infant son who survived her by only three days. Sarah married a Mr. Haines.

The seven children of Caleb and Sarah were:

124141		Mary Carr	b. Sept. 30, 1747
124142	+	Job Carr	b. July 15, 1750
124143		Thomas Carr	b. Jan. 27, 1753
124144	+	Samuel Carr	b. Oct. 22, 1754
124145	+	Isaac Carr	b. Mar. 10, 1757
124146		Hannah Carr	b. Sept. 10, 1759
124147		Sarah Carr	b. April 14, 1762

CAPT. CALEB CARR 12631

Born in Newport, R. I. , 1720
Died in Newport, R. I., Dec. 30, 1783

Married in Newport, R. I. on Nov. 15, 1741 to Elizabeth Phillips. She was born in 1722 and died Feb. 28, 1805.

The title of Captain was conferred upon Mr. Caleb Carr for service under the King. He was made Captain of Fort George which was situated on Goat Island near Newport. A copy of his commission is placed in the appendix as No. 5.

Caleb and Elizabeth lived all of their lives in or near Newport. Their greatest claim to fame was their family of sixteen children. But three of these are carried to Generation VI. Of the others we can account for but seven. Patience, Peter, Ann, Bailey and Deliverance died in infancy. Philip died in 1821 on board the "General Jackson" in the West Indies. Waite married Ebenezer West on Feb. 23, 1760 but had no children. Incidently, the record of the Newport marriages of the Rev. Gardiner Thurston gives us a clue to the pronunciation of this family given name of "Waite". He recorded this marriage as of Weight Carr and Ebenezer West.

The sixteen children of Caleb and Elizabeth were:

126311	+	Samuel Carr	b. 13, 1742
126312	+	Caleb Carr	b. May 7, 1744
126313		William Carr	b. Jan. 27, 1746

12631-15		Greene Easton Carr	b. Sept. 24, 1763
12631-16	+	William Pitt Carr	b. July 7, 1766

SAMUAL CARR 12632

Born in Newport, R. I., July 28, 1722
Died in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 2, 1796

Married in Jamestown, R. I., June 6, 1745 to Damaris Carr (12771). She was the daughter of James and Abigail (Cary) Carr and was born in Jamestown, R. I. on Nov. 3, 1727. Her death occurred on Sept. 6, 1800.

The Carr grandfathers of Samuel and Damaris were brothers. They were both great-grandchildren of Gov. Caleb Carr.

This family was one of the island dwelling groups spending most of their lives on the pleasant island of Jamestown. Both Samuel and Damaris are buried in the family burying ground on that island.

The seven children of Samuel and Damaris were:

126321		Damaris Carr	b. Aug. 4, 1747
126322		Mary Carr	b. Nov. 25, 1749
126323		Hannah Carr	b. Nov. 26, 1751
126324		Comfort Carr	b. Jan. 10, 1754
126325	+	Samuel Carr	b. Sept. 26, 1756
126326	+	Ebenezer Carr	b. Sept. 26, 1760
126327		Abigail Carr	b. Aug. 22, 1766

EBENEZER CARR 12634

Born in Newport, R. I., Oct. 2, 1735
Died in
Married in on July 28, 1763 to Phebe Robinson. Her birth date is not known. She died May 7, 1789.

The record of their marriage being found among the R. I. Friends' Records proves them members of that faith.

Three sons and a daughter were born to Ebenezer and Phebe. They were as follows:

126341	Robert Robinson Carr		b. Jan. 12, 1767
126342	Samuel Carr		b. Jan. 15, 1769
126343	Abigail Carr	(twin)	b. Dec. 2, 1771
126344	James Carr	(twin)	b. Dec. 2, 1771

CAPT. JOHN CARR 12635

Born in Newport, R. I., Oct. 6, 1738
Died in Mar. 25, 1814
Married in on July 19, 1761 to Mary Arnold. She was born in 1736 and died Nov. 2, 1789.

Captain John's military rank was gained in the War for Independence. The mss. of Dr. H. E. Turner at Newport says that in his later years Capt. John was known as "Old 76".

John and Mary had an even dozen children. Five of this number died as infants or as young people. The eldest son was "lost at sea" in Nov. of 1785 and his brother Caleb died at St. Marys on Apr. 15, 1793. These facts testify to the great part shipping and the sea were playing in the lives of the family at this period. The St. Marys referred to is not definitely known. It may have been a town of the West Indies or the small island off Land's End, England. Other death dates of the children are, Richard, July 19, 1770; Henry, Sept. 3, 1770; Ebenezer, Sept. 21, 1775:

The twelve children of John and Mary were:

126351		John Carr	b. Apr. 12, 1762
126352	+	Mary Carr	b. June 13, 1763
126353		Sarah Carr	b. May 29, 1765

EDWARD CARR 12711

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Nov. 6, 1723
Died in Sept. 25, 1781
Married in on May 24, 1750 to Sarah Weeden. She was a daughter of Daniel Weeden and was born in 1727. She died in North Kingstown, R. I. on Dec. 13, 1778.

A hint that most of the Carrs of Jamestown were still being brought up in the staunch and staid Faith of the Society of Friends is to be found in the record of the marriage of one of the sons of this family. Peleg, the seventh of the ten children of Edward and Sarah married a Quaker who was also a Carr. His wife was Sarah Carr (126353) a daughter of Capt. John and Mary (Arnold) Carr who was like himself a great grandchild of Gov. Caleb. It is a matter of regret that Peleg and Sarah had no children.

Edward and Sarah had the following ten children:

127111		Sarah Carr	b. Feb. 25, 1751
127112	+	Joanna Carr	b. Apr. 24, 1753
127113	+	Edward Carr	b. Mar. 1, 1755
127114		Phebe Carr	b. Dec. 2, 1756
127115		Daniel Carr	b. May 20, 1759
127116		Patience Carr	b. Mar. 15, 1761
127117		Peleg Carr	b. April 20, 1763
127118	+	Jane Carr	b. Jan. 19, 1765
127119	+	Resolved Carr	b. July 8, 1768

BENJAMIN CARR 12712

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Aug. 10, 1725
Died in Coventry, R. I., June 10, 1804
Married (1) in Middletown, R. I. on Sept. 25, 1748 to Avis Weaver. She was born May 26, 1725 and died Nov. 21, 1794. Benjamin married (2) Freelove Letson.

In 1777 Benjamin settled in Coventry, R. I.

Benjamin had seven children by his first wife and one by his second. The following trifles are known of the children that are not a part of Generation VI. Hannah married Joseph Walker. Edward married Rachel ________ and settled in the State of N.Y. Naomi married Benedict Weeks.

The children of Benjamin and Avis were:

127121	+	Benjamin Carr	b. Nov. 18, 1749
127122		Hannah Carr	b. Dec. 22, 1751
127123		Edward Carr	b. Feb. 20, 1754
127124		Naomi Carr	b. Oct. 10, 1755
127125		Avis Carr	b. Jan. 3, 1758
127126		Mary Carr	b. Oct. 2, 1760
127127		Caleb Carr	b. May 14, 1763

Benjamin and Freelove had one child.

One child was born to Naomi and Azariah. She was:

Avis Tew	b. Mar. 3, 1765

Died in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 6, 1800

PHEBE CARR 12774

Born in Jamestown, R. I., , 1735
Died in
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on May 30, 1755 to Robert Robbins.
They had:

Benedict Robbins	b. Feb. 10, 1758

JAMES CARR 12775

Born in Jamestown, R. I., July 15, 1737
Died in
Married (1) in on Dec. 1, 1757 to Sarah Tew. She was the daughter of William Tew. After the death of Sarah James married (2) Desire Tew the sister of his first wife.

James Carr was a school master of Jamestown and evidently a loyal Colonial as the British burned his house in one of their raids on the settlement at Jamestown during the War for Independence.

James and Sarah were the parents of seven children. It is supposed that his second marriage was childless. The son Robert should receive further study. He married Sally York and left Rhode Island for the Genesee country of New York State.

The seven children of James and Sarah were:

127751		Robert Robinson Carr	b. May 26, 1759
127752	+	Phebe Carr	b. Nov. 14, 1760
127753	+	William Carr	b. May 12, 1763
127754		Damaris Carr	b. July 25, 1765
127755		Henry Tew Carr	b. Jan. 17, 1767
127756	+	James Carey Carr	b. July 2, 1769
127757	+	George Tew Carr	b. Oct. 7, 1772

PELEG CARR 12776

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 19, 1741
Died in April 20, 1821
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Dec. 7, 1766 to Ruth Tew. She was the daughter of William Tew.

I am of the opinion that Peleg and Ruth removed to Central New York State either before their children were born or while the children were very young. My reason for thinking so is that all of these children seem to have married and settled in Otsego Co. of New York.

That they retained the Quaker faith of their ancestors is attested by the fact that Peleg, at least, is buried in the old Quaker burying ground at Laurens, N. Y.

Along with their religious faith they also retained the tradition of large families. Ten children were born to them. Beside the four carried to Gen. VI we have the two sons Richard and William of whom I have not a scrap of data and four others of whom the following is known. James settled in Laurens and had children. Abigail mar. Thomas Fowlerton and lived in Laurens. They had Margaret and John Fowlerton. Sarah is thought to have lived at Laurens. She mar. John Brown and had Rowland, William, Polly, Manderville and Richard Brown. Hannah mar. Christopher Weaver. No hint as to where she lived.

The ten children of Peleg and Ruth were:

127761		James Carr	b. April 30, 1768
127762	+	Bridget Carr	b. May 25, 1770
127763		Abigail Carr	b. July 31, 1773
127764		Sarah Carr	b. April 4, 1776
127765		Hannah Carr	b. Feb. 26, 1780
127766	+	Peleg Carr	b. Sept. 25, 1782
127767		Richard Tew Carr	b. Aug. 6, 1785
127768	+	Ruth Carr	b. Mar. 22, 1788
127769		William Tew Carr	b. Oct. 15, 1790
12776-10	+	Edward Carr	b. May 19, 1793

JAMES CARR 12911

Born in R. I. around 1735
Died in
Married in Manahawkin, N. J. around 1759 to Phebe ________.
James is supposed to have settled in Mt. Holly, N. J.

There is a great deal of information regarding this family still to be found. Edson Carr says that James was born in R. I. A disconcerting fact is that the father of James is recorded as having married after his removal to New Jersey. We must wait upon further research to show whether the father of James was twice married as well as the other missing details of this record. Edson Carr records one child of James and Phebe.

Generation VI

How great this our family has become and what stirring times they are fallen upon.

The pages before you teem with the germs of exciting stories, reek with the smell of gunpowder, the scent of the sea and the stench of boiling whale blubber. More than these, there comes the fragrance of new soil turned black to the sun for here we find whole families leaving the old familiar homesteads and striking out into the new country of the "West". The phrase "west" to these Rhode Islanders meant New York State.

The reasons behind this migration are not hard to find. It was the first great pulse in the century long flow that was to carry New England blood and customs even to the sands of the western sea. As far as the southern Rhode Islanders were concerned the war with England had brought great suffering. Their ships were driven from the sea, Their shore built homes were occupied or burned by British troops and all trade dislocated. After the retirement of the troops and the end of the war, economic conditions in that country were very discouraging. Couple with this the situation as regards the Indians and we have not only a push away from the old but a pull toward the new. Up to these times life on the frontier had been not only hard but because of the natural resentment of the Indians dangerous also. The Revolution broke the last power of the Eastern Red Man and opened up for profitable settlement such fertile territories as central New York State.

The most striking example of this westward movement in our family was the removal of five sons of Caleb and Sarah Carr from West Greenwich, R. I. to Rensselaer Co. N. Y. All had numerous children and are the ancestors of a multitude of us who presently bear the name.

These sixth Generation Carrs were, in the main, the Revolutionary soldiers of our group. Remember that as generation is added to generation the spread of birth dates within the generation is widened. Thus we find a few of the fifth generation who fought under Washington. However by far the greatest number were from the Generation whose records lie before you.

REBECCA CARR 111213

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., May 29, 1732

SUSANNA CARR 111214

Levi Whitford	b. Oct. 21, 1753
Jesse Whitford	b. June 19, 1755
Mary Whitford	b. Mar. 10, 1757
Asa Whitford	b. Dec. 30, 1761

ROBERT CARR 111215

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., Dec. 22, 1735
Died in
Married in on Dec. 4, 1754 to Rebecca Brayton. She was the daughter of Thomas Brayton of Coventry, R. I.

Of the four daughters and three sons of Robert and Rebecca nothing certain is known. I am carrying the son, Caleb, to Gen. VII and his descendants down to date under an interesting and highly probable speculation.

Mr. Robin Carr of Fowlerville, Mich. possesses an ancient cane on which was written many, many years ago "Brought from England by Robert Carr 150 years ago". This cane came down from a Caleb Carr whose date of birth is given on his tombstone in Novi, Mich. as Oct. 13, 1762. I am assuming that this Caleb was the son below. Beside the cane, the similarity of names and the fact that the confusion caused by the calendar change of 1752 might account for the few days difference in birth dates this assumption is further warranted by the family records showing that this Caleb had a son born in New York State. Almost all the Carrs of West Greenwich left their old homes for new ones about this period. The new ones were mainly in New York State. At any rate I leave the record thus until further search may bring the facts to light. The chance that the Caleb buried in Novi, Mich. may have been a son of Esek (111272) is not ruled out.

The seven children of Robert and Rebecca were:

1112151		Mary Carr	b. Aug. 23, 1755
1112152		Peleg Carr	b. Dec. 10, 1757
1112153		Sarah Carr	b. Aug. 4, 1760
1112154	+	Caleb Carr	b. Nov. 11, 1762
1112155		Joanna Carr	b. Nov. 17, 1764
1112156		Thomas Carr	b. Feb. 11, 1767
1112157		Rebecca Carr	b. Oct. 4, 1769

MEREBAH CARR 111216

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., July 3, 1739
Died in July 12, 1785

Married in West Greenwich, R. I. on Feb. 3, 1757 to Job Greene. He was a son of Henry Greene and was born on Mar. 2, 1735.

Merebah and Job removed to the State of Vermont eventually settling in the northern part of that state.

They had an even dozen children as below:

Eunice Greene	b. Oct. 17, 1757
Sarah Greene	b. Jan. 1, 1759
Henry Greene	b. July 17, 1761
Margaret Greene	b. Aug. 5, 1763
Job Greene	b. Nov. 7, 1765
Nathan Greene	b. Nov. 7, 1767
Susannah Greene	b. Jan. 13, 1770
Meribah Greene	b. June 11, 1772
Mility (Humility?) Greene	b. May 19, 1774
Gardner Greene	b. July 19, 1776
Polly Greene	b. Feb. 20, 1779
Amy Greene	b. Sept. 7, 1782

COMFORT CARR 111217

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., Aug. 7, 1741
Died in

Married in on May 25, 1760 to Benjamin Greene.

The thought forces itself upon us that Comfort and her sister, Merebah may have married brothers. It must yet remain guesswork.

The following five children were born to Comfort and Benjamin:

James Greene	b. Dec. 12, 1761
Caleb Greene	b. Oct. 24, 1763
Virtue Greene (twin)	b. May 3, 1767
Anstress Greene (twin)	b. May 3, 1767
Benjamin Greene	b. Jan. 26, 1769

CALEB CARR 111218

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., June 19, 1744
Died in Stephentown, N. Y. , 1793
Married in on , 1772 to Abigail Very. Absolutely nothing regarding the wife of Caleb do I have with the exception of her name.

Caleb was the oldest of the five Carr brothers that removed from West Greenwich to the fertile valleys of eastern New York State. All five of these brothers settled in the town of Stephentown, Rensselaer Co. Caleb and Abigail are supposed to have lived there all of the remainder of their lives. "Landmarks of Rensselaer Co." says that "Nathaniel Rose, Edward Carr and Caleb Carr came early to the southern part of the town".

D. A. R. Records show that Caleb was a Revolutionary Soldier. He was Corporal in the Mass. Militia.

Caleb and Abigail were the parents of eight children all of whom married. Two daughters are not further considered in this work for the reason that not enough is known of them. The little that is known I place here. Sarah married a Mr. Brayton and had one son and two daughters. Abigail married a John Brown and settled in Canada.

The eight children of Caleb and Abigail were:

1112181	+	Samuel Carr	b. about 1774
1112182	+	Joshua Carr	b. about 1776
1112183	+	Caleb Carr	b. Aug. 6, 1778
1112184	+	Gideon Carr	b.
1112185		Sarah Carr	b.
1112186	+	Patience Carr	b.
1112187	+	Jemima Carr	b.
1112188		Abigail Carr	b.

ELEAZER CARR 111219

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., April 22, 1746
Died in July 19, 1816
Married in on to

Eleanor Stafford. No dates are available on Eleanor Stafford with the exception of her death date which was Oct. 26, 1813.

Eleazer was the second oldest of the five brothers Carr from West Greenwich, R. I. that took up land in Rensselaer Co. immediately after the Revolutionary War. A deed from Stephen Van Rensselaer to Eleazer Carr is dated July 17, 1787 and covers a certain parcel of land in that place agreed to be called Stephentown. The consideration was five Pounds and nine Shillings. Whether Eleazer lived in Stephentown or over the line in Mass. or in both places is not known. A deed in 1794 refers to him as of the town of Hancock, Mass.

Eleazer and Eleanor had six children. Of the daughter, Eleanor, it is recorded that she married Silas Thompson.

The following are the six children:

1112191	+	Stafford Carr	b. July 9, 1769
1112192	+	Stutely Carr	b. July 5, 1773
1112193		Catherine Carr	b.
1112194	+	Eleazer Carr	b.
1112195		Eleanor Carr	b.
1112196	+	Olive Carr	b. Feb. 1, 1783

RICHMOND CARR 11121-11-

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., April 4, 1751
Died in Stephentown, N. Y.
Married in on to

Mary Richmond. I have no dates regarding Mary except that she died in Pavillion, N. Y. in 1839.

The children of Richmond and Mary were remarkable in that they all matured in an age when mortality among infants and young people was very high. All ten of the children married but for the reason that only the names of the husband is known in the case of all the daughters they are not carried forward. The names of the husbands were:

Sally mar. Joseph Perry
Comfort mar. Nathan Hinkley
Charlotte mar. John Gardiner
Rebecca mar. Ransom Perry
Mary mar. Joel Crofoot
Marilla mar. Benj. Jarvis

The ten children of Richmond and Mary were:

11121–11–1	+	Roger Carr	b.
11121–11–2	+	Richmond Carr	b.
11121–11–3	+	Eli Carr	b.
11121–11–4	+	Levi Carr	b.
11121–11–5		Sally Carr	b.
11121–11–6		Comfort Carr	b.
11121–11–7		Charlotte Carr	b.
11121–11–8		Rebecca Carr	b.
11121–11–9		Mary Carr	b.
11121–11–10		Marilla Carr	b.

EDWARD CARR 11121–12–

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., July 4, 1753

Died in Stephentown, N. Y., Sept. 1, 1845

Married; And here I must deviate from the usual form of presenting the marriage for we are considering an unusual man. Unusual, at least, as far as his marital experiences were concerned. He was five times married. Indeed one History of Rensselaer Co. casually mentions the six wives of Deacon Edward Carr. Five seems the correct number. They may be listed thus:

(1) Eleanor Spencer whom he married on Dec. 15, 1776. She was of William and Mary Spencer and was born in East Greenwich, R. I. on June 22, 1754. She was the mother of all of the children of Edward Carr. Her death occurred in Stephentown, N. Y. on Mar. 20, 1798.

(2) Mary Brown Green (widow) whom he married on Sept. 26, 1798. She was born May 7, 1752 and died in Stephentown on Jan. 19, 1806.

(3) Sarah Potter (widow) whom he married on May 26, 1806. She was born May 24, 1750 and died Dec. 25, 1831.

(4) Margaret Lamfier (widow) whom he married Aug. 12, 1832. She was born June 14, 1766 and died Aug. 19, 1836.

(5) Bridget Williams (widow) whom he married Dec. 14, 1836. She was born May 25, 1780 and died in 1884.

A little study of this remarkable record will reveal that although Edward Carr was first married at the age of twenty-three and died a married man at the grand old age of ninety-two and although he was at that time enjoying the companionship of his fifth wife he was in all those years never longer than eight months in singleness and sorrow. I hope that it will not be misunderstood when I state that for a number of years before his death he was both blind and deaf.

In the burying ground at Stephentown are the graves of the first four wives of Deacon Edward Carr. The stone that marks the resting place of Mary bears an interesting epitaph referring to the fact that she died suddenly while attending Church. It reads thus,

> "Well, to meeting she did go,
> Sung praises with the > Saints below. Rose in > prayer as We did see, and > God took her home to > praise him Eternally."

Edward and his first wife came early to the new land of Rensselaer Co., N. Y. settling with several others of the family near Stephentown.

He was one of the founders of the Stephentown Baptist Church about 1795.

Edward and Eleanor were the parents of eleven children. All of the other marriages of Edward were childless. Three of the eleven died young. They were Peleg who died on June 5, 1787; Merebah who died on Mar. 15, 1817 and Tracy who died on Sept. 28, 1796. The daughter, Mary, married ________ Brown but is thought to have been without issue. She died Dec. 26, 1817.

The children of Edward and Eleanor were:

11121–12–1	+	Sarah Carr	b. Oct. 20, 1777
11121–12–2	+	Susanna Carr	b. Sept. 9, 1780
11121–12–3	+	Peleg Carr	b. Oct. 7, 1782
11121–12–4	+	Spencer Carr	b. May 2, 1784
11121–12–5		Merebah Carr	b. Dec. 9, 1785
11121–12–6	+	Eleanor Carr	b. Jan. 24, 1788
11121–12–7	+	Edward Carr	b. Feb. 17, 1790
11121–12–8		Mary Carr	b. May 7, 1792
11121–12–9	+	Peleg Slocum Carr	b. April 23, 1794
11121–12–10	+	Tracy Carr	b. Nov. 12, 1795
11121–12–11	+	Mercy Carr	b. Feb. 22, 1798

THURSTON CARR 11121-13-

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., July 2, 1756
Died in Stephentown, N. Y. , 1812

Married (1) in East Greenwich, R. I. on Nov. 23, 1775 to Audery Spencer. She was a twin sister of Eleanor Spencer who was the first wife of Edward Carr, the brother of this Thurston. She was born on June 22, 1754 and her death occurred before 1798 because in that year Thurston married (2) Anna Doty.

Thurston was the youngest of the five brothers that took up residence in the town of Stephentown, N. Y. Several of the Carrs are mentioned in the first U. S. Census taken in 1790. An odd thing about this Thurston and three others that are listed from Stephentown is that their names are spelled Kerr. I have never found the name thus spelled in Rhode Island nor among any of the descendants of this Stephentown group. I therefor put it down to the fancy of the census enumerator.

Thurston was the father of twelve children. All of whom, with the exception of Mercy, are mentioned in his will. It is therefor supposed that Mercy died before the will was made or in other words at a tender age. See No. 6 in the appendix for an interesting extract from his will which was proved April 14, 1812.

Thurston and Audery were the parents of nine children:

11121-13-1	+	Caleb Carr	b. , 1776
11121-13-2	+	William Carr	b. Feb. 14, 1778
11121-13-3		Esther Carr	b , 1780
11121-13-4		Sarah Carr	b. about 1782
11121-13-5		Mary Carr	b. about 1784
11121-13-6	+	Thurston Carr	b. April , 1787
11121-13-7		Peleg Carr	b. about 1789
11121-13-8	+	Audery Carr	b. about 1791
11121-13-9	+	John Spencer Carr	b. Jan. 24, 1793

SUSANNA CARR 111221

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., June 19, 1742
Died in

Married (1) in on June 5, 1768 to Ichabod Foster. He was of Coventry, R. I. She married (2) on Feb. 1, 1770 to Spink Tarbox. He was of East Greenwich, R. I.

Susanna's only child was a son by her first husband. This son was:

James Otis Foster b. May 27, 1769

SLOCUM CARR 111226

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., May 5, 1754
Died in
Married in on to

Edson Carr was not sure about this member of the family and I have not as yet unearthed any data. "Carr Family Records" says "He is supposed to have married and had children." I carry these children on as "Carr Family Records" has them.

1112261	+	Job Carr	b. about 1776
1112262	+	Caleb Carr	b. about 1778

JOSEPH CARR 111227

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., April 3, 1757
Died in Saratoga Co., N. Y., Mar. 15, 1848
Married in on to Rebecca Vaughan.

This R. I. Carr also "went west". In this case way out west to Saratoga County, N. Y.

Joseph and Rebecca had four sons. But one of these sons is known to have had children. The son, Joseph, died in Battle Creek, Mich. in March 1861.

The four sons of Joseph and Rebecca were:

1112271		John Carr	b.
1112272		Slocum Carr	b.
1112273		Joseph Carr	b.
1112274	+	William Carr	b. June 10, 1800

ESEK CARR 111272

Born in West Greenwich, R. I. about 1738
Died in
Married in on to
Susanna (or Nancy) Clarke.

Esek and his family resided beside Carr's Pond in the town of West Greenwich, R. I. as had both Esek's father and grandfather.

Esek and his wife had what was a large family even in those days of many children. It is unfortunate that we know nothing of the future history of most of them. The daughter, Hannah is said to have married Thomas Manchester of Coventry on Dec. 12, 1793. Four of the others are carred to Generation VII.

The fourteen children of Esek were:

1112721		Caleb Carr	b.
1112722	+	Wanton Carr	b. , 1765
1112723	+	James Carr	b. Aug. 17, 1767

HANNAH CARR 111273

They had:

Andrew Pitcher	b.

ROBERT CARR 111274

Born in West Greenwich, R. I. about 1742
Died in
Married in on to Mary ________.

Many details indeed are lacking for the life story of this Carr. What little we know is taken from his will made Jan. 9, 1816. That instrument conveys property to his brother Esek, to his nephew, Robert (the son of Charles) and to his daughter who is there called Patience Vaughan. He also willed the income from property on Carr's Pond to his wife, Mary.

Because of this will we know that Robert and Mary had the daughter who married a Vaughan. This daughter was,

1112741	Patience Carr	b.

Married (1) in on Jan. 28, 1772 to Roba Hopkins. She was of Alexander and Mary (Phillips) Hopkins and was born in West Greenwich, R. I. on Jan. 30, 1753. She is thought to have died in Sterling, Conn. Caleb was three times married but the names of his second and third wives are not known.

At an unknown date but probably after his marriage Caleb removed to Sterling, Conn. Here he lived for some years removing to Yates Co. N. Y. in his later years (1818 or 1819) where he died.

This Caleb was reputed to have been the father of twenty three children. The names of fifteen of these are recorded by Edson Carr. The missing ones are the children of his second wife which are said to have been eight in number. His son, Alexander, who is called Dr. was lost at sea. He is supposed to have been unmarried.

The children of Caleb and Roba were:

1112771		Alexander Carr	b. April 23, 1773

Of the family of seven children but little is known. One is carried to Generation VII. Of the daughter. Patience, we know that she married Cassandra Kingman.

Caleb and one of his sons were joint owners of the brig "RAMBLER" which sailed from Baltimore on Feb. 1, 1799 and was captured, first by the French and subsequently by the Spanish who sold her.

Caleb and Lillian were the parents of five children. A wee bit is known of the son Stephen. He married and had at least one child. This was a son Alfred C. Carr who was born Dec. 24, 1804 and is noted as having died unmarried on April 16, 1873.

The five children of Caleb and Lillian were:

1114421	+	Samuel Carr	b. April 19, 1763

JONATHAN CARR 111445

Born in Warren, R. I., Mar. 8, 1751
Died in
Married in on to

Elizabeth Hill.

Much more study should be made on this whole group of Warren, R. I. Carrs. This family, for instance, passes out of the record with this generation although there were six children. All we have on these children is the death dates of Ruth and Lillian. These were May 5, 1855 and Jan. 10, 1861 respectively.

The children of Jonathan and Elizabeth were:

1114451	Jonathan Carr	b.
1114452	William Carr	b.

1114454	Ruth Carr	b.

CAPT. WILLIAM CARR 11144-11

Born in Warren, R. I., Nov. 11, 1764
Died in July 9, 1845
Married (1) in on Mar. 16, 1788 to

Betsey Hoar. She died on Nov. 11, 1790 and Capt. William was married (2) on Aug. 3, 1794 to Rebecca Phillips. She was from Bristol, R. I. and the daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah Phillips.

All things point to the title of Capt., borne by the sujbect of this sketch, as coming from his position on a ship. Firstly he was too young to have been a Revolutionary soldier; secondly he was of a sea going family and from a sea going port; and thirdly the places of death of three sons lead to the same conclusion. The son, Nathan, died on a ship bound for New York. The son, Harry died in St. Lucas on June 17, 1816. The son, Charles died in Havana, Cuba on July 10, 1835.

Beside the above data on children of Capt. William we know that the daughter, Abigail married and was the mother of two children both of whom died as infants. Her husband was Allen Cole. Abigail died on Mar. 17. 1846.

William Carr was the father of twelve children all but two of whom were by his second wife.

The children of William and Betsey were:

The children of William and Rebecca were:

Nine children came to bless the home of Caleb and Amity. Three of them died as young people. They were, John who died June 11, 1815, Tella who died May 31, 1818 and David whose death occurred on Oct. 26, 1845.

ESEK CARR 115923

Born in North Easton, Mass. on
Died at sea in 1812
Married in on to Betsey Bates. She is said to have been from Rochester, Mass.

After their marriage Esek and his wife set up housekeeping in Westport, Mass. Esek became a ship owner engaged in coastal trade. He and his eldest son both lost their lives in the trade. On Feb. 14, 1812 these two with a further crew of two seamen put out to sea with a cargo of provisions bound for Norfolk, Va. None were ever seen again. Mrs. Carr passed away two years later.

Tragedy laid a heavy hand on this family. Not only was the father and oldest son lost at sea, not only did the mother die and leave several small children as orphans but the second child, Betsey, died in Sept. 1811, Esek, the fourth child died of fever at Norfolk, Va. and James lived only to his thirty first year. The daughter Nancy died on Mar. 13, 1878 thus being well along in years. She is supposed to have been unmarried.

The oldest child of Esek and Betsey and her husband, John Bucklain, seem to have been the foster parents of the younger children after the death of their mother. John Bucklain was born in 1792 and died on Dec. 19, 1841. Ellaphelda died Dec. 9, 1844. They had no children of their own.

The above two paragraphs leave but Abby and Mary of the children of Esek and Betsey to be accounted for. Abby married Obed Swain Carr (1159341). The fathers of these two Carrs were cousins. The line is carried on under Obed. Mary was twice married but is not known to have had children. Her first husband was Dr. George Adlington. He was killed by a whale during a whaling trip. She afterward married Thomas Clark. At the outbreak of the war between the States Thomas Clark was in St. Louis, Mo. Refusing to take the oath of allegiance to the Confederacy he was taken to New Orleans and imprisoned. He remained in prison until the capture of that city in 1862. His experiences had so undermined his health that he died before reaching home. He passed away in a Masonic hospital in Key West, Fla.

The nine children of Esek and Betsey were:

1159231		Ellaphelda Carr	b. July , 1795
1159232		Betsey Carr	b. , 1796
1159233		Caleb Carr	b. Nov. 1, 1797
1159234		Esek Carr	b. Jan. , 1801
1159235		James Carr	b. Dec. , 1803
1159236	+	Lydia Grinnell Carr	b. Nov. , 1805
1159237		Abby Castino Carr	b. Feb. 23, 1807
1159238		Mary Wilbur Carr	b. Nov. 2, 1809
1159239		Nancy Simmons Carr	b. July 29, 1811

CAPT. MOSES CARR 115934

Born in Nantucket, Mass., June 13, 1777
Died in Dec. 15, 1850

Married (1) in on to Nancy Swain. She evidently lived but a few years after their marriage as Capt. Moses married (2) on May 19, 1814. His second wife was Mary Earl of whom it is said that she was born and that she died in the same room. The dates of these two events were Aug. 20, 1792 and Oct. 22, 1856. She, like Capt. Moses, was from Nantucket.

Capt. Moses Carr was another of the sea going Carrs. He went farther afield on the vastness of the oceans than most. He is credited with sailing twice around the world. This fact taken with his being a Nantucket man makes it almost certain that he was a whaler.

Ten children were born to Moses and his two wives. Four of these died in infancy; James very young, Nancy on April 9, 1828, the first Joseph on July 20, 1826 and Ann on Nov. 29, 1833. The second Joseph died unmarried on Feb. 22, 1871. The daughter, Lydia married but was childless. Her husband was William Hammond of South Boston whom she married on Sept. 15, 1844. Lydia died in New Bedford on Oct. 25, 1887.

In this family we have an example of nameing that was a common practice with parents of the period. The second Joseph was given the name of an older brother that had recently died. This practice continued until a much later time.

The children of Moses and Nancy were:

1159341	+	Obed Swain Carr	b. May 27, 1803
1159342		James Carr	b.

The children of Moses and Mary were:

1159343	+	John Gardiner Carr	b. April 21, 1815
1159344		Nancy Swain Carr	b. Sept. 3, 1817
1159345		Lydia Pease Carr	b. Jan. 31, 1821
1159346		Joseph Earl Carr	b. April 18, 1824
1159347		Joseph Earl Carr	b. Sept. 25, 1826
1159348	+	Mary Abby Carr	b. Oct. 13, 1828
1159349		Ann Brock Carr	b. Dec. 3, 1830
115934-10-	+	William Beard Carr	b. Feb. 4, 1836

Died in Aug. 27, 1819
Married in on to

Frances Eldred. She was born in 1754 and died Dec. 21, 1850.

The following bits of information may assist in the further study of the family. Dolly married a Mr. Charles Rathburn. Mary married a Mr. Wm. Thomas. Deborah married a Mr. James Nason. The wife of John had the family name of Bourne. Lydia died in 1857 and Susan in May of 1879.

The seven children of Samuel and Frances were:

BENJAMIN CARR 121-10-34

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Aug. 21, 1765
Died in Jamestown, R. I.
Married in on to Elizabeth Douglas.

This Benjamin lived all his life on the island of Jamestown. He did boating, fishing and small farming.

These people were quite likely members of The Society of Friends. Benjamin, at least, is buried in the Friends Burying Ground at Jamestown.

Benjamin and Elizabeth were the parents of ten children. Little is known of these children. The following were married as noted. Abigail to Eben Parlow of New Bedford, Mass. Hannah on Nov. 7, 1839 to John Bates and William on June 24, 1840 to Mary Hull of Jamestown.

The ten children of Benjamin and Elizabeth were:

121-10-341	Mary M. Carr	b. July 13, 1789

121-10-342		Abigail Douglas Carr	b. Feb. 16, 1791

MARY CARR 121-10-61

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Feb. 19, 1771
Died in
Married in on to Walter Watson. He was the son of Job Watson. This Job Watson was known on the island as "Old King Wat". He owned nearly all of the north end of the island. Mr. W. L. Watson in his delightful history of the Jamestown Carrs which he titled "The House of Carr" says that Mary and her husband lived in the King Wat homestead at the extreme north end of the island and that the cellar walls of the house could then still be seen there.

Mary and Walter had the following ten children:

Job Watson	b.
Nicholas Carr Watson	b.
Isabella Watson	b.
Thomas H. Watson	b.
William Watson	b.
Elisha Watson	b.
Walter Watson	b.
Mary E. Watson	b.

JOHN CARR 121-10-63

Born in Jamestown, R. I., May 5, 1774
Died in Jamestown, R. I., July 27, 1823
Married in on Dec. 21, 1805 to Mary Cross a daughter of Col. Peleg Cross. She was from Charlestown, R. I. and died in Jamestown, R. I. Dec. 24, 1882.

The Jamestown Carr Homestead came down thru this John Carr. Mr. Watson whose ancestors all came from the island and whose mother was a granddaughter of John and Mary (see 121-10-6319) says that John and Mary are thought to have lived elsewhere until the death of the father, Nicholas. Family tradition insists that John rather than his older brother, Thomas, had the Homestead because John had ten children and Thomas none.

John was very active in the affairs of the Island and was given the title (probably honorable) of Captain. He was a very religious man being a "pillar" of the Baptist Church thus breaking the tradition of Quakerism in the family.

The year 1823 was a year of tragedy in this family. A week before the year began, on Christmas eve in fact, the mother of the ten children died. The infant Hannah was then taken by her grandparents Cross but survived only a couple of months. Then in July the father passed away leaving nine little folks alone in the old home. The youngest of the brood, George Cross Carr, was taken by his childless uncle and aunt, Thomas and Abigail Carr, and reared by them. The remaining eight children were kept together, reared and educated by the two oldest, Peleg and Mary who were at the time of their parents' death but sixteen and fifteen years of age.

A silhouette of Mary Cross Carr still hangs in the old Carr Homestead. The author, Henry C. Carr, once stayed a night or two at the Homestead and wrote a delightful bit for his Column in the Los Angeles Times tha was built around this silhouette. I include it in the appendix as No. 7.

Of the ten children of John and Mary who are not carried to Gen. VII the following should be noted. Mary E. died Aug. 29, 1873; Thos. J. died May 2, 1858; John E. died Feb. 20, 1885; Celia Ann mar. Mr. Smith Carpenter of Rochester, N. Y.

The ten children of John and Mary were:

121–10–631	+	Peleg Cross Carr	b. April 17, 1807
121–10–632		Mary Eldred Carr	b. April 18, 1808
121–10–633	+	Catherine Congdon Carr	b. April 23, 1809
121–10–634		Thomas Jefferson Carr	b. Dec. 25, 1810
121–10–635		Nicholas Carr	b. April 8, 1812
121–10–636		John Eldred Carr	b. Oct. 15, 1814
121–10–637		Celia Ann Carr	b. June 24, 1816
121–10–638		William Carter Carr	b. June 24, 1817
121–10–639	+	George Cross Carr	b. Dec. 22, 1818
121–10–63–10–		Hannah Carter Carr	b. Oct. 9, 1822

PELEG CARR 123125

Born in North Kingstown, R. I., Aug. 3, 1753
Died in
Married in about 1778 to Watty Tibbetts.

Five sons and three daughters were born to Peleg and Watty. Linsley and Uriah were lost at sea. Susan is said to have married a Mr. Henry Runnell and Polly a Mr. Palmer Kenney. which accounts for all of them but Betsey.

The eight children of Peleg and Watty were:

1231251		Linsley Carr	b. about 1780
1231252		Uriah Carr	b. about 1782
1231253	+	Caleb Carr	b. July 7, 1784
1231254	+	Joseph Carr	b. June 9, 1786
1231255	+	John Tibbetts Carr	b. Aug. 29, 1788

JOB CARR 124142

Born in Little Egg Harbor, N. J., July 15, 1750
Died in (see below)
Married in on to
Catherine ————.

Very little is available on Job and Catherine. One note that Edson Carr gives in his "Carr Family Records" is subject to questioning. He says that Job died in battle on Sept. 3, 1782. The last battles of the Revolution were nearly a year previous to this. I know not whether the date or the fact of that statement is in error.

Job and Catherine had the three children:

1241421		Sarah Carr	b. Aug. 2, 1778
1241422	+	Millicent Carr	b. Jan. 16, 1781
1241423		Job Carr	b. Nov. 27, 1782

SAMUEL CARR 124144

Born in Little Egg Harbor, N. J., Oct. 22, 1754
Died in Mt. Holly, N. J. June 29, 1832
Married in on Dec. 20, 1781 to Ann French. She was born on Oct. 16, 1758 and died in Mt. Holly, N. J. on Sept. 4, 1842. She was the daughter of Robert and Hannah French.

Little seems to be known of these good Quaker people. Edson Carr preserved their marriage contract in total. As an item of interest I place it in the appendix as No. 8.

The children of Samuel and Ann numbered eight. Jeremiah and Thomas died as infants, Jeremiah on Nov. 15, 1786 and Thomas on Feb. 28, 1798. The son Robert died unmarried on Dec. 5, 1844.

The eight children of Samuel and Ann were:

1241441	+	Hannah Carr	b. Sept. 12, 1782
1241442	+	Caleb Carr	b. July 28, 1784
1241443		Jeremiah Carr	b. Sept. 27, 1786
1241444	+	Samuel Carr	b. Mar. 24, 1788
1241445	+	Mary Carr	b. Sept. 27, 1791
1241446	+	Isaac Carr	b. Nov. 4, 1793
1241447		Robert Carr	b. Dec. 9, 1795
1241448		Thomas Carr	b. Feb. 4, 1798

ISAAC CARR 124145

Born in Little Egg Harbor, N. J., Mar. 10, 1757
Died in Mt. Holly, N. J. after Feb. 8, 1814
Married in on to Mary __________.

The last will and testament of Isaac is dated Feb. 8, 1814. For that reason we can say that his death occurred after that date. Not a thing is yet known of the wife of Isaac except that she was called Mary.

Isaac and Mary had five children. They were:

1241451	Jane Carr	b.
1241452	Sarah Carr	b.
1241453	Hannah Carr	b.
1241454	Isaac Carr	b.
1241455	Henry R. Carr	b.

SAMUEL CARR 126311

Born in Newport, R. I. 13, 1742
Died in
Married (1) in on to

Sarah Thomas. She died on Sept. 30, 1784. On Dec. 13, 1789 Samuel married (2) Ann Hookey. She was the daughter of John Hookey.

Here is another family that may reward the future researcher as but one of the children is known to have died in childhood (the first John). It would seem that some of the remaining seven must have descendants.

Seven children were born to Samuel and Sarah. They were:

1263111	Caleb Carr 3rd	b. Dec. 7, 1768
1263112	Mary Carr	b. Dec. 17, 1771
1263113	Sarah Carr	b. July 13, 1776
1263114	Elizabeth Carr	b. Nov. 18, 1778
1263115	John Carr	b. Jan. 29, 1781
1263116	John Carr	b. Sept. 11, 1782
1263117	Waite Carr	b. Sept. 16, 1784

Samuel and Ann had the one son:

1263118	William Phillip Carr	b. Oct. 11, 1793

CALEB CARR 126312

Born in Newport, R. I., May 7, 1744
Died in Watervale, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1818
Married in on to

Margaret Adams. She was from Milford, Mass. Family tradition has it that this Margaret was a cousin of the second President of the United States.

Caleb Carr was endowed with what we now call the pioneer spirit. His first pioneering was done sometime near the time of his marriage. As his wife was a New England girl it is probable that they were married before the first pioneering was done. This first move was to Ballston Spa. (then called Ballstown) in Saratoga Co., N. Y. The 1790 census lists Caleb Kerr as a resident of Ballstown.

Caleb was a soldier in the Revolution and took part in one of the decisive battles of that war, a battle that was fought almost on his doorstep for Bemis Heights is but a few miles from Ballston Spa. It has come down thru the family that Caleb lived on a farm much closer to the Saratoga Battlefield than the village of Ballston Spa. This story is given some credence by the fact that Levi, the eldest son of the family was deafened by the cannonading of the battle and although but a lad at the time he was a pensioner of the war.

In 1796 Caleb and Margaret "pulled up stakes" in Saratoga Co. and went into the opening country of Onandaga Co. Here they settled in the town of Pompey at a place then called Hemlock Hollow. This place was later called Carr's Hollow because of the numerous Carrs, children and grandchildren of Caleb and Margaret, who lived there. Still later the name of the locality was changed to its present name of Watervale. Both Caleb and his wife died at Watervale and are buried in the cemetery there.

All seven children of this pair of pioneers grew up and married. No children being known of three of these children I give the little data available on them here. Ebenezer married twice, (1) to Clarissa Ball. (2) to Rebecca Barnum. He died in Manlius, N. Y. Phebe also was twice married her husbands were Asa Strong and John Grover.

The children of Caleb and Margaret were:

1263121	+	Levi Carr	b. about	1765
1263122	+	John Carr	b. about	1767
1263123	+	Ruth Carr	b. about	1769
1263124		Ebenezer Carr	b. about	1771
1263125		Phebe Carr	b. about	1773
1263126	+	James Carr	b. June	, 1775
1263127	+	Jehial Carr	b.	, 1777

WILLIAM PITT CARR 12631-16-

Born in Newport, R. I., July 7, 1766
Died in Dec. 21, 1831
Married in on April 26, 1795 to Sarah Bissell.

Parents of this present day would do well to study the rough road of infancy in the eighteenth century and thank God for the miracles of modern medicine. This family of William and Sarah is a case in point. Not at all exceptional for the times that four out of the nine children born to them should die in their youth. We preserve the dates of their death as of all others known partly for purposes of study by those who wish to analyze such things in the future. Lydia B. died on Aug. 3, 1797, Lydia on Oct. 10, 1819, the first Sarah on July 17, 1811, and the second Sarah on July 10, 1814. Two others of the children grew up but died unmarried. Edward on Aug. 25, 1837 and Elizabeth on Sept. 27, 1870.

The nine children of William and Sarah were:

12631–16–1		Lydia B. Carr	b. Oct. 5, 1796
12631–16–2		Lydia Carr	b. Oct. 29, 1797
12631–16–3		Edward L. Carr	b. July 1, 1799
12631–16–4		Elizabeth Carr	b. Dec. 12, 1802
12631–16–5	+	Catherine Carr	b. May 28, 1804
12631–16–6	+	Henry Weeden Carr	b. Mar. 20, 1807
12631–16–7		Sarah V. Carr (twin)	b. May 3, 1810
12631–16–8		Mary M. Carr (twin)	b. May 3, 1810
12631–16–9		Sarah Carr	b. Aug. 27, 1812

SAMUEL CARR 126325

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 26, 1756
Died by drowning in Newport, R. I., Mar. 21, 1814
Married in on Aug. 24, 1780 to Damaris Underwood. She was the daughter of Benjamin Underwood. She was born in Jamestown, R. I. on Mar. 7, 1763 and died in Newport, R. I., May 18, 1798.

Samuel was the Carr in this generation to uphold the tradition of operating the Ferry service to and from the island of Jamestown. In his time it was a sail ferry. Mr. Watson in his "House of Carr" says that the last man to sail the Samuel Carr Ferry was Job Ellis of Jamestown who lived where the Bay View Hotel now stands. His home was then known as the Ferry house.

Both Samuel and Damaris are buried in Jamestown. I follow Edson Carr in allowing a Newport, R. I. paper to tell the story of his violent death. To quote:

> "DIED in this town on Monday evening last, Samuel Carr Esq. aged 58 years. The circumstances of his death were peculiarly distressing. He had been to visit a sick uncle on Washington St. and departing from there at 7 o'clock p. m. when he was blown off the causeway leading from Washington St. to the Long Wharf, the wind blowing almost a hurricane. His body was found the next morning and will be interred this day in the family graveyard in Jamestown. In the sudden death of this valuable citizen his family has to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father; his friends and associates one whose advice, sincerity and friendship could be relied upon; society one of its most useful members and his country one of its early, warm and indefatigable supporters. To the poor and distressed his purse and his hand were ever open and his active benevolence let him perform many acts of kindness and liberality without ostentation or parade; and it may be said of him that in his death the community realize the loss of a philanthropist and truly honest man."

Among the eight children of Samuel and Damaris but two failed to carry on the line. The son John sailed for Java on the ship "Baird" in the fall of 1805 and died there. The son Caleb died as an infant on Aug. 11, 1795.

The eight children were:

1263251	+	Samuel Carr	b.
1263252	+	Benjamin Underwood Carr	b.
1263253	+	Damaria Carr	b.
1263254	+	Greene Carr	b.
1263255		John Carr	b.
1263256	+	Robert Robinson Carr	b.
1263257		Caleb Carr	b.
1263258	+	Francis Carr	b.

EBENEZER CARR 126326

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 26, 1760
Died in

Married in Jamestown, R. I. on June 3, 1782 to Mary Underwood. She was the daughter of Benjamin Underwood. She was also the sister of Damaris which means that the two Carr boys married the two Underwood girls. See under 126325.

In the matter of children Ebenezer and Mary took the lead with an even dozen. It is hoped that someone may sometime dig out the further history of these children. At present we have enough data to carry only one of them into Generation VII. William and Tiddeman are known to have married. William in Jamestown on Nov. 5, 1837 to Elizabeth Weeden and Tiddeman in Jamestown on Oct. 29, 1840 to Hannah K. Carpenter.

Ebenezer and Mary's twelve children were:

1263261		John Carr	b. Mar. 30, 1783

1263263		James Carr	b. Aug. 27, 1787

1263264	Waterman Carr	b. Nov. 15, 1789
1263265	Phebe Carr	b. Jan. 22, 1792
1263266	Benjamin Carr	b. May 8, 1794
1263267	Mary Carr	b. Nov. 2, 1796
1263268	Samuel Carr	b. May 21, 1799
1263269	Damaris Carr	b. Dec. 4, 1802

126326-11-	John Carr	b. May 4, 1806

MARY CARR 126352

Born in Newport, R. I., June 13, 1763
Died in Newport, R. I.
Married in on May 11, 1788 to Joseph Mumford of Newport.

They had the five children below:

Elizabeth Mumford	b. Jan. 26, 1789
Mary Mumford	b. May 12, 1790
Phebe Mumford	b. Mar. 21, 1792
Samuel Mumford	b. Sept. 12, 1796
Sarah Mumford	b. July 15, 1798

SAMUEL I. CARR. 126354

Born in Newport, R. I., Sept. 24, 1766
Died in Newport, R. I., June 7, 1826
Married in on Sept. 18, 1796 to Charlotte Cranston.

I wonder how many male children received the name George Washington during the public life of the "Father of our Country". Certainly a great many, for here we find parents who six years after Washington's death sufficiently revered the name to bestow it upon one of their own. G. W. Carr did not marry and died in 184 . Three of the children of Samuel and Charlotte "faded in the morn of life". The first Caleb died Aug. 3, 1802; Thomas died May 29, 1808 and Samuel on Mar. 30, 1814. The daughter, Mary, married Simon Hart but is thought to have been without issue. Her marriage date was Sept. 30, 1823. She died in Newport on Aug. 26, 1877.

The seven children of Samuel and Charlotte were:

1263541	+	John S. Carr	b. June 20, 1797

1263542		Mary Cranston Carr	b. May 11, 1799
1263543		Caleb Arnold Carr	b. April 8, 1801
1263544	+	Caleb Arnold Carr	b. Aug. 8, 1803
1263545		George Washington Carr	b. July 29, 1805
1263546		Thomas Carr	b. Feb. 7, 1808
1263547		Samuel I. Carr	b. June 29, 1813

GEORGE WASHINGTON CARR 12635-11

Born in Newport, R. I., July 12, 1777
Died in Newport, R. I., July 4, 1848
Married in on Nov. 1, 1801 to Margaret Thurston. She was of William and Mary (Rowling) Thurston and was born April 11, 1779. Her span of life was extraordinary. She lacked less than a year of reaching the century mark when her death occurred on July 19, 1878.

George W. and Margaret had ten children. Five of these are listed in Generation VII. We have bits of information regarding three more. of the son George Washington the "History of Newport Co." says, "Geo. W. Carr Jr. b. Apr. 22, 1808 in Newport. He enjoyed such advantages of education as that early day afforded, his tutor being Levi Tower. Apprenticed as a tailor he for twenty years managed a merchant tailor business in New Bedford. Returning to Newport he opened a dry goods store. He was a Quaker". The dau. Mary and the son John both married and are each recorded as being parent to one child. They are not, however considered in the next Generation for the reason that the names of the children are not known to me. Mary mar. Josiah Goodspeed in 1830 and d. Nov. 19, 1879. John mar. Sarah Crandall on Oct. 19, 1845.

The ten children of George W. and Margaret were:

12635-11-1		Dolly Thurston Carr	b. July 27, 1802
12635-11-2	+	Abby Carr	b. Dec. 18, 1803
12635-11-3		Margaret Carr	b. Sept. 17, 1805
12635-11-4		George Washington Carr	b. Apr. 22, 1808
12635-11-5		Mary Ann Carr	b. Mar. 26, 1810
12635-11-6	+	Caleb Arnold Carr	b. June 15, 1813
12635-11-7	+	Thomas Thurston Carr	b. May 4, 1815
12635-11-8	+	Sarah Rowling Carr	b. Aug. 5, 1818
12635-11-9		John Carr	b. Feb. 22, 1821
12635-11-10	+	Amelia Carr	b. June 23, 1824

JOANNA CARR 127112

Died in
Married in on Jan. 24, 1788 to Nathaniel Hammond, the Warden, John Eldred performing the ceremony.

They had the following five children:

John Hammond	b. Nov. 19, 1788
Daniel Hammond	b. Apr. 26, 1790
Edward Hammond	b. Oct. 30, 1791
Merebah Hammond	b. Dec. 8, 1792
Nathaniel Hammond	b. July 19, 1794

EDWARD CARR 127113

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Mar. 1, 1755
Died in
Married in on , 1780 to Ruth Wyatt.

There is confusion regarding this family. Edson Carr says that this Edward was twice married and ascribes three children (Sarah, David and Daniel) to the first wife, Ruth Wyatt, and nine to a second wife Alice. Descendants of Edward have family papers that tend to show that Edward and Ruth had sons named Edward and Wyatt. This seems to disprove the Edson Carr set up as he places the son Edward as a child of the second wife and indicates his death in 1830 while the Edward who was the son of Edward and Ruth and the ancestor of our Central N. Y. State family was born sixteen years earlier and lived until 1857. Edson Carr mentions no son named Wyatt.

Until more light is shed on this and as no descendants of the children mentioned by Edson Carr are known I carry on the family as the descendants that I have contacted believe to be true. Refer to p. 93 of "Carr Family Records" for alternate list of children.

Edward and Ruth are thought to have separated, Ruth subsequently marrying Reuben Reynolds. The daughter, Sarah, married ________ Albright.

The children of Edward and Ruth seem to have been:

1271131		Sarah Carr	b.
1271132	+	Edward Carr	b. , 1784
1271133	+	Wyatt Carr	b.

JANE CARR 127118

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Jan. 19, 1765
Died in
Married in on to
Thomas Fowler.

They had the three daughters:

Sybil Fowler	b. Nov. 20, 1788
Sarah Fowler	b. July 25, 1791
Martha Fowler	b. Sept. 1, 1794

RESOLVED CARR 127119

Born in Jamestown, R. I., July 8, 1768
Died in Westerly, R. I., Dec. , 1834
Married in Westerly, R. I. on to
____________ ____________.

So little is known of these Carrs. It is known that they had six children as below. Beside the ones indicated by the "X" Phebe and Hannah also married but only the names of their husbands being known they must be mentioned only here. Phebe married Jonathan Stillman and Hannah, Amos Stillman.

The six children were,

1271191	+	Daniel Carr	b.
1271192		Samuel Carr	b.
1271193	+	Vincent Carr	b.
1271194		Joanna Carr	b.
1271195		Phebe Carr	b.
1271196		Hannah Carr	b.

BENJAMIN CARR 127121

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Nov. 18, 1749
Died in Jan. , 1832
Married in on to
Mary Burlingame. She was born on April 10, 1765 and died in the month of September of 1847.

The first Federal Census taken in 1790 lists a Benjamin Carr living in Coventry, R. I. His family there is recorded as consisting of two females which it would seem were his wife, Mary and the daughter Ruth who was born in May of that year. This daughter Ruth is carried no farther in this history although she married on June 24, 1841 a Mr. Abner Wilbur of Scituate, R. I. They are said to have been childless.

Benjamin and Mary had the following five children:

1271211		Ruth Carr	b. May 11, 1790
1271212	+	Weaver Carr	b. July 26, 1796
1271213		Avis Carr	b. Mar. 9, 1800
1271214	+	Benjamin Carr	b. Jan. 9, 1804
1271215		Mary Carr	b. Aug. 20, 1807

1271283		Isaiah Carr	b.

PHEBE CARR 127752

Born in Jamestown, R. I. Nov. 14, 1760
Died in
Married in on Nov. 27, 1783 to John Remington.

Their seven children were:

Hannah M. Remington	b. Nov. 2, 1784
Sarah C. Remington	b. Nov. 21, 1786
Olive M. Remington	b. Jan. 7, 1789
Peter G. Remington	b. Dec. 13, 1791
Phebe Ann Remington	b. Dec. 20, 1794
Benjamin E. Remington	b. June 13, 1797
Susan Remington	b. July 9, 1798

WILLIAM CARR 127753

Born in Jamestown, R. I., May 12, 1763
Died in South Kingstown, R. I. , 1804
Married in on to Lydia Hopkins. A genealogy of the Sheldon Family states that Lydia was either the daughter or other close relative of Stephen Hopkins, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Seven children were born to William and Lydia. In 1804 tragedy in the form of yellow fever came upon this family. In a period of seven weeks this dread disease took the husband and four of the children of Lydia Carr. The oldest surviving child was then but thirteen years of age. The fact that Lydia kept the family together and paid for the home is another example of the strength of mind, body and character that was in our forebears.

Lydia subsequently removed to Otego, N. Y. where her son Rowland resided. Her death occurred in Rhode Island while she was there on a visit.

The three children of William and Lydia that survived the yellow fever epidemic were:

1277531	+	Rowland Carr	b. Oct. 21, 1791
1277532	+	James Carr	b. April 15, 1798
1277533	+	William G. Carr	b. Sept. , 1801

JAMES CAREY CARR 127756

Born in Jamestown, R. I., July 2, 1769
Died in
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Sept. 16, 1810 to Renewed Armstrong.

James and Renewed had a family of five all of whom grew up and married. However very little data is at hand on three of them. These therefor are not further recorded and the scraps of information relating to them are given here. The oldest child, Sarah, married Joshua Darling and was the mother of Louisa Darling who married Henry Colvin of Providence, R. I. The son, James, is said to have lived in Brooklyn, N. Y. His wife was of British birth. They had one son who was named for his grandfather, James Carey, and who died in the Military service of the U. S. The youngest of the five lived to a considerable age. She, Phebe, is recorded in 1894 as having survived her husband, Mr. Horace Ray, and to be then living in Jamestown, R. I. She had two sons.

The five children of James and Renewed were:

1277561		Sarah Carr	b. June 23, 1811
1277562	+	George William Carr	b. Jan. 20, 1813
1277563		James Carr	b. July 22, 1814
1277564	+	Hannah Carr	b. Mar. 2, 1816
1277565		Phebe Carr	b. Dec. 26, 1817

GEORGE TEW CARR 127757

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Oct. 7, 1772
Died in Morris, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1861
Married in on to
Lydia Wood. She was a daughter of Daniel Wood. She was born in Westport, Mass. Her death date was Sept. 17, 1837.

The fact that the youngest child of George and Lydia was born in Otego, N. Y. and that the next to the youngest is recorded as being born in Jamestown, R. I. justifies the belief that some time between the spring of 1809 and the summer of 1813 this family of Carrs made the break with the ancestral home in Rhode Island and went into the "West" in search of greater opportunity.

The five children of this union were:

1277571	+	Desire Carr	b. April 3, 1796
1277572	+	James Wanton Carr	b. Sept. 7, 1801
1277573	+	Sarah Carr	b. Jan. 14, 1805
1277574	+	Mehitable Thurston Carr	b. April 21, 1809
1277575	+	Lydia Wood Carr	b. June 1, 1813

BRIDGET CARR 127762

Born prob. in Jamestown, R. I., May 25, 1770
Died in Feb. 20, 1830
Married (1) in on , 1790 to
James Austin. (2) in on to Benjamin Brightman.

Bridget and both of her husbands resided in the northern part of the town of Laurens, Otsego Co., N. Y. Zillah V. C. Bull of Oneonta, N. Y. relates the family story that James, the first husband, started one day in late autumn on horseback with grain to be ground and was never again heard from.

Bridget was the mother of two children by her first husband. The daughter died unmarried on April 27, 1758. Several children were born of the second union. I have the name of but one.

Bridget and James had:

Polly Austin	b. Feb. 9, 1792
James Austin	b.

Bridget and Benjamin had among others:

Damaris Brightman	b.

PELEG CARR 127766

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 25, 1782

James and Esther set up housekeeping in Mt. Holly but in 1807 they moved to Wayne Co., Pa.

They were the parents of eight children every one of whom married and had children of their own as may be discovered by referring to Generation VII. These eight children were:

1291111	+	Thomas Carr	b. about 1792
1291112	+	Edward Carr	b. Feb. 4, 1794
1291113	+	John Carr	b. Sept. 12, 1796

1291117	+	James Carr	b. about 1805
1291118	+	Erastus Carr	b. Sept. 28, 1811

Generation VII

More than one hundred and twenty five persons whose great grandfathers on the Carr side called either the emigrant Robert or the emigrant Caleb, grandfather, appear in this generation. Many others there were, I am sure. The task of digging out the information that will connect these "lost cousins" with the group is just begun.

This is the great "going out" generation. Glance over the places of birth and compare them with the places of death in the pages before you that comprise this seventh generation and you will be struck by the number of individuals whose life span carried them toward the setting sun. Some of the southern Rhode Island group remained on their paternal acres to perpetuate the name in the area of its earliest appearance but a large proportion of the Carrs seem to have been fired with the pioneer spirit.

This westward migration, begun in the previous generation mainly by removals to New York and Pennsylvania is in this generation gathering the momentum that will carry the spreading out process for a hundred years. Not only New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania but Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and even Iowa and Wisconsin now feel the feet of our adventurous ancestors.

Ox cart and musket, augur and axe, flint and steel were among the tools of this generation. Simple tools that in the hands of our forefathers caused the forests to become smiling corn land whose product was ground by the streams they had tamed.

CALEB CARR 1112154

Born (prob. in West Greenwich, R. I.) Nov. 11, 1762
Died in , Mich. July 18, 1839
______________ ______________.

Little of this Carr is known for certain. Family tradition says that he was a preacher. One of his sons was born in New York State. He and his family are thought to have lived for many years in the Province of Ontario. Two of his sons went over into Michigan as that country was being opened to settlement. He is thought to have had other children because the sons (as below) often went into Canada to visit relatives. In 1836, three years before his death, he came to Michigan to live with his sons there. He is buried in the Novi, Mich. Cemetery some twenty miles from Detroit in the same plot with his son, Isaac, and the wife and daughter of Isaac. He is said to have fought in two wars but was rather young to have been active in the Revolution.

The two known children of Caleb and his wife were:

11121541	+	Isaac Carr	b. , 1789
11121542	+	Caleb Carr	b. Oct. 26, 1795

SAMUEL CARR 1112181

Born in Stephentown, N. Y. about 1774
Died in
Married in on to

Anna Fanning.

It is a poor way to start the seventh generation of this family with a sketch so lacking in essential data as is this one but the accident of birth put it among the first. Our striving must be to complete it.

Samuel and Anna had four children. "Carr Family Records" mentions that the son John lived in Jefferson Co., N. Y. and that Sybil married a man whose surname was Billings and that she died in McDonald Co., Mo.

The four children of Samuel and Anna were:

11121811		John F. Carr	b.
11121812	+	George Rufus Carr	b. July 18, 1807
11121813		Samuel Carr	b.
11121814		Sybil Carr	b.

JOSHUA CARR 1112182

Born in Stephentown, N. Y. about 1776
Died in Stephentown, N. Y.
Married in on to

Sarah Whitman. She was born about 1784 and as the census of 1855 lists her as 71 years of age she must have died after 1855 at a good old age.

Mrs. Mary Rowe of Stephentown remembers as a girl this Joshua Carr who was then an old man. She recounts that he was regarded as a peculiar person and that he traveled about much among his many relatives and friends entertaining them with his wit and repartee. One occasion that Mrs. Rowe remembers hearing the family tell about was a banquet which Mr. Carr attended. A man names Douglas gave a toast in the course of which he parodied one of Watt's hymns. Joshua immediately came to his feet and delivered himself of the following extemporaneous verse.

> "Douglas you are a dreadful creature
> You despise great Watts and spoil his meter.
> God's own praises you strive to alter
> For which your neck deserves the halter."

Joshua and Sarah had eleven children. Among those not further treated are Henrietta who married a Mr. McGill and Britton who married Louisa Knight.

The eleven children of Joshua and Sarah were:

11121821	+	Caleb Carr	b. July 16, 1805
11121822		Joshua Carr	b.
11121823		Amanda Carr	b.
11121824	+	Henry Carr	b. , 1812
11121825		Henrietta Carr	b.
11121826		Eurona Carr	b.
11121827	+	Lorenzo Carr	b.
11121828		Samuel Carr	b.
11121829		Britton Carr	b.
1112182-10-	+	Erastus Whitman Carr	b. April 10, 1825
1112182-11-		Pathena Carr	b.

GENERAL CALEB CARR 1112183

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Aug. 6, 1778
Died in Williamstown, N. Y., Feb. 6, 1840
Married (1) in on to Theresa Bull. No data on this first wife of Gen. Carr is available. Gen. Caleb married (2) in on , 1815 to Lucinda Harris. She was born in Aug. 1787 and died on April 21, 1850.

The files of Rensselaer County Deeds contain two conveyances from Caleb and Lucinda. One dated Mar. 1, 1827 conveys land to Benjamin Chase. The other which is dated July 16, 1829 conveys land to Simeon Kettle and cites a land grant from Stephen Van Rensselaer to Caleb Carr of land on the Black River. One might surmise that these deeds roughly date the removal of Caleb and Lucinda to Williamstown, N. Y. where they spent the remainder of their lives.

Caleb was a very public spirited man. His first public service seems to have been as Colonel in the State Militia. After the war of 1812 he became the head of the New York State Militia with the rank of General. He also served one term in the New York Legislature. His attainment of the rank of General was the result of his brilliant leadership at the battle of Plattsburg. He, as a Colonel of Militia, was with the troops hastening to repel the British troops that were advancing down the Champlain Valley. Being dissatisfied with the speed that they were making he asked permission to take a picked force of fifteen hundred men and push on ahead. This he was allowed to do arriving in time to greatly assist in turning the British back.

Sylvester's "History of Rensselaer Co." says that Caleb was a Brig. General in the war of 1812. It also says that he was an early innkeeper at Stephentown. In this it is my opinion that the author has confused the General with his father.

Caleb was the father of seven children. Two were by his first wife. Some small dates etc. are available on the three daughters who are not carried to Gen. VIII. These bits are as follows: Cynthia married but was childless. Her husband was Aaron B. Gilbert. He was born in Trenton, N. Y. in 1807 and died in Williamstown, N. Y. in 1879. Cynthia died in Williamstown on April 2, 1902. Lucinda died Sept. 13, 1848. Charlotte died May 7, 1840.

The children of Caleb and Theresa were:

11121831	+	Horatio N. Carr	b. about 1799
11121832	+	Louisa Carr	b. Nov. 29, 1800

The children of Caleb and Lucinda were:

11121833		Cynthia Carr	b. Nov. 17, 1816
11121834	+	Caleb Lorenzo Carr	b. July 10, 1818
11121835		Lucinda O. Carr	b. , 1821
11121836		Charlotte L. Carr	b. , 1823
11121837	+	Henry Tibbetts Carr	b. , 1825

GIDEON CARR 1112184

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in
Married in on to

Phebe Northrup. I regret that I do not have any information on Phebe nor the dates that belong in this sketch of Gideon.

Around about the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and fifteen there must have been a deal of excitement among the Carrs that resided about the township of Stephentown, N. Y. The urge of new lands was stirring them as it had stirred their fathers a generation before. Gideon and Phebe were striking out for Central New York, Richmond Carr, a cousin, was spying out the land farther to the west in the same state and others of the family had already or soon were to take up new locations to the west.

Gideon and his family seem to have first located at Trenton, N. Y. and later at a place that I have not yet been able to locate known as Deerfield, N. Y.

The family of Gideon and Phebe was typical of the times as to size. Four sons and four daughters were born to them. Every one of these children is said to have married and to have had children. In the case of four of them I have no data on their children but in this case I am carrying them to the following generation to present their own sketches and with the fervent hope that the information on the children will be uncovered in time.

The eight children of Gideon and Phebe were:

11121841	+	Phebe Maria Carr	b. July 12, 1807
11121842	+	Gideon Renaldo Carr	b. May 26, 1811
11121843	+	Abigail Carr	b. Sept. 6, 1813
11121844	+	Nicholas Northrop Carr	b. Dec. 4, 1815
11121845	+	Freelove Carr	b. Sept. 19, 1817
11121846	+	Nelson H. Carr	b. Aug. 26, 1821
11121847	+	Charlotte Samantha Carr	b. July 7, 1825

STAFFORD CARR 1112191

Born probably in West Greenwich, R. I., July 9, 1769
Died in Wilton, N. Y., Jan. 31, 1855
Married in on Feb. 26, 1789 to Catherine Stafford. She was from Kinderhook, N. Y. Her birth date was June 9, 1765. She died in Wilton, N. Y. Sept. 9, 1852.

Since the marriage of Stafford Carr and Catherine Stafford the name Stafford has been a standard given name in the family. It came into the family with the mother of this Stafford who was a Stafford.

The 1790 Census list gives a Stafford Kerr at Stephentown. Other members of the family are listed in the same list as Carr. We may put down the variation in spelling to the enumerators whim.

In 1793 Stafford and Catherine pulled up stakes and moved farther up into the wilderness. Why they chose a spot just north of Saratoga Springs is not known but here it was that they settled and became the progenitors of a large number of the name that resided in this region. My father has said that Stafford built the first grist mill in the town of Wilton. It was on the stream at what is now known as King's Station about three miles north of the city of Saratoga Springs.

The children of Stafford and Catherine numbered ten. All that lived to maturity married. The death dates of the others are, John, July 27, 1813; Caleb, Oct. 14, 1798; George W. was drowned Sept. 6, 1814.

The ten children of Stafford and Catherine were:

11121911 + Eleazer Carr b. April 11, 1790

11121912	+	Clarissa Carr	b. Sept. 11, 1791
11121913	+	Stafford Carr	b. Jan. 29, 1793
11121914	+	Eunice Carr	b. May 14, 1794
11121915		John Carr	b. Nov. 21, 1795
11121916		Caleb Carr	b. April 29, 1798
11121917	+	Amos Carr	b. Aug. 16, 1799
11121918	+	Stutely Carr	b. Oct. 16, 1801

REV. STUTELY CARR 1112192

Born in July 5, 1773

Died in Spring Twp., Crawford Co., Pa., June 7, 1840

Married in West Greenwich, R. I. on Feb. 16, 1791 to Sybil Dyer. She was the daughter of George and Ann Dyer. She was born in West Greenwich, R. I. on Aug. 1, 1772 and died on Dec. 4, 1839.

Rev. Stutely and Sybil settled in Salisbury, N. Y. which was their residence for many years. On Mar. 5, 1802 Gov. George Clinton commissioned him a Captain in the N. Y. State Militia. It is thought that his title of Reverend was borne under the Baptist Church. His death was the result of his being hurt by the fall of a tree three days previously.

Sixteen children were born to Rev. Stutely and his wife. Four of them died as infants and before names had been given them. This accounts for but twelve being listed below. All of the surviving twelve married. The daughter, Nancy, had no children and is therefore not carried to Gen. VIII. Her husband was Humphrey H. Whipple.

The twelve surviving children of Rev. Stutely and Sybil were:

11121921	+	George Carr	b. June 28, 1794
11121922	+	Amasa Carr	b. Oct. 19, 1795
11121923	+	Eleazer Carr	b. May 19, 1797

Born in about 1777
Died in
Married in Salisbury, N. Y. on to Hannah Hakes. She was born in 1779 and died Nov. 30, 1857.

As will be noted but little is known of these people. They had four children. The daughter, Malvina, died young on July 2, 1829.

The four children of Eleazer and Hannah were:

11121941	+	Ormenda Carr	b. Nov. 15, 1802

ROGER CARR 11121-11-1

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in Mich. , 1833
Married in on to Hannah Newman.

Roger and his wife likely went to Pavilion, N. Y. with or shortly after Roger's brother, Richmond. For some reason they did not remain there but moved to Michigan where four of their children are said to have lived.

Roger and Hannah had five children. I have no facts regarding these children to offer except that the daughter, Melissa, married a Mr. R. Smith in Pavilion, N. Y.

The five children were:

11121-11-11	Enos Carr	b.
11121-11-12	Elijah Carr	b.
11121-11-13	Melissa Carr	b.
11121-11-14	Charlotte Carr	b.
11121-11-15	Nerissa Carr	b.

RICHMOND CARR 11121-11-2

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in Pavilion, N. Y.
Married in on to Rosanna Perry. She was born in 1795 and died in Pavilion, N. Y. in 1859. Both Richmond and Rosanna are buried in Pavilion.

Richmond Carr was a pioneer model. As his father had left the settled life of Rhode Island for the frontier hardships of Rensselaer Co. N. Y. so he fared forth for newer and better country. Sometime about 1815 he left his wife and the three children then born to them and journeyed to Geneseo. Here he left the traveled road and struck off thru the forest blazing his trail as he went for an easier return. At this period the wilderness of western New York which had from time unknown been the ancestral home of the great Seneca Nation was being opened up to white settlement. On this vast tract near what later became the village of Pavilion Richmond Carr chose his future home, cleared a little land, built a cabin and returned to Stephentown, N. Y. for his family. That his choice of a site was good is attested by the fact that not alone he and Rosanna lived out their lives there but also his son and grandson.

Richmond and Rosanna had eight children. From tombstones in the Pavilion cemetery, from Edson Carr's "Records" and from other sources come the following fragments regarding the children that are not carried to Gen. VIII. Sylvester married Maria Williams in Pavilion, N. Y. Here in this pretty village of western New York they spent their lives Sylvester dying there in 1898 and Maria in 1906 at the age of 88. They were childless. Wellington married Catherine Lent in 1848. They probably lived in Pavilion. He died there in 1869. They had two daughters whose names I do not have. Arvid married Alice Higgins of Wyoming, N. Y. He disappeared as a young married man and was never located by his family. He had one daughter whose name I do not have.

The eight children of Richmond and Rosanna were:

11121–11–21	+	Livingston Carr	b.
11121–11–22		Sylvester Carr	b.	, 1813
11121–11–23	+	Sally Ann Carr	b.
11121–11–24	+	Eli Carr	b.	, 1817
11121–11–25		Wellington Carr	b.
11121–11–26	+	Calphuria Carr	b.
11121–11–27	+	Edwin Carr	b.
11121–11–28		Arvid Carr	b.

ELI CARR 11121–11–3

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in
Married in on to
Rebecca Crofoot.

This family, whose record is very sketchy ended up in the state of Michigan with an intermediate stop at Covington, N. Y. Both Eli and Rebecca died in Michigan.

A fine family of nine children were born to Eli and Rebecca. At least six of these children are known to have lived in Michigan. From a lack of sufficient data most of the children are not carried to the next generation. Edson Carr has the following bits of data. Malcolm lived in Michigan; Angeline married an Allison, had three children and died in 1860; Caroline married a Kellogg, had two sons and lived in Detroit, Mich.; Charlotte married a Walker and died in Michigan in 1887; Mary married a Webb and died in Michigan; Jane's husband was named Bullis. They lived in Michigan and had five daughters.

The children of Eli and Rebecca were:

11121–11–31	+	Erasmus Darwin Carr	b.
11121–11–32		Malcolm Carr	b.
11121–11–33	+	Mariette Carr	b.
11121–11–34	+	Sophia Carr	b.
11121–11–35		Angeline Carr	b.
11121–11–36		Caroline Carr	b.
11121–11–37		Charlotte Carr	b.
11121–11–38		Mary Carr	b.
11121–11–39		Jane Carr	b.

LEVI CARR 11121-11-4

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in
Married in Saratoga Co., N. Y. on , 1830 to Elizabeth Wetherhead.

They must have lived for some time in Saratoga Co. as all the children were born there.

There were four children born to Levi and Elizabeth. The daughter, Dolly, married William Gilmore and lived in Pavilion, N. Y. dying there in 1884. The daughter, Ann, is said to have died in Pavilion, N. Y. in 1866 and Mary in the same place in 1868.

The four daughters of Levi and Elizabeth were:

11121-11-41		Dolly M. Carr	b.
11121-11-42	+	Jane Carr	b.	, 1819
11121-11-43		Mary Carr	b.
11121-11-44		Ann Carr	b.

SARAH CARR 11121-12-1

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1777
Died in
Married (1) in on to Silas Wood. I have nothing on either this husband or on (2) except that his name was Benjamin Douglas.

Sarah is known to have been the mother of one child. This a daughter by her first husband. This child was:

Maria Wood b.

SUSANNA CARR 11121-12-2

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Sept. 9, 1780
Died in Jan. 29, 1806
Married in on to Samuel Gardiner.

Nothing is known of the family of these people except that they had the son:

Clark Gardiner b.

SPENCER CARR 11121-12-4

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., May 2, 1784
Died in Nov. 29, 1842
Married in on July 22, 1804 to Zylphia Goodrich. She was born April 28, 1783 and died Nov. 19, 1842, ten days before her husband.

Edson Carr states that all of the children of Spencer and Zylphia were born at New Lebanon, N. Y. From this we guess that they lived most of their lives there. What was their occupation? In what house or houses did they live? Where did they go to Church? These and many other questions remain to be answered.

Spencer and Zylphia had a most remarkable family. Twelve children there were, six sons and six daughters. All grew to maturity and married. With the exception of one each presented their parents with grandchildren. This exception was Cornelius. He was a graduate of the Vermont Medical College at Castleton, Vt. as was his brother, Henry. He was twice married. 1st to Anna Kinsley and 2nd to Amanda V. Buell. His death occurred in Missouri on Sept. 2, 1868. He was buried in Rockton, Ill. He is not known to have had children.

The twelve children of Spencer and Zylphia were:

Eleanor was the mother of four children all by her first husband. On this family I have nothing to add to the meager data that Edson Carr was able to obtain. The daughter, Eleanor married a Judge Mott and resided in Ann Harbor, Mich.

The four children of Eleanor and Britton were:

Britton Chase	b.
Henry O. Chase	b.

CALEB CARR 11121–13–1

Born in West Greenwich, R. I. (prob.) on , 1776
Died in Scriba, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1814
Married in on to
______________ ______________.

The birth place of Caleb is in one account given as Stephentown, N. Y. I doubt if his parents were over in New York State that early. I therefore give it above in a duly cautious manner as at the old home of his parents.

A descendant of this pair, Miss Ruth L. Giddings, thinks that Caleb and his wife were married in Stephentown and that they went to Norway, N. Y. soon after. They did not stay long at Norway removing to Scriba, N. Y. in 1810 where they lived until their deaths. The arrival of the family in Scriba was in the spring of 1810. Their mode of travel one team of horses and one team of oxen. They settled on the middle road where they built a log cabin. This was near New Haven, N. Y. A few years afterward the cabin was destroyed by fire. These dauntless pioneers rebuilt it only to have the new one meet the same fate. Still not discouraged they built again. This time they erected a frame house. Strangely enough this also burned. No further building was ever built on that site. Two hundred and twenty five acres of land provided a livelihood for the family the children each receiving a portion of the farm as they married. Mr. and Mrs. Carr are buried in a family burying ground with about twenty others of the family. This burying ground is situated on the State road at Scriba.

Caleb and his wife had three children. The daughter married Benjamin Cooley and lived in Portland, Oregon. She is not known to have had children.

The three children of Caleb were:

11121-13-11	+	Spencer Carr	b. Oct. 5, 1803
11121-13-12	+	Caleb Carr	b. Apr. 15, 1809
11121-13-13		Mary Audrey Carr	b.

There is some evidence that William and his first wife lived for a time at least at Canaan, Columbia Co., N. Y.

William was the father of ten children. Seven of these were born of the first marriage. The daughter, Harriet, married H. Dunn but no other data is available. The daughter, Sarah, married also but I have nothing about her except the name of her husband which was David Barton. The son, William Erastus, died as an infant.

Here is another of the ample families of the Stephentown group of Carrs. Eleven children were born to Thurston and Bethany nine of whom are dealt with in the next generation. The daughter, Phebe died young. No data is at hand on the son, Edwin.

The eleven children were:

WILLIAM CARR 1112274

Born in Saratoga Co., N. Y., June 10, 1800

Married in on April 7, 1823 to Phebe Perry. She was born in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y. and died doubtless in the same township, on Mar. 18, 1865.

William and Phebe had nine children. I have been able to find no further information on these children with the exception of the son William who is considered in Gen. VIII and the daughter, Delia, who married Oscar Lockwood who was the son of Eunice Carr Lockwood (11121914) and thus a distant cousin of Delia. Delia was childless. She and Oscar resided for many years in Saratoga Springs where they died.

The nine children of William and Phebe were:

WANTON CARR 1112722

Born in West Greenwich, R. I. , 1765

Married in on to Sarah Starkweather. She was a daughter of Dr. Robert Starkweather. Her birth date is not known. She died on Nov. 30, 1856.

Wanton Carr learned the trade of a cooper and is thought to have worked at his trade in Stonington, Conn. where he and Sarah were probably married. In 1797 they removed to Cummington, Mass. and settled on a farm.

The most remarkable thing that has come down to us regarding Wanton and Sarah is in regard to their family. This was remarkable even in those days when many children were the rule. Not only did they bring fourteen children into the world but they reared them all and they, with one exception, had families of their own so that at the time of the death of Wanton Carr they had one hundred and three living descendants. These were, fourteen children, eighty five grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. The exception mentioned above was the eldest daughter, Nancy. She married but was childless. She married (1) Elias Ford of Cummington, Mass. After his death she married (2) ———— Brimhall. She is said to have died in the State of Utah.

The fourteen children of Wanton and Sarah were:

11127221		Nancy Ann Carr	b. Feb. 28, 1790

Died in Hainsville, Ill., Oct. 11, 1850
Married in West Greenwich, R. I. on Feb. 9, 1794 to Dorcas Reynolds. She was the daughter of Amos and Hannah Reynolds and was born July 5, 1774. Her death occurred on June 21, 1858.

Charles and Dorcas are said to have lived in Montgomery Co., N. Y. for some time before their residence in Illinois.

They were the parents of nine children. All nine reached maturity but I have enough data on but four to warrant carrying their names to the next generation. Edson Carr gives the following bits of information on the remaining five. Arnon died unmarried; Esek is known to have married and to have had children; Hannah married James Wickham; Amy married Elijah Jones; and Medeba died in Manchester, Iowa on Feb. 24, 1886.

REV. CLARK CARR 1112727

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., Dec. 16, 1774
Died in town of Concord, Erie Co., N. Y. , 1854
Married in on Jan. 23, 1800 to Patty Merwin. She was born in Brookfield, Conn. on , 1774 and died in town of Concord, Erie Co., N. Y. , 1859.

In preparing this particular record I have used two sources of information. These are Edson Carr's "Carr Family Records" and Briggs' "Original Town of Concord". The two fail to agree on all points. I am therefore here using only data on which they both agree or that is clearly correct.

About 1802 Clark Carr and his bride left their New England home and took up residence in Durham, N. Y. About a year later or in 1803 Clark began preaching as a Minister of the Baptist Church.

In 1810 they removed with their three small children to the other end of New York State where they settled at Hamburg. I expect that Rev. Carr continued his career as a Minister here. It was interrupted in a year or so by the war with England in 1812. During this conflict he served on the Niagara frontier. About 1814 the family removed to the North east part of the town of Concord, Erie Co., N. Y. where the Rev. Carr was for many years the Pastor of the Baptist Church at Boston, N. Y. He was instrumental in founding several Baptist Societies in the southern part of Erie Co.

Three children were born to Rev. Carr and Patty.

REV. ROBERT CARR 1112757

Born in West Greenwich, R. I., Sept. 24, 1797
Died in Troy Grove, Ill., Sept. 16, 1879

Married in West Greenwich, R. I. on Nov. 29, 1816 to Honor Hopkins. She was born in West Greenwich, R. I. on Oct. 1, 1798 and died in Troy Grove, Ill. on April 8, 1872.

It is not known when The Rev. Robert and his wife made the trip from ancestral Rhode Island to the rich new country of Illinois. We do know that he spent his mature years in the country of the Illini. The farm that he owned in Waltham township of La Salle Co. is still (1947) in the possession of his descendants. Beside farming the Rev. Robert was a Methodist preacher "riding circuit" in the developing country around about La Salle Co.

Robert and Honor had eight children. Descendants of Robert and Honor have been very kind and generous in helping to present a complete picture of the lives of these eight but too great a period of time has elapsed and the story must remain unfinished for the present. Two sons are carried into Generation VIII. Of the others I have the following fragments of data. Tabitha mar. Stafford Scranton and had a son (or perhaps grandson) named Charles. Tabitha died in 1882. Gideon married and had a daughter who in turn married, her name was Elizabeth and her husband was Robert Peters. Gideon died May 18, 1862. Charles married and had a daughter Millicent. Thankful died on June 3, 1839. Mary married Adam Liston and died in 1861. Charlotte married Theron Brewster and died in 1855.

The eight children of Robert and Honor were:

11127571		Tabitha Carr	b. Aug. 30, 1817
11127572		Gideon Carr	b. July 15, 1820
11127573		Thankful Carr	b. June 3, 1822
11127574		Charles Carr	b. Oct. 29, 1823
11127575	+	Daniel Carr	b. May 16, 1825
11127576		Mary Carr	b. Apr. 1, 1827
11127577		Charlotte Carr	b. Apr. 11, 1829
11127578	+	Ezra W. Carr	b. June 18, 1831

They had the seven children below.

Married (1) in Mt. Pleasant, Pa. on , 1801 to Lydia Turner. She was born July 7, 1786. Her death occurred in 1811. In 1813 Reuben took wife No. (2) Her name was Sarah Larkins. She died in 1842. Reuben again married. In 1845 he married (3) Mrs. Phebe Trask of Busti, N. Y. who outlived him.

Reuben and his first wife evidently lived at Mt. Pleasant, Pa. Two years after his second marriage, or in 1815, he and his family using an ox team and cart for transportation removed to Potter, N. Y. This journey of about two hundred miles required eleven days. After sixteen years Reuben returned to Pennsylvania, then settling at Freehold in Warren Co. Here his second wife died and his children largely married. From the time of his third marriage until his death Reuben lived in Busti, N. Y.

As will be noted Reuben lived to the unusual age of ninety years. A further crown to his life was the number of his descendants that he lived to number. At the time of his death he was grandfather to forty five and great grandfather to forty-two. He was the father of fourteen children, four by his first wife, Lydia and ten by his second wife, Sarah. The four children of Reuben that did not marry died in childhood or youth. Joseph died Aug. 29, 1834, Esther, April 5, 1811, Charles, Feb. 13, 1848 and John was drowned on Aug. 27, 1843.

The children of Reuben and Lydia were:

111277–11–2		Louisa A. Carr	b. May 2, 1821

There must be much that can be added to the record of this Carr and his family. All that the present writer has is that he was a sea Captain and that he and Patty his wife had the following eight children.

11144221	+	John Carr	b. April 7, 1795

Betsey was the mother of twins. One of them, Harriet, died in 1826 as a baby. The other, Betsey, lived to maturity but nothing is known of her life. She died Mar. 11, 1880.

The twin girls of Betsey and Hezekiah were:

Harriet Carr Norris	(twin)	b. Feb. 3, 1823

GEORGE W. CARR 11144–11–8

Born in Warren, R. I., Apr. 18, 1808
Died in Warren, R. I. (prob.) Dec. 2, 1879
Married in on June 9, 1841 to Elizabeth Read. She was from Somerset, Mass. and was the daughter of Preserved Read.

"Representative Men and Famous Families of R. I." says that George W. Carr followed the sea early in life. Further that in 1825 he entered a Warren, R. I. bank and later became its cashier serving in that position for many years. He was also a Director of the Warren Mfg. Co. of that city.

George and Elizabeth had the two children:

11144–11–81	+	Clarence Lyndon Carr	b. July 18, 1841

Born in Warren, R. I., Feb. 16, 1821
Died in New Beaufort, N. C., Dec. 25, 1863
Married in on Apr. 12, 1848 to Elizabeth Cole.

The terse statement of Edson Carr that he died in the service of the United States coupled with the location of his death and the Civil War date thereof opens the door to many speculations. We hope that some of the family may tell the story.

Two children were born to Harry and Elizabeth. They were:

11144–11–12–1	+	Sarah P. Carr	b. Aug. 20, 1851
11144–11–12–2		Henry P. Carr	b. Oct. 8, 1857

RODMAN CARR 1159137

Born in May 21, 1805
Died in
Married in on to Elizabeth ______________.

In this case I am frankly assuming something that I cannot as yet prove. "R. I. Friend's Records" speaks of John the son of Rodman and Elizabeth. The name Rodman being an uncommon one in the family and all dates and places tallying with this Rodman I am bold to state as above that Rodman married Elizabeth and that they had two sons. The son, John, is said to have married Abby G. Hart on Jan. 9, 1873.

The two sons were:

11591371	+	George W. Carr	b. , 1836
11591372		John Carr	b. , 1841

Of the three children of Caleb and Chloe who are not included in the records of the next Generation we have the following data. Lewis K. died Jan. 13, 1851; Jerusha Ann mar. George Hartwell and lived in Taunton, Mass.; Sarah F. mar. twice. (1) on Oct. 5, 1854 to Hannibal Wells. (2) on Mar. 15, 1863 to Albert T. Reed. She was the mother of five children whose names etc. are not at hand.

The following eight children were born to Caleb and Chloe:

ELIZA CARR 1159212

Died in New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 21, 1868
Married in Wareham, Mass. on Oct. 15, 1826 to Thomas Pope Terry. He was born in New Bedford on July 6, 1805.

This family serves to illustrate a practice that was common among our ancestors of this period. Namely that of bestowing the name of a child dying in infancy upon a subsequent brother or sister. In this family the first "Elizabeth Pope" died July 15, 1831 and the name was given to the daughter born ten years later.

The five children of Lydia and Thomas were:

Elizabeth Pope Terry	b. Aug. 12, 1827
Charles Terry	b. May 15, 1833
Elizabeth Pope Terry	b. Dec. 14, 1841	?

Parker in New Bedford, Mass. on Jan. 29, 1879. Edson Carr in 1894 recorded that Francis and his second wife were living in Wareham, Mass.

Francis was the father of ten children, all by his first wife. Six of these children died under four years of age. Their death dates were, Henry, May 18, 1825; Mary, Apr. 18, 1841; Frederick, Sept. 25, 1839; Thomas, Sept. 5, 1843; Sarah, Sept. 25, 1851 and Mary, Aug. 25, 1852. The remaining four married and had issue but lacking enough data to put them in Gen. VIII the little on them is placed here. Elizabeth married Samuel Sampson on Sept. 13, 1857. They had two children. Charles married in Wareham, Mass. on Sept. 14, 1861 Helen M. Hinckley. They had three children. Lewis married in New Bedford, Mass. on Nov. 19, 1868 Lucy Stearns. She was born July 19, 1846 and was a graduate of Boston University class of 1880. She was a practicing physician. They resided in Brocton, Mass. and had a daughter. Emma married in New Bedford, Mass. on April 14, 1866 H. W. Barrows. They had eight children.

LYDIA GRINNELL CARR 1159236

Born in Westport, Mass., Nov. , 1805
Died in Oct. 27, 1887
Married in on to John Case.

All that is further known of this daughter of the seafaring family of Esek Carr is that she was the mother of,

Fannie Bucklain Case b.

OBED SWAIN CARR 1159341

Born in Nantucket, Mass., May 27, 1803
Died in New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 10, 1859
Married in Nantucket, Mass. on Aug. 30, 1827 to Abby Castino Carr. (1159237). She was a second cousin of Obed's. For her birth date etc. see under 115923.

Abby was the daughter of a seafaring man. In her marriage she became not only a daughter of the sea but a wife also as Obed too was a man of the sea. He was a whaler and became Captain of a ship engaged in that trade. About 1843 Obed forsook the ocean and settled down in business at New Bedford where he lived the rest of his life.

Seven children blessed the home of Obed and Abby. But two of these appear in the next generation. The information available on the others is as follows, Esek died on the day of his birth. Obed was twice married but is supposed to have been childless. His first wife was Catherine Louisa Wright who he married in June of 1850. She was the cultured daughter of Deacon Wright of Greenport, Long Island. After her death in 1851 he again married. His second wife was Sarah Maria Knapp of Sag Harbor, L. I. Obed died in Greenport on Aug. 9, 1876. Elizabeth became the wife of William Stuart of New York City. She died in that great city at the age of twenty five on Mar. 17, 1857 and was buried in New Bedford, Mass. She is not known to have had children. James is thought to have married but I have no dates or names. His part in the Civil War gives him notice in Edson Carr's "Carr Family Records". It is there said of him that he was an engineer on board the "Pontiac". One of the assignments of this ship was the carrying of supplies to Sherman. In 1894 James had for twelve years held an official position in the county jail at New Bedford. The son, George, died unmarried at Cold Spring, L. I.

The seven children of Obed and Abby were:

Many blanks in this story are left for another to fill in.

Of the eight children of this marriage but three appear in the next generation. Seven of them were married but the four eldset were childless. Frances became the wife of her brother-in-law, Perry L. Hopkins, after the early death of her sister, Hannah. Joseph married Hulda Hammond and lived in Cowesett, R. I. Hulda married William Payntor from somewhere in New York State. Samuel's wife was Lucina Wood. The youngest of the eight died as an infant.

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Feb. 25, 1807
Died in Jamestown, R. I., July 14, 1882
Married in on April 4, 1838 to Sarah Foster. She was a daughter of Othenial and Eunice (Browning) Foster. She was born in South Kingstown, R. I. July 25, 1807 and died in Jamestown, R. I. on Mar. 13, 1874.

George W. and Sarah were members of the Society of Friends as were many of the Rhode Island Carrs from the beginning. They lived all of their life on the island of Conanicut or as it is now known, Jamestown. They lived upon and operated one of the pleasant farms of that island.

They were the parents of five sons and one daughter. The following data pertains to the three children who are known to have married but of whom there is no knowledge of offspring. Silas was married on Oct. 17, 1871 to Elizabeth Congdon Watson. They resided in Jamestown, R. I. Isaac was married in Pawtucket, R. I. on Aug. 4, 1885 to Ella Frances Crocker. They are said to have resided also in Jamestown by "Carr Family Records". "Rep. Men and Famous Families of R. I." says that they lived in Scranton, Pa. perhaps both are right. Eunice was married in New York City on Dec. 3, 1885 to Alvah Littlefield. They resided in Boston, Mass.

The six children of George and Sarah were:

121-10-3491		Silas Carr	b. Mar. 29, 1839

GEORGE CROSS CARR 121-10-639

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Dec. 22, 1818
Died in Jamestown, R. I., Aug. 20, 1900
Married in on , 1850 to Sarah C. Anthony. She was the daughter of the Rev. George Anthony. She was born in Portsmouth, R. I. on , 1823 and died in Jamestown, R. I. on April 4, 1900.

George C. Carr was a life long resident of the island of Jamestown. He served the town of Jamestown and the State of Rhode Island in rather notable fashion. He was President of the Jamestown Town Council and of the Probate Court for fifteen years. He represented the Town of Jamestown in the State Senate for several terms.

George C. Carr was also very active and progressive in business life. The ferry interests that had from the beginning been in the Carr family were under him incorporated as the Jamestown and Newport

Ferry Co. He served as the first President of the new Company.Other interests included a Directorship in the First National Bank of Newport, the Presidency of the Ocean Highland Co. and of the Jamestown Light and Water Co.

The family resided on the old Carr farm near the present Narragansett Bridge. This farm had been in the family since the first settlement of the island coming to George C. Carr from his uncle, Thomas Carr.

An interesting and valuable bible was also owned by George C. Carr which had also come down thru the Carr family. (see further under the son, John A. Carr, in Gen. VIII).

George and Sarah had two sons. The younger son died in infancy on Dec. 31, 1860.

These two sons were:

121-10-6391	+	John A. Carr	b. Sept. 27, 1852
121-10-6392		Thomas Carr	b. Oct. 31, 1859

CALEB CARR 1231253

Born in Scituate, R. I. on July 7, 1784

Died in Factoryville, Pa. on Aug. , 1867

Married (1) in Coventry, R. I. on Oct. 18, 1806 to Hulda Remington. She was born May 17, 1787 and died on May 7, 1815. We may assume that Caleb and Hulda were Friends from the fact that they were married by a Justice, Mr. Daniel C. Goff. After the death of his first wife Caleb married (2) on Jan. 11, 1817 Hannah Gardiner of William and Mary Gardiner.

Eleven years later, in 1828, Caleb and Hannah removed from the old home state of Rhode Island and settled in Factoryville, Pa. Settled in the old fashioned way. Here they reared their thirteen children and perhaps some or all of the four children of Caleb's first marriage. The farm on which they settled was still in the family a century later being then owned by the daughter Melissa Carr Caryl.

Of the children of Caleb that are not further noted in this work I have the following bits of information. John Bowen Carr was mar. by Justice James Miller to Charlotte B. Mitchell of New Shoreham, R. I. on June 2, 1830. They were mar. in East Greenwich, R. I.; Peleg Wood Carr died Mar. 12, 1837; Betsey Wall Carr mar. ____________ Johnson; Oney Carr was mar. in Feb. 1874 to Lois Call. She was born in Sept., 1858. Oney died in Jan., 1881; Betsey A. Carr was mar. in 1862 to Warren Lathrop. Her death date was Aug. 31, 1886; Ella Carr died unmarried in July, 1887.

The four children of Caleb and Hulda were:

12312531		John Bowen Carr	b. Sept. 8, 1807
12312532		Peleg Wood Carr	b. Apr. 24, 1809
12312533	+	Benedict Remington Carr	b. Jan. 21, 1811
12312534		Betsey Wall Carr	b. Mar. 10, 1813

The thirteen children of Caleb and Hannah were:

Joseph Carr was a resident of Cicero, N. Y.

Two children were born to Joseph and Mary but as they both died as infants and I have no further information I am not listing them Joseph and Sally had three children. Edson Carr noted that the two eldset resided in Syracuse, N. Y.

The three children of Joseph and Sally were:

12312541		Charles H. Carr	b.
12312542		John J. Carr	b.
12312543	+	Miles Henry Carr	b.

This family lived several years in Clay, N. Y. removing in 1835 to Illinois where John took up a section of land in La Salle Co. Here he became a prosperous farmer.

The death of John Carr was under tragic circumstances. About the middle of September in 1853 as he left the ford across the Fox river at Millington, Ill. he was thrown from the wagon and killed.

HANNAH CARR 1241441

CALEB CARR 1241442

Born in Mt. Holly, N. J., July 28, 1784
Died in Mt. Holly, N. J., Apr. 18, 1842
Married in on to Sarah Grise.

This is another of the records that need much filling in. Caleb's will which was filed Apr. 30, 1842 mentions the five children below. From the fact that the two eldest children were born in Brownsville, Pa. we deduce the fact that the family resided there for a few years after the marriage of Caleb and Sarah. Some years of their later lives, if not all, were spent in or near Damascus, Ohio where others of the family also resided. The little that is known of the five children of Caleb and Sarah is as follows. Deborah married Dr. Eli Teagarden of Mansfield, Ohio. They lived and died in California. Mary married Dr. Edward Holeman. They had one daughter named Louisa who lived in Equality, Ill. Mary died Sept. 25, 1847. Hannah married George Hollabaugh of Mansfield, Ohio. Caleb was married May 17, 1846, wife's name unknown, and had a daughter. Caleb was an M. D. by profession and died in 1848. Louisa married C. C. Keech of Sandusky, Ohio and had several children.

The five children of Caleb and Sarah were:

124144211	Deborah Ann Carr	b.	, 1814
124144212	Mary Jane Carr	b.
124144213	Hannah Carr	b.
124144214	Caleb C. Carr	b.
124144215	Louisa Carr	b.

SAMUEL CARR 1241444

Born in Mt. Holly, N. J., Mar. 24, 1788
Died in Marlboro township, Ohio Aug. 9, 1873
Married in on Feb. 7, 1815 to Patience Thomas. She was born in North Carolina on Feb. 3, 1797 and lived to see her ninety fourth year. Her death occurred on April 13, 1891.

Mr. Frank L. Carr, a descendant of Samuel and Patience, says that it is his understanding that Samuel came to Ohio as a young man with his parents. They settled in Columbiana County near Damascus. Mr. Frank L. Carr believes that Samuel soon married and moved to a farm in Marlboro Co. where he lived the remainder of his life. Many old family papers were unfortunately destroyed when a fire razed the farm home about 1941.

Like the generations before them Samuel and Patience were devout members of the Society of Friends. Does it need to be said that they were greatly respected in their community?

The six children born to these Carrs held fast to the religious tradition of the family. The split in the Society of Friends resulting from the disagreement of John Wilbur and with the principles of J. B. Gurney and Elias Hicks split this family as it did the Society as a whole.

The six children were:

12414441	+	Isaac Carr	b. Nov. 23, 1816
12414442	+	Ann Carr	b. Mar. 3, 1819
12414443	+	David Carr	b. Apr. 4, 1821
12414444	+	Francis D. Carr	b. Dec. 14, 1823
12414445	+	Esther F. Carr	b. Aug. 11, 1826
12414446	+	Hannah Carr	b. Nov. 9, 1832

MARY CARR 1241445

Born in Mt. Holly, N. J., Sept. 27, 1791
Died in Farmington, N. Y., Jan. 12, 1839
Married in on to Aaron Lippincott.

Mary and Aaron were the parents of the five children:

Anna B. Lippincott	b.
Mary Lippincott	b.
Jane Lippincott	b.
Rebecca Lippincott	b.
Charles C. Lippincott	b.

ISAAC CARR 1241446

Born in Mt. Holly, N. J., Nov. 4, 1793
Died in Damascus, Ohio, June 3, 1873

Married (1) in Burlington, N. J. on Jan. 11, 1816 to Ann Craft. She was of George and Elizabeth (Ridgway) Craft. She was born in Mansfield, Ohio Nov. 30, 1793 and died in Damascus, Ohio Aug. 27, 1859. On Mar. 27, 1861 Isaac married (2) Rebecca H. Woolman at Damascus, Ohio. Rebecca survived Isaac by about three years passing on in July of 1876.

Isaac and Ann seem to have set up housekeeping at Mt. Holly, N. J. Sometime around the year 1824 they took their little family then consisting of three small children and took up land in the new country near Damascus, Ohio. Here they remained the rest of their lives. Isaac was a farmer.

"Carr Family Records" says of Isaac, "Like his ancestors he was firm in the faith of the orthodox Friends of the old school. His time and money was freely given to the cause of religion and education. While firm in his own views he was always kind and liberal to others."

Isaac and Ann were the parents of seven children. Of the three that are not further mentioned in this book the following should be noted. Samuel died as a young man on Feb. 5, 1835; Elizabeth died as a child of ten on Jan. 8, 1844. Isaac was married on Oct. 28, 1847 to Isabella Crew. She was born near Damascus on July 19, 1819. They resided near Damascus and were without issue. The seven children of Isaac and Ann were:

12414461		Samuel Carr	b. Dec. 29, 1816
12414462	+	George Woolman Carr	b. July 25, 1819
12414463		Isaac Ridgway Carr	b. Dec. 12, 1822
12414464	+	Robert French Carr	b. June 18, 1827
12414465	+	Thomas Woolman Carr	b. Mar. 6, 1830
12414466		Elizabeth Ann Carr	b. May 2, 1833
12414467	+	Joseph Middleton Carr	b. Mar. 9, 1836

LEVI CARR 1263121

Born prob. in Mass. around 1765
Died in Fayetteville, N. Y. 1849

Married in Saratoga Co., N. Y. around 1790 to Ruth Goodrich.

The early life of Levi Carr seems to have been an exciting one. At the time of Burgoyne's defeat at Bemis Heights the Carrs were living not many miles from there. A family tradition related to me by Miss Florence Carr of Fayetteville says that the farm was so close to the battle that the terrific cannonading rendered Levi deaf for life. Although but a dozen or so years of age Levi must have participated as a soldier for he, as was his father, was a pensioner of the Revolution.

In 1796 this Levi was one of the group of Carrs that left Saratoga Co. and went into the new country of Onondaga Co. This group included Levi's parents, his wife and three young children, his brothers Ebenezer and James and probably his sister Phebe. Here in Onondaga Co. they settled at what was then called Hemlock Hollow but which came to be known as Carr's Hollow for reasons that are obvious. This locality is now known as Watervale. Levi and his family later removed to Manlius and finally to Fayetteville where both he and his wife died.

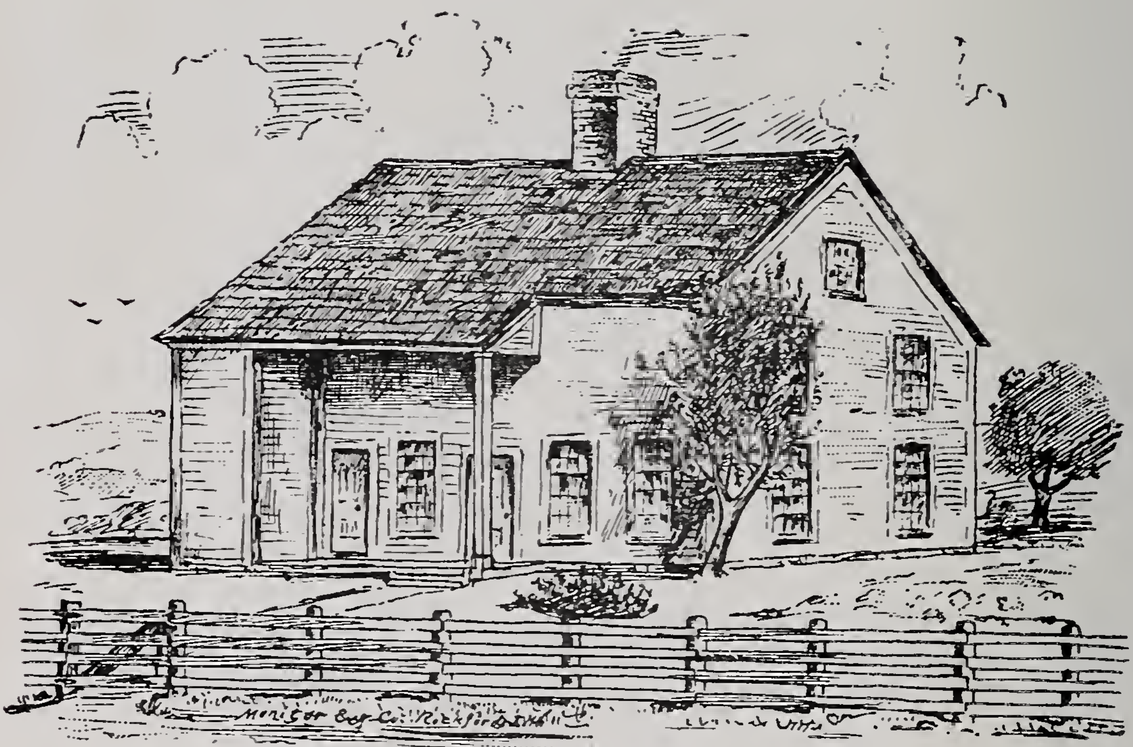
Nine children were born to Levi and Ruth. What is more remarkable for those times is the fact that all nine were reared to maturity and all had families of their own. Too little has come to me on three of these children to warrant notice in Gen. VIII so I place that little here. Vader was twice married (1) to Susan ________ (2) to Angeline Sprague. He died in Battle Creek, Mich. leaving a dau., Susan. Hannah was also twice married. (1) to ________ Talmage. (2) to Deacon Isaac Seeley. They resided near Rochester, N. Y. She had a son, Joseph Talmage. Hulda married David Everson, resided in the town of Manlius, Onondaga Co., N. Y. and was the mother of several children.

The nine children of Levi and Ruth were:

12631211	+	Allen Goodrich Carr	b.	1791
12631212	+	Phebe Carr	b.	1793
12631213	+	Levi Carr	b.	1795
12631214		Vader Carr	b.	1797
12631215		Hannah Carr	b.	1799
12631216	+	Mason Carr	b.	1800
12631217	+	Ruth Carr	b.	1802
12631218	+	Margaret Carr	b.	1803
12631219		Hulda Carr	b.	1805

CAPT. JOHN CARR 1263122

Born in Mass. (or Conn.) about 1767
Died in Ticonderoga, N. Y., April , 1832
Married in Galway, N. Y. on , 1788 to Prudence Benton. Little is known of Prudence. She died in Ticonderoga, N. Y. in 1831.



HOME OF CAPT. JOHN CARR
(A drawing from "Carr Family Records")
See opp. page —

Capt. John Carr held a commission as Captain of the N. Y. State Militia in Saratoga Co. His commission from Gov. George Clinton bore the date of June 15, 1793.

About 1800 he and his family removed from Galway, Saratoga Co., N. Y. where he had spent most of his previous life and settled in Crown Point, N. Y. Later by a year or two they moved a few miles down Lake Champlain to Ticonderoga where they remained the rest of their days and where their descendants are living today.

Both Capt. John and his eldest son took part in the battle at Plattsburg. Edson Carr, a descendant of his, in "Carr Family Records" gives an interesting account of the escape of Capt. John during an Indian foray. For this see appendix No. 9.

The marriage date of Capt. John and Prudence is given above as "Carr Family Records" has it. Mrs. Kingsbury of Surry, N. H. has supplied a bit of information that seems to bear on this date. She finds that on Sept. 4, 1785 a John Carr of Lenox, Mass. and Prudence Benton filed, in Richmond, Mass. their intention to marry.

Capt. John and Prudence had five children as below:

12631221	+	Roxanna Carr	b. Feb. 22, 1789
12631222	+	Westil Carr	b. June 3, 1791
12631223	+	Alborn Carr	b. Oct. 14, 1798
12631224		Theron Carr	b. , 1800
12631225	+	Darius Benton Carr	b. Apr. 20, 1802

COL. JAMES CARR 1263126

Born prob. in Saratoga Co., N. Y., June , 1775
Died in Watervale, N. Y., May 10, 1832
Married in on 1792 to

Hulda Collins. She was born in 1773 and died Nov. 10, 1853.

The ages of this bride and groom are to be noticed. He was but seventeen and his bride but nineteen when they stepped out together and faced the world as man and wife.

In 1796 they in company of the parents of Levi and a whole group of Carrs, men, women and babies, removed to Onondaga Co. Here at Watervale they made their home for the rest of their days.

His rank of Colonel was gained during the war of 1812. Col. Carr built a home in Watervale which is still a landmark. This home was in the building at the time of the threatened invasion by the British at Oswego. Col. Carr's regiment assembled at the unfinished house, ate their supper on the carpenter's benches in the living room and then proceeded to the defense of Oswego. Edson Carr records that Col. Carr was also at the battle of Sackets Harbor.

There are a few scraps of information at hand on the three children of James and Hulda that are not carried into Gen. VIII. These scraps are, Hulda mar. Amos Bishop, had a son Homer and died in 1868; Prudence mar. Nelson Butts around 1832. He was killed in a fall from a load of hay and under its wheels in Aug. of 1866. They had a dau., Frances Amelia. Prudence died April 16, 1887; Eliza mar. Perley Putnam Cleveland of Watervale. She died in 1854. They had Francesca who was born Sept. 22, 1832.

The nine children below were born to James and Hulda:

12631261	+	Chauncey Carr	b. April 16, 1793
12631262	+	Malinda Carr	b. April 5, 1795
12631263	+	Margaret Carr	b. , 1798
12621264		Hulda Carr	b. , 1799
12631265	+	Edward Carr	b. Mar. 23, 1802
12631266	+	James Carr	b. Sept. 21, 1803
12631267	+	Charles Carr	b. Mar. 6, 1806
12631268		Prudence Carr	b. May 28, 1808
12631269		Eliza Elizabeth Carr	b. , 1811

JEHIAL CARR 1263127

Born in Galway, N. Y. , 1777
Died in Ashtabula, Ohio, Sept. 5, 1843
Married near Albany, N. Y. on to Betsey Hyer.

Jehial is thought to have lived in eastern N. Y. state until about 1825 when he and the family journeyed to the other end of the state. Here in Erie Co. they lived until 1843 when the parents and the sons William, Darius, Jehial and Lorenzo and the only daughter, Eliza, set out for the beckoning land of the Illini. The father died on the way (at Ashtabula, Ohio) and the only one that is known to have reached their goal was William.

The wife of Jehial lived to the unusual age of ninety four passing away at the home of the son, Darius, in Eagle, Wis.

Fourteen children were born to Jehial and his wife, Betsey. I believe that they had more sons than any other family recorded in this record.

Thirteen of their children were boys. Of those who are not carried on we have the following notes. William settled in Elgin, Ill.; Ebenezer died at Flint Creek, N. Y.; Asa was killed by a fall which broke his neck when but three years old; Joseph died in Eden, N. Y. (where the family probably lived while in Erie Co.) James died at Lockport, N. Y.; Van Rensselaer was drowned as a boy in Eden, N. Y. and Lorenzo settled in Minnesota.

The thirteen sons and one daughter of Jehial and Betsey were:

12631271		William Carr	b.
12631272		Ebenezer Carr	b.
12631273		Elijah Carr	b.
12631274	+	Riley Carr	b. Nov. 6, 1803

12631277	+	Hiram Carr	b. Nov. 14, 1808
12631278		James Carr	b.
12631279	+	Darius Carr	b. , 1811

The time allotted to Henry and Martha as man and wife was short. A bit over two years and death parted them.

They had the two children:

BENJAMIN UNDERWOOD CARR 12623252

Born in Newport, R. I., Nov. 8, 1782
Died in Newport, R. I., Aug. 24, 1864

Married (1) in Waverly, R. I. on Jan. 24, 1811 to Keturah P. Gavitt. She was born in 1791 and died in Newport, R. I. on Dec. 6, 1811 having thereby less than a year of married life. Benjamin married (2) in North Stonington, Conn. on Nov. 13, 1817 Sally Wheeler. Her parents were Swan and Lucy Wheeler. She was born about 1799 for it is recorded that when she died on June 10, 1875 she was past her 76th birthday.

Benjamin and Keturah had one son who was born two days before his mothers death. He was named for his father but died as an infant and the name was carried on by his half brother nearly fifteen years later. Benjamin and Sally had three children. The short but meaningful phrase "Lost at sea" appears beside the name of the son, Thomas, in "Carr Family Records".

The three children of Benjamin and Sally were:

12632521	+	Samuel J. Carr	b. Sept. 23, 1818
12632522		Thomas Wheeler Carr	b. Feb. 5, 1822

DAMARIS CARR 1263253

Born in Newport, R. I., Oct. 21, 1784
Died in Feb. 26, 1846
Married in on Jan. 16, 1806 to Samuel Allen. He was the son of Joseph and Mary (Taggart) Allen. It will be noted that Damaris and her brother, Samuel married the brother and sister Allen thus doubly tying the two families. The birth date of Samuel I do not have but he is recorded as having survived his wife by over nine years dying on Sept. 5, 1855.

The record of the thirteen children born to Damaris and Samuel is a sad one. Of the thirteen only three lived to be older than six years. Three died before receiving a name and seven survived for from one day to six years. I list only the three that attained adulthood. They were:

Damaris Carr Allen	b. , 1806
Catherine Allen	b. Jan. 26, 1823
Samuel Allen	b. June 7, 1829

GREENE CARR 1263254

Robert Carr served the city of Newport as Postmaster under appointment of President Jackson.

Robert and Sally had five children. The second child, Thomas, died when only a few months old, on Jan. 3, 1822. The five children were:

Died in Tiverton, R. I., Nov. 14, 1842

Married in on Dec. 18, 1823 to Lucina Durfee. She was a daughter of Oliver Durfee of Tiverton, R. I.

The death date of Francis is taken from "R. I. Friends Records" where it states that Francis Carr a son of Samuel and Damaris died at Edward Wings at Tiverton on Nov. 14, 1842 age 52. The discrepancy in the age may easily be due to misreading of old records.

Edson Carr says that Francis and Lucina had several children but that all but one failed to live to maturity. That one child was:

12632581	+	Benjamin Morris Carr	b. July 7, 1833

JOSEPH CARR 1263262

Born in Jamestown, R. I., May 17, 1785

Died in Fall River, Mass., Oct. 16, 1854

Married in on to Sarah Westgate of John and Priscilla (Fish) Westgate.

Joseph was a farmer on Jamestown island until 1813 when he seems to have removed to Tiverton, R. I. In 1823 he sold his farm on Jamestown and the same year seems to have again removed. This time to Fall River, Mass., which city was then known as Troy. The name Troy was used by Fall River between the years of 1804 and 1834. Here both Joseph and Sarah died and here in the North Burying Ground are they buried. Sarah Carr survived her husband, dying on July 1, 1870.

Ten children were born to this couple. The first three were born in Jamestown the next five in Tiverton and the last two in Fall River. Beside the ones indicated below John Eben also married. His wife was Phebe Cartwright (b. Jan. 6, 1812—d. April 3, 1891) They were childless and John died May 23, 1850. Phebe subsequently married (2) George Church and (3) Edward Cook. They were the parents of five children. Some small data is at hand on the son William. He married Mary Elizabeth Hutchinson on Dec. 31, 1868. He died Jan. 1, 1874 and is supposed to have been without issue.

Married in on Dec. 15, 1829 to Abigail Sayer Potter. She was born in Providence, R. I., July 7, 1807 and died in New Bedford, Mass. on Sept. 30, 1888.

Caleb and Abigail lived for a time in Newport from there removing to New Bedford. In as much as their last five children are listed as being born in New Bedford and the first four are assumed to have been born in Newport we are privileged to date their removal to the latter city about 1836.

One child out of the nine born to Caleb and Abigail appears in Gen. VIII. A few dates and such regarding some of the others are as follows. The first Samuel died as an infant on July 28, 1831. The later Samuel, who as often in New England families bore the name of a previously deceased child, was lost at sea in 1869. Abigail lived until Mar. 2, 1888 but is not known to have been married. John Potter died very young on Nov. 15, 1836. George was married on Nov. 29, 1883 to Kate L. Bennett of Salem, Mass. They are thought to have been childless. Sarah was married on May 29, 1890 to George W. Paine of Bristol, R. I. They too are not known to have had children.

The nine children of Caleb and Abigail were:

As a young man this Edward Carr removed from his ancestral Rhode Island to Cooperstown, N. Y. Here he became a hatter and here he is supposed to have married. They later moved down to the town of Catlin in Chemung Co. where their large family was reared. The place of their settlement became known as Carr's Corners.

Eleven children were born to Edward and "Polly". There are many descendants of these children now residing in South Central New York State but at the present I have data on the descendants of but one of them. ROWLAND CARR 1277531

Born in South Kingstown, R. I., Oct. 21, 1791
Died in Otego, N. Y., Jan. 15, 1852.
Married in South Kingstown, R. I. on , 1810 to Deborah R. Sheldon. She was born, prob. in South Kingstown, on Nov. 9, 1791 and passed away in Otego, N. Y. May 27, 1873. Her parents were Henry and Joanna (Peckham) Sheldon of Jamestown, R. I.

In 1817 Rowland, Deborah, at least three small children and the parents of Deborah loaded their earthly possessions on ox carts and pushed out into the wilderness to take their places in the westward moving frontier. Their place was found in Central New York State at what is now known as Otego. Here they made a home and became one of the substantial families of that lovely part of the Empire State.

Rowland Carr was a farmer.

JAMES CARR 1277532

Born in South Kingstown, R. I., April 15, 1798
Died in Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 8, 1857
Married in on April 18, 1822 to Polly Brown. She was born in , R. I., May 18, 1800 and died in Cherry Creek, N. Y. on Nov. 11, 1838.

The year following the marriage of James and Polly they purchased land in the new country of central New York State and seem to have immediately settled there. The "History of Otsego Co." says that he settled in the south east part of the town of Cherry Creek in 1823. The same source says that he kept store "in the village". I suppose that this was Cherry Creek. He was six separate times the supervisor of the town of Ellington. His first term in that office was in 1830.

The family of James and Polly consisted of one son and four daughters. The eldest daughter died when a young lady of thirteen summers. Her death date was Aug. 31, 1839. The only son married but the only bit of information available is that his wife's name was Sarah Barnard. He is not further treated for this reason. Of the daughter Lydia little is also known. She was married on June 2, 1852 to Hiram Kilborn at Cherry Creek, N. Y.

The children of James and Polly were:

12775321		Andrew J. Carr	b. April 2, 1824

WILLIAM G. CARR 1277533

Born in South Kingstown, R. I., Sept. , 1801
Died in Chautauqua Co., N. Y., Nov. 9, 1854
Married in Otsego Co., N. Y. (see below) on , 1825 to Sally Baldwin. She was born on , 1802 and died April 3, 1858.

"History of Otsego Co." says that William G. Carr came to Otsego Co. with his wife and two children in 1829. This would rule out his marriage in Otsego Co. as Edson Carr records it.

William Carr served the town of Cherry Creek as Supervisor in 1839.

William and Sally are thought to have had five children. "History of Otsego Co." mentions a son Willis who died in manhood, unmarried. It should be pointed out that this could have been George W. as I do not know what the "W" stood for. This George W. did die in young manhood (in 1856). The son, Delos, also died young, in Oct. of 1851.

The five children of William and Sally were:

12775331	+	Samuel H. Carr	b. Sept. 12, 1827
12775332	+	Truman B. Carr	b. Aug. , 1829
12775333		George W. Carr	b. June , 1831
12775334	+	Lydia Ann Carr	b. Feb. , 1837
12775335		Delos Carr	b. May , 1844

GEORGE WILLIAM CARR 1277562

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Jan. 20, 1813
Died in
Married in Jamestown, R. I. on Jan. 14, 1847 to Mary Ann Allen. All that I have regarding Mary Ann Allen is that her mother's name was Rebecca.

This was one of the island families of Carrs. Meaning of course that they were residents of the island of Conanicut or Jamestown in R. I.

George and Ann had five children. What became of these five is still to be learned. Their names were:

12775621	James Carey Carr	b.
12775622	Phebe Carr	b.
12775623	Mary Ann Carr	b.
12775624	Gertrude Carr	b.
12775625	Eunice Carr	b.

HANNAH CARR 1277564

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Mar. 2, 1816
Died in
Married in on Jan. 18, 1837 to George Hull.

It sometimes seems to the humble compiler of this record of the descendants of Robert and Caleb that there are more blank spaces than full ones in the record. This case of Hannah and her husband is a case in point. It is my hope that the publication of this work may help to bring together more of the story, not only of this Carr, but of the many other sketchily presented records between these covers.

Hannah and George had seven children. Mary and George died young. Henry was drowned. Where, when and at what age I do not know.

The seven children were:

Mary Elizabeth Hull	b.
Mary Hull	b.
Henry Hull	b.
George Carey Hull	b.
Ida Matilda Hull	b.
Desire Frances Hull	b.
Ellen Hull	b.

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Sept. 7, 1801
Died in Morris, N. Y., Aug. 18, 1855
Married in Morris, N. Y. on to Emeline A. Wanzer.

James and Emeline had one son who became a shoe manufacturer in Otego, N. Y. He is thought to have married but all details are lacking.

This son was:

12775721	George Nelson Carr	b. June 29, 1846

SARAH ANN CARR 1277573

Born in Jamestown, R. I., Jan. 14, 1805
Died in Washington, D. C., Mar. 4, 1892
Married in Otego, N. Y. on Sept. 2, 1833 to Rev. William Round. He was born in Richfield, N. Y. on Mar. 5, 1803 and died in Manassas, Va. on Sept. 5, 1881.

The Rev. Round was a descendant of several of the prominent Rhode Island families. Among them the families of Hopkins, Wilkinson, Wood, Church and, of course, Round. Refer to published genealogies of the Wilkinson and Hopkins families.

William Round was ordained an elder in the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1832 and served that denomination with outstanding success. He served twenty different communities in central and southern New York State and in northern Pennsylvania. A memoir published in the 1882 General Minutes of the M. E. Church quotes him as "ascribing a very large amount of his success as a minister to his wife".

Two sons and two daughters were born to Sarah and William. The daughter, Sarah, remained unmarried and followed the profession of teacher. Lydia married Andrew J. Pine and lived in Washington, D. C. It was at her home that the mother passed away as noted above. Both sons achieved prominence. John served as Captian in the UnionArmy during the war between the States. Later he followed the calling of his father in the same denomination. He married Hattie Maria Case of Boston, Mass. George also served in the Union Army. He afterward became an attorney of distinction in Virginia. His wife was Emily C.

Bennett. Children were born to both sons and one child to the daughter, Lydia.

The children of Sarah Ann and Rev. William were:

Sara Mehitable Round	b. June 7, 1834
John Emory Round	b. Nov. 25, 1835
George Carr Round	b. Sept. 14, 1839
Lydia Adelia Round	b. Feb. 20, 1842

LYDIA WOOD CARR 1277575

Born in Otego, N. Y. June 1, 1813
Died in Brooklyn, Pa., Feb. 5, 1882.

The marriage of Lydia and Henry was performed by the Rev. Wm. Round, the husband of Lydia's sister Sarah (see 1277573), who was at the time serving the Methodist Church at Montrose, Pa.

The children of Lydia and Henry were three. George died in his twenty fourth year. William married Clara Forsyth and resided in Brooklyn, Pa. Hettie married B. F. Van Fleet.

JOHN CARR 1277661

Born in

12776611	Henry Carr	b.
12776612	Justus Carr	b.

CARY CARR 1277663

Born in
Died in
Married in on to

——————— ———————.

The data on this member of our clan all comes from "Carr Family Records". There is however a clue that should be mentioned. There is residing in Freewater, Oregon a lady by the name of Mrs. Cable. She was Miss Margretta Carr. Her father was James Carey Carr from Wisconsin and her grandfather was Peleg Carr of Otsego Co., N. Y. These facts so tally with this Cary Carr who Edson Carr says went west that the probabilities are that Mrs. Cable is the daughter of Cary (or James Carey). At the time of printing, my letter asking for more data has not been answered.

Edson Carr records two daughters of Cary and his wife. They were:

12776631	Hattie	b.
12776632	Mary Carr	b.

PHEBE CARR 1277664

Born in
Died in Married in on to Perry Myres.

Here, as in the case of the brother previous but little is known.

Three sons of Phebe and Perry are listed.

Charles Myres	b.
Egbert Myres	b.
James Myres	b.

MARIETTE CARR 1277668

Born in Mar. 11, 1828
Died in
Married in on to Rensselaer Day.

Except that they had seven daughters there is nothing yet known further of this daughter of Peleg.

The seven daughters were:

Emily Day b.
Mary Day b.
Lettie Day b.
Phebe Day b.
Cordelia Day b.
Celestia Day b.
Ida Day b.

CORDELIA E. CARR 12776-10-2

Born in Otsego Co., N. Y., Feb. 18, 1822
Died in

Cordelia and James had five children. One, Florence, died at less than six months of age. The others married as follows. Addie to Ezra Brown; Adelbert to Carrie Thomas; Edward to Sarah Martin and Frank to Estella Christian.

William Shepherd	b.
Bessie Shepherd	b.

THOMAS CARR 1291111

Born in Burlington, N. J. around 1792
Died in
Married in Bethany, Pa. on to Abigail Moore.

All that I have on this pair is that they contributed four of the fifty six grandchildren of James and Esther Carr. Of the four but one is carried to the next Generation although all married and all were parents. The reason is that at present I have not a scrap of data to present on these children of Jane, Ann and Thomas. Jane married an Elisha Kenyon and had two children. Ann married John Hardesty and was the mother of two daughters. They are listed as residing in San Jose, Cal. Samuel was married in the State of Wisconsin in 1858 to Helen Pike. His children numbered six. Helen Pike Carr died in 1883. Thomas is listed as residing in North Dakota. Certainly here is a need for further genealogical hunting.

The four children of Thomas and Abigail were:

12911111	+	Ephriam J. Carr	b.	, 1824
12911112		Jane Carr	b.	, 1827
12911113		Ann Elizabeth Carr	b.	, 1830
12911114		Thomas Carr	b.	, 1832

EDWARD CARR 1291112

Not only did Edward and his wives have fine families but they were also a part of a wonderfully prolific branch of the Carr family. Edward's youngest brother, Erastus, matched him with twelve children and every one of his seven brothers and sisters were parents of medium or large families.

Of the twelve children of Edward four died in infancy. I find their death dates as follows, Maria Nov. 18, 1823; Esther Dec. 7, 1833; Philander Mar. 22, 1838; and Mary June 15, 1843.

Edward and Phebe had:

1291112-11-		Mary A. Carr	b. May 22, 1840
1291112-12-		Walter E. Carr	b. Dec. 21, 1843

Six children were born to John and Adeline. Two of these died in infancy and two others in comparatively youthful years. The death dates of these four were, Hester, May 10, 1825; Varnell Apr. 16, 1826; Thomas Feb. 4, 1855; and Mary Sept. 1, 1881.

Married in Bethany, Pa. on , 1825 to Col. John A. Gustin. He was born in Wantage, N. J. on Aug. 11, 1798 and died on Dec. 30, 1854.

Other than that the union was very fruitful there is little data available on Sylvia and Col. John.

They had the nine children below:

Frances Adelia Whitney Gustin	b. Oct. 23, 1826
Amanda Maria Gustin	b. Aug. 10, 1827

MARY CARR 1291116

Born in Burlington, N. J., Aug. 28, 1803
Died in Bozetta, Ohio, Mar. 27, 1880
Married in Bethany, Pa. on Dec. 20, 1821 to Randall Wilmot. He was born in Woodbridge, Conn., May 20, 1792 and died in Bozetta, Ohio on July 9, 1876.

This was the second marriage of Randall. By it Mary became the stepmother of a seven year old lad, David Wilmot. This David was in later years to serve the state of Pennsylvania in both houses of the U. S. Congress. As Representative, on Aug. 8, 1846 he introduced an amendment to an appropriation bill that became famous as the "Wilmot Proviso".

Mary was the mother of five children. The first four were born in Bethany, Pa. Celinda was born in Braceville, Ohio.

JAMES CARR 1291117

Born in Burlington, N. J. about 1805
Died in
Married in on Oct. 26, 1826 to Betsey Buckingham. She was from Essex, Conn.

Only fragments of information are avaiilable as to this family. They lived at Waymart, Pa. In 1890 they all removed to Black Walnut, Pa. where they doubtless spent the remaining years of their lives.

The only children mentioned are two sons. The eldest, James, is recorded as dying in Stouchsburgh, Pa. and the brief note, "went west", is appended to the name of John.

These two sons were:

12911171	James Carr	b.
12911172	John Carr	b.

ERASTUS CARR 1291118

Born in Canaan, Pa., Sept. 28, 1811
Died in Dec. 22, 1887

Married in Sanford, N. Y. on June 10, 1832 to Margaret Whitaker. She was born in Sanford, N. Y. on Feb. 20, 1811.

Erastus and Margaret were the parents of a fine family of twelve. I am sorry but there is nothiing more available on many of these children beside their birthdates. It is recorded that Phebe died in Dec. of 1876 and that Catherine died in 1843.

The twelve children of Erastus and Margaret were:

12911181		Phebe Carr	b. July 9, 1833

1291118-12-		Austin Coleman Carr	b. Apr. 24, 1857

Generation VIII

In 1850 California became one of the States of our American Union. Carrs of this generation were there as Carrs had been on all the westward rolling frontier from the beginning.

Pioneers there were in this generation but for the most part this is the generation that dug in after the great moving out of the previous generation.

There are many incomplete records in this Generation VIII. They were too busy founding towns, improving farms, establishing newspapers, setting up political machinery etc. to give much thought to vital statistics or even to the keeping of family records. A further reason for this being a generation of many unanswered questions is that the break with the older settlements had been made and the feeling of family solidarity was impaired by the new life in a new country.

Before you in this group are the records (some very scant I repeat) of more than two hundred and seventy five of our family who transmitted the Carr name or another. By far the greater part were tillers of the soil. The majority of American families in 1850 were producers of food and fiber so Carrs were in line with the economic set up of the nation.

I give you our Eighth Generation.

ISAAC CARR 11121541

Born in on , 1789
Died in , 1862
Married in on to

Sarah __________. She was born June 5, 1780 and died in Feb. of 1837.

Isaac Carr came into Michigan at an early date from nearby Canada where his parents seem to have lived for some years. He probably lived near Novi, Mich. as he is buried there as is his father, his wife and daughter. He built and operated taverns at Redford, Farmington, and Novi, Mich. on the famous Grand River road.

Isaac and Sarah had four sons and a daughter. The daughter, Agnes, died unmarried in 1848. The son, Rasmus, married and had a family of which nothing is known.

The five children of Isaac and Sarah were.:

111215411	Agnes Carr	b.	, 1827
111215412	Rasmus Carr	b.

111215413	+	Amos Carr	b.
111215414	+	Luther D. Carr	b. June 20, 1833
111215415		Semour Carr	b.

CALEB CARR 11121542

Born in New York State Oct. 26, 1795
Died in Williamston, Mich., Feb. 15, 1868
Married in on to
Catherine __________. She was born in 1794 and died in 1860.

It is not known where this Caleb lived prior to 1837 but in that year he came as one of the first settlers of Williamston, Mich. where he lived the remainder of his years. He is buried at Williamston as is his son, Charley. Beside the grave of Charley is one of Harriet Carr (b. 1792 - d. 1853). Her tombstone states that she was born in Cattaraugus Co., N. Y. Her relationship to the family is not known.

Three children were born to Caleb and Catherine. All are thought to have married but except for the husband of the daughter being nemed Williams no data is at hand.

The three children of Caleb and Catherine were:

111215421	Charley Carr	b. , 1830
111215422	Miles Carr	b.
111215423	________ Carr (dau.)	b.

GEORGE RUFUS CARR 11121812

Born in Oneida Co., N. Y., July 18, 1807
Died (prob.) in West Union, Neb.
Married in on to Mary Dickerson.

Sometime between 1836 and 1838 George and Mary "went west". If the places of birth of their children and the places at which their daughters were married tell anything they tell a story of considerable moving about. They seem to have eventually settled at West Union, Neb. In 1894 he is recorded as residing there. I assume that Mrs. Carr died previous to that date.

George and Mary had seven children all of whom are further mentioned excepting two of the daughters. Of these two, Anna, who was born in Roscoe, Ill. was married in South Grove, Wis. on Independence day in 1864 to James Benedict. They lived in Randolph, Neb. Ida, who was born in Beloit, Wis. was married in Little York, Iowa in Feb. of 1875 to Jerry Phelps. They resided in West Union, Neb. Both of these unions were childless.

The seven children of George and Mary were:

111218121	+	Rufus George Carr	b. Sept. 7, 1836
111218122	+	Mary Jane Carr	b. Aug. 7, 1838
111218123		Anna M. Carr	b. Dec. 13, 1840
111218124	+	Sarah A. Carr	b. Mar. 24, 1843
111218125	+	Lewis S. Carr	b. May 1, 1851
111218126	+	Harriet R. Carr	b. Feb. 2, 1853
111218127		Ida May Carr	b. Sept. 19, 1857

CALEB CARR 11121821

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., July 16, 1805

Died in Horicon, Wis.

Married in Ansville, N. Y. on April 2, 1829 to Jane Smart. She was born in Argyle, N. Y., Mar. 6, 1810 and in 1894 was residing with her daughter in Wauwatosa, Wis.

I do not know if Caleb left the home fires of Stephentown before his marriage or not. He must have made the move by a date not long after his marriage as all of the children were born across New York State in Oswego, Co. Another removal was undertaken by Caleb and Jane sometime about 1850. This time the followed they current of the day and took up residence in the opening west.

The six children born to them all grew up and were married. Two of them, Laura and George, are thought to have been without issue and the little data that I have regarding them I give here. Laura was married in Scriba, N. Y. on Nov. 27, 1848 to Dudley Keneson. She died July 28, 1852. George was married in Horicon, Wis. on Oct. 16, 1864 to Rose P. Holmes.

The six children of Caleb and Jane were:

HENRY CARR 11121824

Born in Stephentown, N. Y. , 1812
Died in
Married in on to
Eunice Kettle.

From the 1855 census of Rensselaer Co. I glean the fact that Henry and Eunice had the following two children:

111218241	Henry Carr	b.	, 1843
111218242	Martha L. Carr	b.	, 1853

LORENZO CARR 11121827

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in
Married in on to Honor Harrington.

The 1855 census of Rensselaer Co. contains a disturbing entry. It lists in Stephentown a Lorenzo Carr, age 40, and his wife Anna, age 30, with children John H. 10; Allen 5; Andrew 3 and Calvin 2. Although this does not tally with our Lorenzo the names of two of the children are similar. I present it here in the hope that future generations may unscramble it.

Lorenzo and Honor had five children. Although the youngest married she is not carried to Gen. IX for the reason that she was childless. Her husband was Nathan Waters.

The children of Lorenzo and Honor were:

111218271	+	John Henry Carr	b.
111218272	+	Melville Carr	b. Sept. 17, 1844
111218273		Calvin Carr	b.
111218274	+	Lorenzo Carr	b.
111218275		Anna Carr	b.

HORATIO N. CARR 11121831

Born in Stephentown, N. Y. about 1799
Died in Troy, N. Y. , 1866
Married in Rome, N. Y. on to Harriet Putnam.

There is much indeed to be added to the record that I have of Horatio and Harriet. Edson Carr seems to be right in crediting them with two sons and a daughter. All that I can add is that the son, Goveneur, married a native of France and lived in New York City where he was connected for some years with the N. Y. Tribune. Further that the daughter, Julia, was twice married (1) to Dr. Luck of Troy, N. Y. and (2) to Jacob W. Wieles of New York City. I do not know that either Goveneur or Julia had children.

The three children of Horatio and Harriet were:

111218311	Horatio Carr	b.
111218312	Goveneur Carr	b.
111218313	Julia Carr	b.

Died in Williamstown, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1868

Caleb Carr was taken to Williamstown, N. Y. by his parents when a mere lad. Here he lived, here his children were born, and here he died and was buried. He served his community in many ways. For over twenty years he was a Justice of the Peace in Williamstown.

Caleb and Frances had three children. The son, Clarence did not marry and died in 1938.

The three children were:

HENRY TIBBETTS CARR 11121837

Born in Stephentown, N. Y. , 1825
Died in Williamstown, N. Y., May 5, 1864
Married in on to Elsie A. Baker. Both Henry and Elsie are buried in the cemetery at Williamstown. Her stone bears the birth and death dates of 1824-1914 thus indicating that she attained the age of ninety years and that she survived her husband by fifty of them.

Of their four children but one is further treated. The younger son may have had children but I found no record of them at Williamstown. This younger son married Viola Flanigan of John and Sarah (Bower)

Flanigan. She was born in Stockbridge, N. Y. Oct. 13, 1852 and died in Williamstown Dec. 5, 1934. Nelson's death on Sept. 1, 1926 is recorded in the Town Clerk's Office at Williamstown with the brief note that he was a Garage proprietor. Neither of the daughters of Henry and Elsie married. Lottie died as an infant on Dec. 24, 1859 and Satie, although she lived until 1900, did not marry.

Phebe and Thomas were farm people settling in the northern New York town of Edwards shortly after their marriage. Here they seem to have spent their lives.

Phebe and Thomas were the parents of ten children. Not one of the names or birth dates of these children is known to me. Until such time as these are known the space below must remain blank.

Married in on , 1832 to Joseph Hewitt. Little is known of Joseph except that he died in Carthage on Nov. 7, 1892.

Abigail and Joseph operated a farm in the town of Denmark, Lewis Co., N. Y.

Abigail is said to have been a very successful school teacher. Having been married at nineteen it would seem that she may have taught after her marriage.

Abigail and Joseph are credited with six children but not even their names are available to set forth here.

NICHOLAS NORTHROP CARR 11121844

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Dec. 4, 1815

DR. ELEAZER CARR 11121911

Born in Kinderhook, N. Y., April 11, 1790
Died (prob. at Paine's Point, Ill.) July 26, 1856
Married (1) at on , 1820 to __________ __________.

Married (2) at on , 1830 to Nancy Dutton. She was born Dec. 25, 1809 and died Oct. 16, 1881. She is buried with her husband at Paine's Point, Ill.

The first marriage of Dr. Eleazer was not a happy one and was terminated after a few years. The two children of this marriage were doubtless reared by their mother as they did not accompany the rest of the family west. Descendants of the other children with whom I have had contact know nothing of the history of these two or the name of their mother. Edson Carr has a note on one of them. He says that the son, G. W. Carr married and was the father of five children. He further says that he was a stone cutter by trade and that he died in New York (I suppose New York City) leaving his family in poor circumstances.

About 1838 Dr. Eleazer took his wife Nancy and their two children and "went west". The journey was made via the new Erie Canal, The Great Lakes and Chicago which was then a small town. About eighty miles west of Chicago, at Oregon, Ill., they settled and remained in those parts for the remainder of their lives.

The title "Dr." came from the general acceptance of Eleazer as a herb doctor. He treated the ailments of his neighbors with medicines made from herbs, barks etc. that he gathered in the woods, swamps and fields. Dr. Eleazer was a large man being six feet tall and weighing over two hundred pounds.

Dr. Eleazer was the father of seven children. Beside the two children of his first marriage two others are not carried to Gen. IX. These are Hiram who died Sept. 12, 1864 and John who disappeared at about fifty years of age. Neither Hiram or John married. This son John left the earthly scene under strange circumstances. He was known to have accumulated considerable money by operations on the Chicago Board of Trade. It is thought by his family that he was done away with in that city for his money.

The two children of Dr. Carr's first marriage were:

111219111		George Washington Carr	b. July 19, 1822
111219112		Malvina E. Carr	b. Aug. 26, 1824

The five children of Dr. Eleazer and Nancy were:

111219113	+	Almon Carr	b. Sept. 8, 1831
111219114	+	Sarah Eveline Carr	b. Nov. 13, 1836
111219115	+	Adoliza Carr	b. May 1, 1842
111219116		Hiram F. Carr	b. Mar. 19, 1844
111219117		John Carr	b. May 2, 1846

CLARISSA CARR 11121912

Married in on to

This daughter was:

Electa Taylor b.

STAFFORD CARR 11121913

Born in Kinderhook, N. Y., Jan. 29, 1793
Died in , Kan. Oct. 22, 1867
Married (1) in on , 1812 to
Rebecca Terrill. She was born in 1794 and died Nov. 11, 1828. Stafford married (2) Mary Ann Clancy who was a sister of the wife of his son William.

The death notice published at the time of the death of the son of Stafford and Rebecca, (John T.), states that he was born in Stephentown, N. Y. As this information came directly from the family I accept it as fact that Stafford and Rebecca did not remove to Saratoga County, N. Y. until after the birth of this son. The widow of the son William and her children removed to Fort Scott, Kansas in 1859. This widow being the sister of Mary Ann, the second wife of Stafford it is reasonable to assume that he was with that family at the time of his death. Note that he died ln Kansas. Stafford and his family resided for many years in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co.

Altogether Stafford was the father of fifteen children. The sad part is that eight of them died as babies and one other in her twenty first year. I list the death dates here: Nelson d. Sept. 1, 1828; Clarissa d. Jan. 16, 1851; the daughter b. May 14, 1831 d. the following day; the two other daughters and the son who were not named died on the day of their birth; Geo. W. d. Feb. 23, 1837; Emily d. Mar. 1, 1843 and Amos d. Feb. 17, 1843.

The six children of Stafford and Rebecca were:

111219131	+	Stafford S. Carr	b. Dec. 27, 1815
111219132	+	William Henry Carr	b. Mar. 11, 1818

111219133	+	John Terrill Carr	b. Sept. 28, 1822
111219134		Nelson P. Carr	b. Sept. 23, 1827
111219135	+	Rebecca Ann Carr	b.
111219136		Mary Jane Carr	b.

The nine children of Stafford and Mary were:

111219137		Clarissa Carr	b. Mar. 2, 1830

11121913–10–		A daughter	b. Apr. 22, 1834
11121913–11–		A daughter	b. July 29, 1835
11121913–12–		George W.	b. June 22, 1836
11121913–13–		A son	b. Dec. 14, 1837
11121913–14–		Emily Carr	b. Jan. 18, 1840
11121913–15–		Amos S. Carr	b. Feb. 3, 1842

EUNICE CARR 11121914

Born in Wilton, N. Y., May 14, 1794

Died in Wilton, N. Y., Mar. 18, 1877

Married in Wilton, N. Y. on Jan. 29, 1815 to James Lockwood. He was born in Putnam Co., N. Y. Jan. 25, 1793. He attained a most remarkable age. I have not obtained the exact date of his death but I understand that he lacked but a few months of being a century old. He lived his last years with his son Oscar in Saratoga Spgs.

In Eunice and James we have what we like to think of as the old fashioned family. Married young they lived together in the town of Wilton in Saratoga Co., N. Y. until death parted them after sixty two years of married life. Twelve children were born to them which I am sure insured each of the sixty two years they had together of its fill of both joy and sadness.

Their twelve children were:

Julia E. Lockwood	b. Mar. , 1816
John H. Lockwood	b. Nov. 24, 1817
Zephaniah Lockwood	b. Sept. 29, 1819
Mary A. Lockwood	b. Feb. 19, 1821
Clarissa Lockwood	b. Dec. 6, 1822
Stafford Carr Lockwood	b. Dec. 10, 1824
Catherine Lockwood	b. Dec. 25, 1826
Jonathan Lockwood	b. Dec. 5, 1828

Leonard Lockwood	b. Nov. 29, 1830
Theodore Lockwood	b. Oct. 2, 1832
Andrew J. Lockwood	b. Aug. 10, 1835
Oscar F. Lockwood	b. Apr. 25, 1837

AMOS CARR 11121917

Born in town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Aug. 16, 1799
Died in North Creek, N. Y., Nov. 12, 1873

Married in Wilton, N. Y. on May 16, 1820 to Mary Brill. She was the daughter of a Wilton family and was always known to her friends and relatives as "Polly". She was born in the town of Wilton on July 24, 1800.

Amos learned the trade of shingle maker and from family tradition is supposed to have plied that trade in his native region for a time after his marriage. Eventually the supply of straight grained virgin timber used for his product became scarce in Saratoga Co. and he and his family went back into the woods to North Creek, N. Y. where he and his wife spent the remainder of their days. Their removal was between 1825 and 29.

Of the fine family of Amos and "Polly" all ten lived to maturity and seven of them are treated in the next generation. The son, Sylvester died unmarried on Oct. 20, 1861. Harriet remained unmarried and lived to be nearly ninety years of age. Her span of life extended far into the life of the compiler of this book of family history. I can well recall her (she was my father's aunt) in her later years .She was tall, spare and as straight as the pines that her father made into shingles. Her death occurred in Aug. of 1925. The daughter, Sally, married Alfred Johnson as his second wife. His first wife was Sally's younger sister, Hannah, as is recorded in the next generation.

The ten children of Amos and Mary were:

111219171	+	Amos Brill Carr	b. Mar. 6, 1821
111219172	+	Catherine Carr	b. Mar. 18, 1823
111219173	+	Mary A. Carr	b. Mar. 28, 1825
111219174		Sally Armine Carr	b. Sept. 24, 1827
111219175	+	John Henry Carr	b. June 28, 1829
111219176	+	Hannah Maria Carr	b. Mar. 19, 1832
111219177		Sylvester Carr	b. May 25, 1835
111219178		Harriet Eliza Carr	b. Aug. 10, 1837
111219179	+	David Carr	b. Nov. 24, 1839
11121917-10-	+	Stafford Carr	b. Sept. 19, 1842

Born in town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Oct. 26, 1801

Rev. Stutely was a clergyman of the Baptist persuasion. For several years he served the Baptist Church at Greenfield Center as its pastor. Greenfield Center lies just over the mountain to the west of Stutely's birthplace in Wilton. His last pastorate was at Springfield, Pa. I do not know if he served other than these two Churches.

Rev. Stutely and Eliza had the following three children:

111219181	+	Marvin Stutely Carr	b. Oct. 6, 1823
111219182	+	Mary C. Carr	b. Nov. 21, 1827

Married in on Mar. 28, 1829 to Charlotte Edwards. She was born in 1803 and died in the town of Wilton on Nov. 8, 1885. She came to the town of Wilton at the time of her marriage from Johnsburg, N. Y.

David Carr was a farmer and resided on one of the several Carr farms in the town of Wilton. He served the town as Clerk in 1842 and as Supervisor in 1843 and 44. In later years he held the office of Justice of the Peace for several terms.

Both David and Charlotte were members for many years of the Methodist Church at what was then known as Emerson's Corners in Wilton. They are both buried in the family plot at the Brick Church Cemetery (Baptist) which is hard by the Carr farm.

David and Charlotte were the parents of five children as follows:

CAPT. GEORGE CARR 11121921

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., June 28, 1794
Died in Hector, Pa., Apr. 13, 1870

Married in Dryden, N. Y. on Aug. 22, 1813 to Nancy Griswold. She was a daughter of Edward and Asenath (Hurd) Griswold. She was born Sept. 16, 1790 and died in Aug. of 1880. for further of Nancy see "Ancestors and Descendants of Edward Griswold".

George Carr received his title of Captain in the war of 1812. Edson Carr records that George received a land warrant and a pension for his war service.

After his marriage George and Nancy seem to have settled in Dryden, N. Y. as all of their children were born there. Some time after 1826 they removed to Almond, N. Y. doubtless taking up the land warrant mentioned above. They must have lived here for some time as their daughters were married there, the last as late as 1842. They did, however, at some later date remove to Hector, Pa. where Capt. George (likely Nancy also) died.

George and Nancy had seven children. One daughter and one son died as infants. Susan on Dec. 18, 1818 and George on Aug. 22, 1826.

ELEAZER CARR 11121923

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., May 19, 1797
Died in Erie, Pa., Jan. 11, 1888
Married in on Dec. 12, 1837 to Mary Ann Smith. She was born in Venice, N. Y. on Aug. 29, 1817 and died after Dec. 12, 1887.

We know that Mary Ann died after Dec. 12, 1887 because on that date she and Eleazer celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. At that time they had forty two descendants.

The children of Eleazer and Mary numbered eight. The firstborn died on the day of his birth. All of the others grew to be men and women and all had families as is to be found in Gen. IX.

The eight children of Eleazer and Mary were:

STUTELY CARR 11121924

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1798
Died in Union City, Pa., Jan. 16, 1888
Married (1) in on to Elizabeth Tyler. She died May 9, 1844. Stutely married (2) Eunice Eliza Stafford. She was born in Oneida Co., N. Y., June 30, 1812.

I am of the opinion that Stutely lived most if not all of his adult life in Dryden, N. Y. Most, if not all of his children were born there. His death occurred at the home of a daughter in Union City, Pa.

Eight children were born to the first marriage of Stutely. Five to his second. The two sons, Alpheus and Albert, were given to the Union cause in the war between the states. Two of the children of Eunice died as young people. They were Laura who died Oct. 6, 1863 and Alonzo who died Dec. 6, 1880. It is written that the son, Horatio, became a Methodist Minister. It is not written that he married.

The eight children of Stutely and Elizabeth were:

111219241	+	William McDonald Carr	b. Dec. 25, 1825
111219242		John Tyler Carr	b. Dec. 22, 1827

The five children of Stutely and Eunice were:

ALVAH CARR 11121925

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., July 8, 1800
Died in Spring Twp. Crawford Co., Pa. July 22, 1850
Married in on Oct. 24, 1824 to Martha Place Tyler. She was born in Lisbon, N. Y. on May 20, 1799.

Alvah and Martha were the parents of eight children. The first born were twins, a son and a daughter, they lived but a short time and did not receive names. The fourth son, Ossian, married but is thought to have been childless. His wife was Lucy L. Whipple. She was born in Hayfield, Pa. on Dec. 2, 1830. Ossian and Lucy were married on Aug. 21, 1856. They resided in Edgewater, Wash.

The fact that three of the children of this family married into the Whipple family is of interest. I should like to hear the story behind the fact.

The eight children of Alvah and Martha were:

111219251		________ Carr (twin)	b. Apr. 7, 1826
111219252		________ Carr (twin)	b. Apr. 7, 1826

IRA CARR 11121926

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1802

Married in Dryden, N. Y. on June , 1832 to Esther Owen. She was born in Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1806 and, died in Norwich, N. Y. on Dec. 26, 1875. Ira Carr attained a grand old age because in 1890 he was living in Green, Chenango Co., N. Y.

Twins graced this family as they did the family of Ira's brother considered just previously. In this family they were the last born and one of them only failed to survive childhood. Ira died Jan. 14, 1851. The daughter, Caroline, below who is not considered in Gen. IX was married in Lincklaen, N. Y. on Sept. 5, 1864 to Milan Hill. Her death occurred a year later (Oct. 1, 1865) at McDonough, N. Y. She was childless.

Ira and Esther had the eight children below:

CHAUNCEY CARR 11121927

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., July 16, 1803
Died in
Married in on to
———— ————.

Here is a field wide open for research. Much more isn't known of Chauncey and his family than otherwise. Edson Carr records five children the last three of whom seem to have died in their youth and all at the same time for the record mentions the death of all as on June 1857.

The five children were:

111219271	+	John Stewart Carr	b. Mar. 6, 1840
111219272		Mary Elizabeth Carr	b.
111219273		Warren Carr	b.

SERENA CARR 11121928

Born in Salisbury, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1805

Married in on to

The record of this family has great need of the filling in of the blank spaces. Beside the above meager information all that I have is that they had a son who was,

Charles L. Hollister	b. June 27, 1835

SILAS T. CARR 11121929

The family of Silas and Susan numbered eight. All of them were born in Elmira, N. Y. The first and the last of this group of children died in infancy Augusta dying on Aug. 22, 1833 and the unnamed son on the day of his birth. The daughter, Mary, and the son, Samuel, were both married but as they are thought to have been childless they do not appear in Gen. IX. Mary was twice married. First in Elmira, N. Y. on Feb. 14, 1872 to William Goldsmith. William died Jan. 26, 1883 and Mary remarried on May 5, 1887. Her second husband was Griffin Stevens. They resided in East Burlington, Pa. The greater part of the life of Samuel D. Carr was spent as a teacher. He followed this profession both before and for many years after his graduation from Union College in 1838. From 1861 until 1882 he had a brokerage business in New York City. After his retirement he resided with his son in Rochester, N. Y. He was living there in 1891 when in a letter to Edson Carr he stated that he had never had a serious illness in his more than seventy years.

LIVINGSTON CARR 11121-11-21

Born in Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in Bethany, N. Y. , 1878
Married in on to Ann Walker.

It would seem that Genealogy can never be an exact science or produce a finished product. In this instance of Livingston and Ann how little is known, how much to discover.

Edson Carr records one child of this union. She is said to have been born in Pavillion, N. Y. and to have married Lucius Head in Orangeville, N. Y. They resided in Orangeville and are not known to have had children.

This daughter was:

11121-11-211	Eliza Carr	b.

Born in (prob.) Stephentown, N. Y.
Died in Cattaraugus Co., N. Y. , 1889

WILLIAM SPENCER CARR 11121-12-43

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1808
Died in East Riverside, Cal., June 1, 1891
Married (1) in on to Mary Ann Rowley. Mary's birthday is not known but on Mar. 31, 1852 she passed away. William married (2) on Aug. 31, 1853 to Mary Conklin.

In the third year after their marriage William and his first wife heeded the strong call of the west and with at least one small child they journeyed to Michigan where they homesteaded near Manchester. Here the remainder of their eight children were born. Here his second marriage took place and here three more children were born of that union.

William S. Carr took considerable interest in public affairs being a Justice of the Peace for many years. In 1840 he served in the Michigan State Legislature.

Beside his main interest which was agriculture, William S. Carr was engaged in the mercantile business.

In 1888 he removed to California where he later died.

William upheld the Carr tradition of large families. His total brood was eleven. Eight of these were born to Mary Ann. Regarding some of these children who are not mentioned in the next generation we have the following facts. William Henry's wife bore the surname of Gray. Sarah Ann died on Nov. 29 in the same year as her birth. Cornelius was married on Nov. 1, 1876 to Nellie Sanborn.

The children of William and Mary Ann were:

ELIJAH GOODRICH CARR 11121–12–44

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., Oct. 14, 1809
Died in
Married in on , 1839 to Mariette Douglass. She was born Nov. 12, 1812.

Elijah was evidently a partner in the trip to Michigan in 1833 with his brother William. He also settled near Manchester, Mich. where he was living around 1890.

Five children were born to Elijah and Mariette all but one of whom eventually presented them with grandchildren. The exception was the first born, Caroline who lived to be but a bit over three years of age dying on July 20, 1843.

The five children were:

11121–12–441		Caroline Carr		b. May 3, 1840
11121–12–442	+	Spencer E. Carr		b. July 24, 1845

SARAH ANN CARR 11121–12–45

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., Mar. 8, 1811
Died in Normal, Ill., July 14, 1884
Married in on Dec. 4, 1833 to Benjamin F. Carpenter.

The children of this marriage were four. They were born as follows:

__________ Carpenter	b.
Henry Carpenter	b.
Eudora Carpenter	b.
Helen Augusta Carpenter	b. April 23, 1854

CAROLINE CARR 11121–12–46

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., Sept. 11, 1812
Died in Stephentown, N. Y., June 2, 1845
Married in on to Edwin A. Carpenter.

I wish that I might answer all of the questions that arise and remain unanswered regarding Caroline and the sister Sarah above. It is to be noted that they both married men bearing the family name of Carpenter. Were they brothers? Both also became the mothers of four children. Caroline was the mother of triplets. Two of them lived but a few days.

The four children were as follows:

Frances Caroline Carpenter	b. May , 1837
Ella Nash Carpenter	b. April 22, 1839
__________ Carpenter	b. April 22, 1839
__________ Carpenter	b. April 22, 1839

EDWARD CARR 11121–12–47

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1816
Died in
Married in on Sept. 27, 1837 to Sarah Eliza King. Her birth date is not known. The census of 1850 gives her age as 34 which would bring her birth date about 1816. She died in New Lebanon April 18, 1873.

It would appear that Edward and his wife lived their lives in or near New Lebanon, N. Y. The census above referred to places them in the township of Kinderhook in 1850 and Edson Carr noted about 1890 that Edward was then living in New Lebanon Center.

Five children were born to Edward and Sarah. Of the two that are not carried to Gen. IX we can state that Lucy lived at Hancock, Mass. and is thought to have remained unmarried. The son, Alfred, married Catherine Robinson in Jamaica, N. Y. on May 10, 1886. She lived only about two and one half years beyond that date passing away in Jan. of 1889. Alfred later lived at Garden City, N. Y. but I do not know that he remarried or that he had children.

The five children of Edward and Sarah were:

11121–12–471	+	Sarah Louisa Carr	b. Aug. 8, 1838
11121–12–472	+	Jane Eveanna Carr	b. Mar. 2, 1840
11121–12–473		Lucy King Carr	b. Feb. 26, 1842
11121–12–474	+	Edward Spencer Carr	b. Dec. 7, 1844
11121–12–475		Alfred Wesley Carr	b. Aug. 2, 1855

LUCY ANN CARR 11121–12–48

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., June 12, 1818
Died in Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 26, 1876

Married in Baltimore, Md. on Oct. 11, 1838 to Elbridge Gerry Eastman. It would be a safe bet that a person with a combination of the distinguished names of Gerry and Eastman would have his family roots in eastern Mass. However I do not know either the place or the date of the birth of Elbridge Gerry Eastman. His death occurred in Nashville, Tenn. on Nov. 23, 1859.

The family of Lucy Ann Carr must have been a great pride to her. Mr. Eastman died, as will be noted, while the children were young. Of the ten born to them only one failed to survive the trials that beset childhood in the 1850's. That was the firstborn who lived less than a year. All but one of the other nine is listed as having married and a total of twenty four grandchildren are recorded by Edson Carr in 1890. It would not be surprising if the city of Nashville, Tenn. now, just a century after this family were being born had many fine citizens who trace their ancestry back to Lucy Ann and Elbridge.

The ten children were:

Caroline Eastman	b. Aug. 21, 1839
Mary Tennessee Eastman	b. Dec. 3, 1840
Caroline Clara Eastman	b. Sept. 24, 1842
Charles Hazen Eastman	b. Feb. 25, 1845
William Edward Eastman	b. Dec. 16, 1846
Lewis Robert Eastman	b. Jan. 18, 1849
Elbridge Gerry Eastman	b. Nov. 9, 1851
Lucy Carr Eastman	b. Dec. 16, 1853
John Winston Eastman	b. Jan. 15, 1856
Roger Eastman	b. July 21, 1858

CALEB CARR 11121–12–49

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., July 18, 1820
Died in
Married in on Nov. 1, 1843 to Cinderella Lewis. She was born in Berlin, N. Y. and died in Rockton, Ill. in 1891.

Caleb and Cinderella seem to have lived in eastern New York State near their parents until about 1854 when they, like so many others of the period, went west. Their son, Charles, was born in Richland, Iowa and some of the later children in Rockton, Ill. These facts together with his having later removed to Beloit, Wis. point to their having moved about somewhat. Caleb was living in Beloit, Wis. in 1890.

Caleb and Cinderella had eight children. Of these Mary, Daniel, Frank, and Alice died before maturity. George was married in 1887 to Lillie A. Packard. They resided in Beloit, Wis. Inquiry of Carr's in Beloit failed of reply so I have no knowledge of their family if any.

The eight children of Caleb and Cinderella were:

11121–12–491		Mary Louisa Carr	b. , 1844
11121–12–492		Daniel Spencer Carr	b. , 1846
11121–12–493		Frank Lewis Carr	b. , 1848
11121–12–494	+	Ella Jane Carr	b. Dec. 12, 1850
11121–12–495	+	Albert Cornelius Carr (twin)	b. Nov. 27, 1853
11121–12–496		Alice Cornelia Carr (twin)	b. Nov. 27, 1853
11121–12–497	+	Charles E. Carr	b. May 27, 1857
11121–12–498		George Lincoln Carr	b. Nov. 6, 1860

DR. HENRY AUGUSTUS CARR 11121–12–4–10–

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., June 26, 1822
Died in Elba, Mich. May , 1888
Married in on Dec. , 1845 to Harriet Slyter. There is nothing available regarding Harriet Slyter except that she died in 1880.

Henry Augustus Carr was a physician being a graduate of the Vermont Medical College in Castleton, Vt. as was his brother Cornelius. Unhappily we do not know where either brother practiced their profession.

Henry and Harriet had two daughters as follows:

11121–12–4–10–1	Helen Mary Carr	b.
11121–12–4–10–2	Caroline Eliza Carr	b.

Born in New Lebanon, N. Y., Nov. 18, 1827
Died in Apr. 14, 1860

Many blanks in this family to be filled in. Their two sons were:

Franklin Carr Eastman	b. April 20, 1857
John Henry Eastman	b. Oct. 7, 1859

POLLY ANN CARR 11121-12-91

The following seven children were born to them.

John Carr Rose	b. Oct. 15, 1852

PROF. EZRA SLOCUM CARR 11121-12-92

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Mar. 9, 1819
Died (prob. in Pasadena, Cal.)
Married in Castleton, Vt. on to Jennie C. Smith.

Professor Carr was a graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y. at the age of nineteen and of Medical College at twenty three. Entering the profession of teaching he took a position as professor of Chemistry in the Vermont Medical College at Castleton, Vt. After twelve years in this position during which he met and married his wife he removed to Albany to teach in the Albany Medical College. Soon after this, attractive offers from the state of Wisconsin induced him to move to Madison where they lived for several years. During the Civil war he was instructor in chemistry at the Rush Medical College in Chicago, Ill. In 1868 he enjoyed a years' leave from his many duties spending it in California. Enamoured of the charms of the Pacific Coast he decided to make California his home. Here he served the University of California as professor of agriculture and chemistry for six years and the State of California as State Supt. of Public Instruction for four years. Retiring in 1880 he took up residence in Pasadena. Edson Carr in his "Carr Family Records" pays glowing tribute to Mrs. Carr as an "able and constant companion in all his public labor". He also credits Mrs. Carr with the development of their beautiful home "Carmelita" in Pasadena. They had four sons of whom I am sorry to say I have very little data. Two of them died as young men of twenty five and twenty six. Ezra died Oct. 3, 1873 and John passed away April 2, 1877.

The four with their birthdays were:

11121-12-921	Ezra Smith Carr	b. Aug. 8, 1847
11121-12-922	Edward C. Carr	b. Dec. 5, 1848
11121-12-923	John Henry Carr	b. Feb. 27, 1852
11121-12-924	Albert Lee Carr	b. July 14, 1857

SOLOMON CARPENTER CARR 11121-12-96

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Dec. 19, 1830
Died in
Married in Milton, Wis. on Dec. 31, 1851 to Isabella Mackie. Her birth place was in the state of New Jersey.

Solomon C. Carr took a prominent part in the public life of the state of Wisconsin. His service included membership of the state Legislature and several terms as Master of the State Grange. The residence of Solomon and Isabella is given by Edson Carr as Milton Junction, Wis.

They had one son and three daughters. Beside the two indicated below as carried into Generation IX the youngest daughter married but as I have no record of children she is not for the present further considered. Her husband was Clinton E. Marquart. They were married in Milton, Wis. Dec. 4, 1888 and are mentioned by Edson Carr as residing at Milton Junction, Wis. The four children of Solomon and Isabella were:

They were the parents of two sons:

ELIJAH MELANCTHON CARR 11121-12-98

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Mar. 11, 1835

Elijah and Maria are thought to have spent at least the latter part of their lives in the state of California, residing at Templeton in that state.

Elijah and Sarah had one daughter.

JOSEPH GOODRICH CARR 11121–12–9–10–

Born in Milton, Wis., Mar. 19, 1840
Died in
Married in on Oct. 17, 1863 to Phebe J. Maxon.

They were living in 1890 near Milton Junction, Wis. which is an extremely small amount of information to be able to present about this, or any, family. Time and attention will, it is hoped, fill some of the many wide blank spaces in this whole record.

Joseph and Phebe had five children. The youngest, Maud, died on Feb. 27, 1884 as a baby. I have no data on the others beyond their birth.

The five were:

11121–12–9–10–1	Fred Maxon Carr	b. Apr. 2, 1865

Born in Lynden, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1803
Died (probably) in Scriba, N. Y.
Married (1) in on Mar. 4, 1827 to Phileta Fox. After a married life of nearly forty years Phileta died Apr. 4, 1863. On Jan. , 1864 Spencer married (2) Cynthia Fox a sister of his first wife.

At the age of seven Spencer Carr was taken by his parents as they removed to Scriba, N. Y. and here he lived his life and here he is buried in a family burying ground known as the Carr cemetery. This cemetery is in its self a monument to Spencer Carr for he it was who set it aside and established it as the last resting place of the family.

The record of the family of Spencer is a mixture of pride and sorrow. But one child was born to Spencer and Phileta. This was a son who grew into a young man of great promise and doubtless the source of much pride on the part of his parents. He married and at the age of twenty three was about to graduate from the Oswego Normal School when typhoid fever caused his death. He is thought to have been childless.

This son was:

11121–13–111	Horatio I. Carr	b. about 1828

CALEB CARR 11121-13-12

Born in Norway, N. Y., April 15, 1809
Died in Married (prob.) in Fulton, N. Y. on , 1843 to Sarah Wilbur.

This Caleb, one of the many Calebs of the family, spent all but the first year of his life at or near Scriba, in northern N. Y. I believe him to have been a farmer.

They had five children. Of the two youngest who are not given a place in Generation IX Miss Ruth L. Giddings who has given me much data on this branch of the family had the following information. Albert was a prosperous farmer near Scriba, N. Y., where he was born, lived and died. It is thought that he did not marry. Clarence was twice married but left no descendants. He married (1) Amelia Fox who was a niece of both Phileta and Cynthia Fox the two wives of his uncle Spencer Carr. In 1925 after the death of Amelia he married (2) Mrs. Phebe ________. Clarence was a farmer and a carpenter. After his retirement he resided in North Syracuse, N. Y. and Portland, Ore., spending his winters in Orange City, Fla.

The five children of Caleb and Sarah were:

11121-13-121	+	Mary Jane Carr	b. about	1842
11121-13-122	+	Edward Spencer Carr	b. June 13,	1845
11121-13-123	+	Sarah Ann Carr	b. about	1846
11121-13-124		Albert Carr	b. about	1848
11121-13-125		Clarence Carr	b. about	1858

Born in Stephentown, N. Y., Sept. 3, 1802

From the records of Calvin and Caroline we can assume that they removed from eastern New York State some time after 1836 and took up residence in the middle west.

Of the three children born to them, the eldest died as a youngster on May 19, 1841. The other two are further mentioned in Generation IX.

The three children were:

11121–13–212	+	John Calvin Carr	b. June 14, 1834

Thurston and Loraine resided at Stephentown, N. Y. until about 1833 when they removed to the town of Spafford in the south west part of Onondaga Co., N. Y. where they lived out their days. Thurston is buried in the Spafford Cemetery. His grave is marked with a stone that bears the following epitaph,

> Afflictions sore a long time he bore
> Physicians were in vain
> Till God pleased to give him ease
> And free him from all pain

Thurston and Loraine had a family of eleven children. Six of these died as babies, two before receiving names. The death dates of the others were, Emeline, Mar. 29, 1831; Julia, Feb. 15, 1838; Lucy, Aug. , 1848; William May , 1857. The son George married but was without issue. His wife was Gelia Filkins.

THURSTON CARR 11121-13-61

Born in Oct. 1, 1809
Died in
Married in on to

Regarding this member of our family we have almost a complete lack of the pertinent facts to say nothing of those facts that would give color and life to the sketch. Thurston is given space here for two reasons. First, there is always the chance that someone may be able to fill in the gaps and second, Thurston is known to have had two sons who perforce must have a father.

The two sons of Thurston were:

11121-13-611	+	Spencer Carr	b.	, 1838
11121-13-612	+	George M. Carr	b.	, 1840

REV. SPENCER CARR 11121-13-62

Born in Pa. Mar. 19, 1811
Died in Parkersville, Kan. July 14, 1880

Married in Racine, Wis. on Sept. 8, 1844 to Sarah Higgins. She was born in Sherburne, N. Y. on July 11, 1822 and was living in 1890 in National City, Cal.

By frugality and industry Spencer Carr was able to obtain an excellent education thereby fitting him for his chosen calling. Early in life he was ordained to the ministry of the Baptist Church. All the remainder of his life he served as such. He held pastorates in Elgin, Ohio; Palmyra, Wis. and in Churches in Ill. and Kan.

The Rev. Spencer and Sarah had two sons and a daughter. They are listed as follows:

11121-13-621		Howard Carr	b. Feb. 1, 1846
11121-13-622	+	Spencer C. Carr	b. Oct. 7, 1848
11121-13-623	+	Mary Carr	b. Aug. 27, 1850

PELEG CARR 11121-13-63

Born in Pa., Sept. 26, 1812
Died in

Married (1) in Madison, Ohio on Sept. 3, 1836 to Mary Trumball. This marriage was terminated within a few years by the death of Mary. Again at Madison, Ohio on Sept. 6, 1842 Peleg married (2) Jane E. Genung. She was of French extraction and had Penn Yan, N. Y. as her birth place.

Writing about 1890 Edson Carr records the family as living then at Lima Ridge, Wis. He speaks of the life long loyalty to the Baptist Church and of important service to his State.

The marriage of Peleg and Mary was childless but that of Peleg and Jane very fruitful. Ten children were born to them of whom seven will be found treated in the next generation. Of the other three we assume that Arthur and Ada did not marry. Ozro was married but is not known to have had children. His wife was Birdie Myres of Pittsburg, Pa. They were married on May 12, 1888.

Below are the ten children of Peleg and Jane.

11121-13-631	+	Lucius Genung Carr	b. June 30, 1843

Like his older brother, Spencer, Lewis C. Carr was a clergyman of the Baptist Church. He served several important Churches in the state of Ohio. The Rev. Lewis was G. W. C. of the Illinois Society I. O. O. G. T. for the years of 1865 and 1866.

The children of Lewis and Mary were five. The daughter Martha died on the second day after her birth. The five children were:

They were the parents of four children as below:

MARIA MARINDA CARR 11121-13-67

Born in Jefferson, Ohio, June 4, 1820
Died in
Married in Jefferson, Ohio on Oct. 29, 1839 to Rev. J. N. Stewart. Regrettably I have nothing to add to the name and title of Maria Carr's husband. Presumably his death occurred before 1890 for Edson Carr mentions Mrs. Stewart as then residing in Evansville, Ind. and makes no mention of him.

Four sons and a daughter were born to Maria and the Rev. Stewart. They were:

A. J. Stewart	b. April 13, 1842
Nancy A. Stewart	b. Sept. 3, 1843
H. J. Stewart	b. June 12, 1845

Born in Jefferson, Ohio, Mar. 1, 1824
Died in Oct. 5, 1865
Married in on Sept. 1, 1842 to Rebecca King.

He saw service in the Federal army during the war between the States. The date of his death being so close after the close of the conflict might suggest some connection. I do not have the answer.

The four children of Melancthon and Rebecca were:

11121-13-691	+	Amos Alonzo Carr	b. July 29, 1845
11121-13-692	+	Esther Ann Carr	b. Dec. 9, 1848

JOHN THURSTON CARR 11121-13-93

Born in Sheldon, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1823
Died in San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 17, 1871
Married in on Jan. 20, 1844 to Salome N. Fox.

From the fact that all four of the children of this family were born in Batavia, N. Y. one may be sure that their indicated removal to California was after 1856.

John and Salome had four children. The eldest appears in Gen. IX. Bits of data on the other three is as follows. Frank married Margaret Maud Kahls in San Francisco, Cal. on Oct. 1, 1887. She was a native of Portland, Oregon having been born there on Feb. 7, 1865. Frank was engaged in the Real Estate business. They are not known to have had children. Ada was also married but childless. Her husband was Charles Houchuer whom she married on Oct. 16, 1874. They lived in San Francisco. Mary remained in the place of her birth, Batavia, N. Y. where she married Elmer D. Howard on Jan. 12, 1891. They also are thought to have been childless.

The four children of John and Salome were:

11121-13-931	+	Eliza Albertie Carr	b. Mar. 25, 1845
11121-13-932		Frank Depew Carr	b. Sept. 25, 1851
11121-13-933		Ada Elizabeth Carr	b. May 25, 1854
11121-13-934		Mary Eva Carr	b. Mar. 21, 1856

HON. EGBERT EUGENE CARR 11121-13-94

Born in Orangeville, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1825
Died in
Married in on Apr. 5, 1849 to Cornelia A. Loomis. She was a resident of Westmoreland, N. Y. Her birth date is given as May 24, 1830.

Egbert Carr's life was a colorful one. From boyhood to old age he followed the trade of a printer and newspaper publisher. His first contact with his calling was on Jan. 5, 1837 when as a lad not quite twelve years old he entered the printing and publishing office of the "Genesee Gazette" at Le Roy, N. Y. In some way he managed to get an education and learn his trade at the same time for fifteen years later we find him setting up for himself. True it was a temporary venture but it started him in the publishing business. His publication was a political sheet published at Rome, N. Y. in the year 1852 and known as the "Rome Vigilant". Its purpose was the support of General Winfield Scott's candidacy for President of the United States. Egbert Carr was but one of a group interested in this political publication. There is little doubt but that the famous Thurlow Weed was one of this group.

A little later he removed to Wisconsin and on April 8, 1858 became associated as a half owner in the publishing of the "South Western Local" at Shullsburgh, Wis. This venture was terminated after a little more than three years.

In Sept. of 1861 he removed to Monroe, Wis. where he had purchased a half share in the "Monroe Sentinel". His partner in this undertaking was Mr. James Bintliff who a year later entered the Union army to later become General Bintliff. Thus for the three years from 1862 until the close of the Civil War the entire responsibility of the paper was borne by Mr. Carr.

After the war (in July of 1865) the partners disposed of the "Monroe Sentinel" and Mr. Carr entered politics being elected in the fall of 1865 to the Assembly of the state of Wisconsin. Here he served with distinction. Probably his most important service was as a member of the Reapportionment Committee which in 1866 were charged with the responsibility of reapportioning the Senate and Assembly Districts of the state.

That summer of 1866 Mr. Carr answered the call of his native state and his chosen profession. We find him on June 1 back in his home town of Rome, N. Y. and back in the publishing business. Again he is a half owner. This time it is the "Roman Citizen". This proved to be his longest term of service on any paper. For twenty one years he labored as one of the editors or as the publisher of this central New York paper.

On June 1, 1887 Mr. Carr again changed his residence and his business. Disposing of his interest in the "Roman Citizen" he took up residence in Marlboro, N. Y. and established there a paper which he called the "Marlboro Record."

Egbert and Cornelia were the parents of five children two of whom died as infants (Emma on Sept. 2, 1852 and Ada on Sept. 13, 1866) and one, the only son, died just previous to being twenty years of age.

The five children were:

11121-13-941	+	Alice Harriet Carr	b. Jan. 22, 1850
11121-13-942		Emma Carr	b. July 23, 1852
11121-13-943	+	Cornelia Annette Carr	b. Mar. 10, 1862
11121-13-944		Ernest Lincoln Carr	b. Aug. 2, 1864
11121-13-945		Ada Grace Carr	b. Aug. 5, 1866

ISAAC THORN CARR 11121-13-96

Born in Henrietta, N. Y., July 5, 1831

Died in Madison, Wis., July 1, 1892

Married (1) in Warsaw, N. Y. on Nov. 25, 1854 to Nancy Popple. After her death on Oct. 8, 1871 he married (2) Mrs. Charlotte Moore on May 1, 1878. She died on Nov. 10, 1880 and on Nov. 25, 1881 Isaac married (3) Mary A. Smith.

Like his older brother Isaac Carr took up the trade of printing. It is noted by Edson Carr that he was connected with several papers in the state of Wisconsin. Quite possibly he was associated with his brother.

Isaac was the father of three children. His first wife was the mother of all three. None are known to have had children so the record must stop here. The following additional information regarding the children is available. Ella died Jan. 15, 1885. Charles died May 15, 1885. Frank at one time resided in Jamestown, N. D.

The three children of Isaac and Nancy were:

11121-13-961	Ella Eleanor Carr	b. Oct. 1, 1885
11121-13-962	Frank W. Carr	b. Jan. 31, 1860
11121-13-963	Charles Mott Carr	b. Mar. 28, 1862

Born in Tompkins Co., N. Y., June 6, 1802
Died in Conneautville, Pa., July 20, 1880
__________ __________.

This sketch needs more than the usual amount of data to make it much of a record. Like several others it is presented in the hope that it will incite someone who has the information to fill in the blanks. It is said that Miner Carr was born in Ulysses in Tompkins Co. I cannot locate the place but others of the family came from Dryden in that County so it may be that he came from near Dryden.

Four children were born to Miner and his wife but the name of but one is available. The four were:

111226111	+	Anthony Houtz Carr	b. Oct. 3, 1833
111226112		__________ Carr (dau.)	b.
111226113		__________ Carr (dau.)	b.
111226114		__________ Carr (dau.)	b.

BENJAMIN CARR 11122621

Born in Dryden, N. Y. , 1805

Married in on to
Polly Austin. She was born in Lyons, Pa.

Benjamin and Polly lived for a time in Dryden but sometime between 1831 and 1836 they removed to Lyons, Pa., the home town of Polly.

They had six children. Beside the ones of whom account is taken in the next generation it is known that Julia and Miner also married. All items regarding the marriage of Julia are lacking. Miner's wife was Charlotte Winston. Her death occurred at Lyons, Pa. Miner died June 14, 1882. It is thought that both Julia and Miner were childless.

The six children of Benjamin and Polly were:

111226211	+	Hiram Carr	b. Apr. 13, 1829

Died in town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Feb. 17, 1897
Married in Wilton, N. Y. on to Hester Ann Carr. She was the youngest child of David and Charlotte Carr (see 111219195). Strangely enough although both William and Hester were born in the same small township and both of Carr parents that had resided there for several generations they were only very remotely related.

William and Hester lived their lives as had their parents and grandparents in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y.

They had four children the two youngest dying in infancy. Their death dates were, Ada, Aug. 27, 1870; Hester, Apr. 23, 1879. The son, John married but was without issue. His wife was Loduska Holden.

Married in Salem, N. Y. on Mar. 4, 1824 to Mariah Barnes. She was born Sept. 4, 1802 and died June 7, 1885.

Robert and Mariah lived for several years in Erie Co., N. Y. It would seem that they later removed to Nebraska as most of their children married and settled in that state.

The record of their parenthood is one of much heart break. They had nine children but four of them died as babies or tiny tots. The death dates of these four are, Eleanor Feb. 12, 1833; Lyman Feb. 2, 1833; Lyman Francis Mar. 12, 1844; Henry Mar. 2, 1844.

The list of the nine is:

Born in Chesterfield, Mass., Feb. 16, 1800

Married in on June 7, 1825 to Wealthy Jenks. She was born in Hawley, Mass. on June 22, 1808 and was living around 1890 with her son Ezra at Lake Mills, Wis.

During the period that their children were born Esek and Wealthy lived at Chesterfield, Mass. The evidence is that they, like so many of the young New Englanders of the middle 1800's went west. Probably they settled in Wisconsin with other members of the family.

They had five children who, with the exception of the youngest, all married and are further noted in this record.

The five children were:

Shortly after their marriage Hannah and her husband removed to Concord, N. Y. where the remainder of their lives were spent.

Four of the ten children born to Hannah and George died in infancy. For the sake of the record I list them here. Horace died Sept. 3, 1834; Olin, June 6, 1834; Sarah, Nov. 10, 1842 and Lorenzo, July 27, 1845.

CLARK CARR 11127228

Born in Chesterfield, Mass., Jan. 1, 1804
Died in Simsbury, Conn., June 9, 1848
Married in Chesterfield, Mass. on Sept. 3, 1832 to Orphia Weeks.

Clark and Orphia lived variously at Chesterfield, Mass., Granby, Conn., West Hartford, Conn., and Simsbury, Conn.

This family lost two sons in the Civil War. Watson enlisted in the 27th Mass. Reg., was wounded at Cold Harbor and transported to Washington, D. C. where he died on Nov. 5, 1864. Andrew enlisted in the 1st Conn. Reg. and failed to survive an attack of the measles in Baltimore, Md. He died Feb. 16, 1864. Both sons are buried at Chester, Mass. One child of the family died as an infant. This was Sarah.

The seven children of Clark and Orphia were:

111272281	+	Oscar Lyman Carr	b. , 1833

111272282		Edgar Carr	b.
111272283		Sarah Ann Carr	b. , 1839

LYMAN CARR 11127229

Born in Cummington, Mass., Sept. 22, 1805
Died in Dennison, Mich.

Married in Cummington, Mass. on to Rosamond Whitman. Lyman and his wife at first settled in their home town of Cummington, Mass. The first four of their children are believed to have been born there. About 1840 the family removed to "somewhere" in New York State and a few years later to the state of Ohio where they seem to have become permanent residents. Marcus and Asahel were born in Newbury, Ohio and the youngest son in Chester of that state.

I am sorry not to have more on the nine children of this family. It is likely that more than the one indicated below married.

The nine were:

111272291	+	Laura Ann Carr	b. Aug. 22, 1833
111272292		Lyman Whitman Carr	b. , 1835

This log house was replaced by a frame one in 1803. His grandson, Michael Sweetman Carr, later resided in this frame house. See under M. S. Carr (1112723343).

Shortly after the marriage of John Carr and Lydia Sweetman John cleared land adjoining his father in law and took up residence there. Here they lived and raised a remarkable family. Mrs. Doras Carr, the widow of a grandson of Micajah, said in 1944 that early in 1860 Micajah and all his family excepting the recently married son, George Edwin, went west. George Edwin was prevented from going by illness and survived only until the summer. The fact that some of Micajah's older children married in the east would seem to point out that not all the family went with him into the "Land of Promise".

Micajah served in the Union Army during the war between the States. A service that was shortly terminated by illness.

He was the father of seven children. Four of them by his first wife. Five of the seven are further considered. Of the other two we have the following data. Lyman mar. Martha A. Cushing. They were childless. Prob. lived their lives at Charleston, N. Y. Lyman died in 1864. Emma died May 24, 1883.

Clark Merwin Carr was very likely brought up and lived most of his life near Buffalo, N Y. After his second marriage the family moved to Illinois settling first in Henry Co. and a year later, in 1851, removing to Galesburg in that state. Here Mr. Carr lived until his death.

Four sons were born to Clark and Delia all of whom achieved considerable distinction as will be seen under their names in Gen. IX. The children of Clark and Fanny were a son and a daughter. This son, George Pitt Carr, served as a Captain in the Union Army during the Civil War and at its close was appointed by President Johnson as a Parish Judge in Louisiana. Thus he became one of those northern office holders so cordially hated by the people of the south "The Original Town of Concord" speaks of the death of G. P. Carr thus,

> "while occupying this position (that of Parish Judge) he met his death in a mysterious manner, probably a victim of the intense political feeling of that time."

He possessed literary talent and was the author of two books of verse. His death occurred on Dec. 29, 1871.

Ezra Carr was a farmer residing on an eighty acre farm near Troy Grove, Ill. His farm adjoined the one on which his father lived. Both Ezra and his wife died very young. For more on this see below. They are both buried in the Carr cemetery on the Rev. Robert Carr farm.

Ezra and Lora had four children. Only one of the four survived childhood. The eldest child died in infancy and Ezra and Mary Ann together with their parents who were then but about thirty years of age all passed away within the space of a few months. This tragedy came upon the family in 1859 and 60 and is thought by some of the children of the surviving daughter to have been caused by what is now known as the "flu".

Shortly after their marriage Joel and Betsey Carr removed to Bear Lake, Pa. where they remained the rest of their lives. Joel Carr was living there in 1893. "Hist. of Warren Co." says that among the first members of the United Brethren Church at Bear Lake was Joel Carr. A store building in Bear Lake built about 1875 is said by the History quoted above to have been built by Joel Carr. It fails to state whether in the capacity of builder or owner. Two children are listed by Edson Carr as children of this union. Both are recorded as having married but nothing beyond that being known they are not carried to the next generation in this work. For the first part of the married life of Charles and Sarah Carr they resided in Southern New York State. Several of the children were born at Troupsburg. Around 1855 they removed to the west. The son Frank- lin was born at Plato, Ill. which might indicate that they lived for a time at least in that state. Later they seem to have again removed to Michigan as both Charles and his wife spent their last days at Holton in that state.

Two of the children of this family died as young people. Charles as a young man of twenty four (in Oct. 1870). Sylvia as a young woman of fourteen (in 1872).

Born in Wayne Co., Pa., Oct. 5, 1819
Died in
Married in on to Luther Newton.

They are said to have resided at Knoxville, N. Y. It is my guess that the state was Pa. rather than N. Y. My reasons for that belief are that Knoxville, Pa. is situated close by the places of residence of other members of the family and that there seems to be no Knoxville in the state of N. Y.

Abigail and Luther had two sons:

Willet Newton	b.
Emory Newton	b.

Some little glimpse of the life of one of the children of Isaac and Catherine who are not considered in Generation IX is recorded. Hulda mar. Edmond H. Thompson of Boston, Mass. They removed to the State of Indiana. They are not known to have had issue.

From the fact that all of the children of Isaac and Catherine were born in Scituate, R. I. we are justified in thinking that the family lived for some time there.

Of the four children of John and Sarah one is known to have died in infancy. This was the dau., Sarah who died Sept. 11, 1876. The son, John, became an educator and author of note. His formal education was impressive including as it did a degree from Oxford. His chosen field was the immigrant to this country. He had much honor bestowed upon him for his great contributions to the education of these people. See Vol. XX of Who's Who in America. He married Emma Lilian Dana on June 21, 1916. In 1867 he and his bride went to Tipton, Iowa where he hung out his shingle and settled down to a career of law and politics.

His political service included the Mayorship of Tipton and service as Senator in the State Legislature.

John A. Carr was a life long resident of the pleasant island of Jamestown which has been the home of so many of our family since the beginning. Mr Carr occupied the Carr farm near the present bridge to the mainland. This farm has been in the family from the beginning of white settlement upon the island. Mrs. Carr and the daughter, Catharine, are at present residing on the farm.

The most ancient family bible known to exist in our family is possessed by Mrs. Carr and her daughter. This bible was published in England in 1575 and seems quite certainly to have been brought over by the first Caleb. The family records contained in this worn and ancient volume all pertain to the descendants of Caleb. A photograph of this bible taken in 1946 appears on the opposite page.

John and Caroline were the parents of the daughter mentioned above who is:

These children were eight in number. One died as a young lad (Charles, on Aug. 1864) and all the remaining ones married. Of these, three are not considered in the next generation because I have no record as yet of any children. William and Harriet resided for many years at Clinton, Pa. Their five children were all born in that place. The youngest child, Fred, died Dec. 9, 1862 as an infant. Miles Carr was engaged in the grain and commission business in Chicago, Ill. He was a member of The Chicago Board of Trade. They resided in Chicago. One daughter was born to them. Died in , 1883 (1884?)
Married in on to Jane Ann Howe. Edson Carr says that she was the daughter of a Baptist Minister of Knoxville, N. Y.

Archibald Carr, it is presumed, did not accompany his parents on their removal to Illinois. This seems certain for we find him at the time of his marriage or shortly after still in New York State. The place of his residence was the city of Rochester where he was interested in the dry goods business. He did however get the "fever" for the west removing in 1843 to Ionia, Mich. His change of residence also meant a change of business. In Ionia he was interested in banking.

The only children of Archibald and Jane of whom we have any record is a daughter.

JOSEPH HENRY CARR 12312553

For some twelve years after his marriage Joseph Carr and his family resided in Syracuse, N. Y. where he operated a grain and produce business. In 1852, like so many other Yorkers, he took the trail west. He settled first in La Salle Co., Ill. Later he moved to Sandwich, Ill. where he resided for some years. He later took up residence in Itasca, Ill. where he and his wife were residing in 1890. Joseph Carr was one of the founders of the city of Sandwich, Ill. He was for many years engaged in business there.

A fine family of eleven children were born to Joseph and Eva. Two died in infancy. (Daisy at birth and Walter on June 22, 1857). The daughter, Georgiana, married her father's cousin and is further considered under his record (see 12312543). Clarence became a resident of Kansas City, Mo. having a responsible position with Bullen, Morse & Co. of that city. I do not know whether he ever married or not. No information is at hand on the youngest son, Jesse, or the daughter, Caroline. All others of the children are carried to Generation IX. The eleven children were:

Married in on Feb. 21, 1841 to Susan P. Williams.

Outside of the terse note "they reside in Somonauk, Ill." not a scrap of data other than the dates of birth was available to Edson Carr and I have nothing to add. It must be that from this family of seven children many descendants are today living. May the future add much to this record.

The seven children were:

123125542	Frances A. Carr	b. June 11, 1845

CAPT. LINSLEY HERBERT CARR 12312556

Born in Clay (township ?), N. Y., Feb. 16, 1822
Died in military service Mar. 12, 1862
Married in on Oct. 20, 1848 to Caroline Aldrich. She was a native of New York State having been born somewhere in that State on Oct. 3, 1820. Her death occurred on Oct. 16, 1880.

In as much as all but the eldest of the children of Linsley and Caroline were born in Sandwich, Ill. there is a strong argument for the belief that he was associated with his brother Joseph in that budding city.

Captain Carr was killed in action during the Union attempt to take Island No. 10 near New Madrid, Mo. He served as Capt. of Co. H., 10 th Ill. Vol.

Four children were born to Capt. and Caroline Carr. All of them married and all may have had offspring but there being a record of such only in the case of the son, Oscar, I will note here the data relating to the others and leave to the future the completion of the record. Lyell married and lived in New York City: Ernest married Mary A. Derby on Feb. 26, 1886. She was born in Shabbona, Ill. on Mar. 17, 1863. They lived in Sandwich, Ill.; Mary married Lee Ralph Hudgens in Sandwich, Ill. on Jan. 29, 1885. He was born on July 1, 1861.

The four children of Linsley and Caroline were:

Died in Iowa, Dec. 11, 1889
Married at Marlboro, Ohio, Mar. 23, 1836 to Moses Gruwell. Only his death date is recorded. That was Aug. 31, 1877.

Shortly after their marriage Ann and her husband joined the flow of population west, settling on a tract of land in Cedar Co., Iowa. From the fact that many of their children lived in West Branch, Iowa I would say that the chances are good that they resided near that city. They were buried in the Friends Cemetery at Honey Grove, Iowa which would indicate that they were, like many of the Carrs, members of the "Society of Friends".

They were the parents of eight children all of whom grew to maturity and married. These eight were:

Cynthia Ann Gruwell
Thomas S. Gruwell
Hiram I. Gruwell
Samuel Carr Gruwell

His untimely death at the age of thirty five left Lovina with the two little boys to look after.

After the death of David, Lovina and the boys removed to Mt. Union, Ohio where she found work as a Matron in a College Dormitory at Mt. Union College.

The later years of Lovina Carr were spent in a cottage at Mt. Lookout, Ohio which was built for her by her eldest son. She is still remembered with great fondness by her family.

After the death of Jane, Francis spent most of his time at the home of his daughter in Iowa where he died as noted above. Both Francis and Jane are buried at Marlboro, Stark Co., Ohio.

REV. JOSEPH MIDDLETON CARR 12414467

Born in Damascus, Ohio, Mar. 9, 1836
Died at "Carralta", near Salem, Ohio, Oct. 25, 1911
Married in Marlboro, Ohio, Aug. 22, 1861 to Amanda Crozer: She was born in Paris, Ohio on Aug. 22, 1840. She was a graduate of Beaver College for Women at Jenkintown, Pa.

With a staunch Quaker background the transition of Joseph Carr to the Methodist Church was doubtless easy and with his keen mind and deep sense of human need his career in the ministry of that Church was natural.

His education began in the little schoolhouse of the Greenwood Dist. near the family farm. It continued at the brick Academy at Damascus. At the age of nineteen he entered Mt. Union College from whose studies he was graduated with honor in 1859.

Entering the ministry of the Methodist Church he became a member of the Pittsburg Conference. In this Confreence he labored for some years serving pastorates in several towns and cities including the Trinity Church at Pittsburg and the Arch St. Church at Allegheny City. He was finally made Dist. Supt. (presiding Elder) of the Barnesville Dist. This last appointment was continued under the East Ohio Conference which was set off during his service as Dist. Supt. The Rev. Carr served several charges in the East Ohio Conf. after his term as Dist. Supt.

At the 1876 General Conference of the Methodist Church the Rev. Carr was made a member of the Pittsburg Publishing Committee. He was a member also of the next General Conf. held in 1880 at that time serving as chairman of the East Ohio Delegation. At the 1880 Conference he was made a member of the Conference Comm. on Missions and Church Extension and named Representative of the fourth General Conference Dist.

Mt. Union College, his Alma Mater, conferred the degree of A. M. upon Rev. Carr. The Presbyterian Church expressed their regard by a degree of D. D. from Franklin College. Mrs. Carr was an able assistant to her husband in his very busy life. Her Church interests were largely expressed by activity in the Missionary enterprises of the Methodist Church.

The Rev. Carr was ever a great champion of Mt. Union College. This was particularly valuable to that institution during the trying financial days of the 80's.

One of the prized possessions of this family is an old family bible which was once the property of Mary Carr Paine (125) and presented to her nephew (1241) from whom Joseph Carr was a direct descendant.

Nine children were born to Joseph and Amanda. Edward died as a young man of nineteen (on Oct. 5, 1887). It is thought that all of the remaining children matured and that several beside the two daughters carried forward were most likely parents.

The nine children were:

124144671	+	Elizabeth Welday Carr	b. May 29, 1862
124144672		Mary Eleanor Carr	b. June 8, 1864
124144673	+	Katherine Crozer Carr	b. June 11, 1866
124144674		Edward Ames Carr	b. June 18, 1868
124144675		Helen Martha Carr	b. Sept. 20, 1870
124144676		Joseph Albert Carr	b. Nov. 21, 1872
124144677		Francis Isaac Carr	b. May 16, 1878
124144678		John Eaton Crozer Carr	b. Feb. 7, 1880
124144679		Robert Herman Carr	b. May 30, 1881

Westil Carr saw service in the American army during the war of 1812. It is known that he was at the decisive battle of Plattsburg during that war.

CHAUNCEY CARR 12631261

Born in Saratoga Co., N. Y., April 16, 1793
Died near Riverside, Iowa, Oct. 17, 1873
Married in on May 26, 1816 to Elizabeth Keene. She was born on June 15, 1795 and died near Riverside, Iowa on June 5, 1879.

Chauncey and his wife started their married life in the little New York State town of Pompey, Onondaga Co., where Chauncey's parents were then residing. In 1819 they removed to the town of Camillus. Again about 1826 they moved. This time it was to the eastern shore of Lake Ontario where they seem to have spent short periods in several towns before "going west". In the "west" they found their spot near Riverside, Iowa where they went after 1838 and where they are thought to have spent the remainder of their lives.

Chauncey and Elizabeth had a remarkable family of twelve children who, with one exception, attained maturity and nearly all of whom married and are further mentioned in Gen. IX. The only one of the twelve to die in infancy was Byron who died Aug. 28, 1837.

Of the children not mentioned in the next Generation I have the following information. Amasa mar. Isabelle Peck Thompson on May 17, 1875 in Camden Co., N. J. She was born in Milford, Mass., Dec. 13, 1852 and died in Jordan, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1893. The time or place of Amasa's death I know not. They were without children. Amasa became possessed of quite a fortune and gave generously to several educational institutions, notably the Univ. of Iowa. The son, Hobart, served in the Union Army during the Civil War. He afterward followed the trade of a carpenter living with his father until his death on Nov. 20, 1916. He never married. The son, John, also lived a batchelor dying in Chicago, Ill. on June 11, 1912.

The twelve children of Chauncey and Elizabeth were:

126312611	+	Chauncey Carr	b. Mar. 20, 1817
126312612	+	Giles Collins Carr	b. Aug. 12, 1818

Born in Saratoga Co., N. Y., April 5, 1795
Died in Oct. 7, 1875

The spotty life history above is all that is available on Malinda except the names of her eight children which were:

Edward Gott	b.
Emeline Gott	b.
John E. Gott	b.
Maria Gott	b.
Harriet M. Gott	b.
Oscar F. Gott	b.
Malinda Gott	b.

MARGARET CARR 12631263

Born in Pompey, N. Y. , 1798
Died in Aug. 24, 1846
Married in on Mar. 15, 1815 to Benjamin F. Wheeler.

As of her sister above I can give little about this member of the family except the names of her children. These were as follows:

Edwin Wheeler	b.
Eveline Wheeler	b.
Benjamin F. Wheeler	b.

EDWARD CARR 12631265

Born, prob. at Pompey, N. Y., Mar. 23, 1802
Died in Mar. 28, 1829
Married in on May 23, 1823 to Betsey Castle.

Nothing seems to be on record of this member of the Carr family except the few dates above and the names of the four children born to Edward and Betsey. They were:

126312651	+	Helen Augusta Carr	b.
126312652		Electa Carr	b.
126312653	+	Edward Vernon Carr	b.

The seven were:

126312661	Henry W. Carr	b.	, 1825

The oldest son lived in Detroit, Mich. but is not known to have married. The son Emory died Aug. 13, 1842.

The three children of Charles and Ann were:

RILEY CARR 12631274

Died in Clay Bank, Mich., Sept. 3, 1870
Married in Eden Valley, N. Y. on April 18, 1836 to Clarinda Brown. She was born in Woodstock, N. Y. on Mar. 11, 1817 and died in Flower Creek, Mich., Sept. 7, 1888.

Riley and Clarinda resided until the end of the Civil War in Erie, Co., N. Y. living in the towns of Eden and Evans. The state of Michigan seems to have been the place of their residence after the war. They are thought to have lived at Flower Creek in that state.

This family furnished three sons for the Union cause in the War between the states. The three enlisted at Buffalo, N. Y. in August of 1862 and two of them received wounds in the same engagement and on the same day.

All nine of the children of Riley and Clarinda married. The son, Martin, is the only one that is not further considered. He married Emma Conrad on Sept. 17, 1888. She was also a resident of Erie Co., N. Y. They were childless but adopted a daughter whose name I do not have. Martin Carr was a successful hardware merchant in Whitehall, Mich. where he died.

The nine children of Riley and Clarinda were:

126312741	+	George W. Carr	b. Feb. 24, 1838
126312742	+	Eron Van Rensselaer Carr	b. Feb. 22, 1840

HIRAM CARR 12631277

Born in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Nov. 14, 1808.
Died (prob.) in Russell, Pa.

Married (1) in on Feb. 12, 1828 to Abigail Thompson. She was born in Eden Valley, N. Y., Mar. 25, 1811 and died Feb. 12, 1876. Hiram married (2) Polly Dremmon on Oct. 12, 1886. The birth date of Polly is not known. She died in Nov. 1893.

The first marriage of Hiram likely occurred in Erie Co., N. Y. as the date is some two or three years after the family removed to that County from the eastern New York County of Saratoga. It is certain that for some seven years Hiram and Abigail lived in Erie Co. Their first four children were born there at the town of Boston. In 1835 they moved down across the border into Pennsylvania and settled in Russell where they raised their family and lived out their days.

All seven of the children of Hiram were born to his first wife, Abigail. Of these children only one, Viola, died as a child. (Dec. 6, 1850) The son, Asa is not noted in the succeeding generation as he is not known to have had children. He was twice married his wives being sisters. The first was Rachel Jenkins who was born Aug. 10, 1835. She married Asa Carr on Dec. 25, 1862 and died May 15, 1866. Asa married her sister Almira on Jan. 14, 1869. Edson Carr reported that Asa Carr was one of the leading citizens of Russell, Pa.

The seven children of Hiram and Abigail were:

126312771	+	Lydia Ann Carr	b. Jan. 17, 1829
126312772	+	John Bisbee Carr	b. Mar. 10, 1831
126312773		Asa Carr	b. May 26, 1833
126312774	+	Juliana Alma Carr	b. May 30, 1835
126312775	+	Eliza Abigail Carr	b. June 1, 1837
126312776	+	Jehial W. Carr	b. July 20, 1840
126312777		Viola Carr	b. Sept. 29, 1849

DARIUS CARR 12631279

Born in Erie Co., N. Y. around 1811
Died in
Married in on to
__________ __________.

A broad field for discovery is this family. "Carr Family Records" says that Darius married and raised a family of children. The names of all but one are unknown as are almost all of the other facts pertaining to the life and work of Darius Carr. He is one of the sons that went west with the parents, Jehial and Betsey, in 1843. He is known to have been living in Eagle, Wis. around 1870.

The one child of Darius mentioned was:

126312791	+	Frank Leroy Carr	b. June 12, 1852

PHILIP CARR 1263127-10-

Born in Erie Co., N. Y.
Died in Russell, Pa.
Married in Wyoming Co., N. Y. around 1829 to Arminda Gray.

It seems a likely supposition that Philip and Arminda spent their lives in the south west corner of New York State and the adjacent north west corner of Pennsylvania. The son John was born in Erie Co., N. Y. All of the children seem to have settled in this territory.

The youngest child has not even a birthday available. We might guess that he died in infancy. The daughter Elizabeth married and was the mother of three sons. Her husband was Erastus Baker whom she married in 1846. She died in Hammondsport, Pa. Not knowing the names of her sons I have not carried her name to the next Generation. For the same reason the daughter Almira is noted only here. Her children were two daughters. Her husband's name is not known. She died at Russellville, Pa.

The five children of Philip and Arminda were:

1263127-10-1		Elizabeth Carr	b. , 1831
1263127-10-2	+	Alonzo Carr	b. , 1835
1263127-10-3	+	John Carr	b. Aug. 22, 1837
1263127-10-4		Almira Carr	b. , 1849
1263127-10-5		James Carr	b.

JEHIAL CARR 1263127-11-

Born in Erie Co. , 1815
Died in Chicago, Ill. , 1875
Married in Eden Valley, N. Y. on to Louisa Bulard.

Jehial Carr, likely with his wife and family, was a member of the family group that moved farther west in 1843. He settled in Elgin, Ill. Later he removed to Chicago where he engaged in business.

Two children are recorded of this family. The son was living in Chicago in 1890 but nothing more is known of him. The daughter also lived at Chicago marrying a man surnamed Graves.

The two children of Jehial and Louisa were:

1263127-11-1	Sylvester Carr	b.
1263127-11-2	________ Carr (dau.)	b.

ELIZA MARIA CARR 1263127-13-

Born in Erie Co., N. Y., Aug. 2, 1818
Died in
Married in Marengo, Ill. on Feb. 15, 1845 to Richard Bulard. His birth date is given as May 5, 1818 but nothing more is known of him. It is worth noting that both Eliza and her brother Jehial married Bulards.

Eliza is said to have lived at Scranton, Iowa.

Eliza was the mother of five children as below:

Alonzo Van Rensselaer Bulard
Melissa Jane Bulard
Delenzo Jehial Bulard
George W. Bulard
Minnie Lena Bulard

WILLIAM HENRY CARR 12631-16-61

Born in Newport, R. I., Mar. 8, 1837
Died in
Married in New York City on June 21, 1874 to Celia Osborn. She was of Leonidas Osborn and was born in New York City on Nov. 7, 1854.

William Carr went to New York City as a young man (in 1860) and is thought to have remained there the remainder of his life.

William and Celia had the following two children:

12631-16-611	Jennie Louise Carr	b. Dec. 13, 1876
12631-16-612	Henry Winfred Carr	b. Sept. 8, 1878

JOSEPH ALLEN CARR 12632511

Born in Newport, R. I. on
Died in
Married in Newport, R. I. on Dec. 1, 1833 to Catherine Sherman.

Joseph and Catherine were married in the United Brethren's Church in Newport which would indicate the religious faith of one or both of them. The main parts of the picture of their lives remains to be discovered.

They are known to have had one son whose given name was either David or Daniel. (Edson Carr has it both ways. One of them is doubtless a missprint.) This son married in South Kingstown, R. I. on Feb. 26, 1868. His wife was Marion Weston Gardiner of Rowland and Elizabeth Gardiner. She was born in South Kingstown in 1845. They are thought to have been childless.

The son of Joseph and Catherine was

126325111	Daniel (See above) Carr	b. , 1844

SAMUEL CARR 12632513

Born in Newport, R. I., June 13, 1814
Died in Newport, R. I., May 7, 1890
Married in New York City on Nov. 5, 1845 to Sarah H. Remington. She was born in Newport, R. I. on Dec. 30, 1820.

This family seem to have lived most of their lives if not all at Newport, R. I. All of their children were born there. Of these children two died as youngsters. Peter on Aug. 20, 1863 and Clara on Oct. 4 of the same year. The eldest child, Mary, married on Feb. 2, 1869 Mr. Henry P. Hamlin. She died less than two years afterward (Nov. 16, 1870) and Henry four years later married her sister as is further noted. The daughter, Rualing, married Elton Peckham on May 11, 1880 and is thought to have been childless. Of the son Samuel nothing further is known.

The six children of Samuel and Sarah were:

126325131	Mary Richardson Carr	b. Nov. 5, 1846
126325132	Peter Remington Carr	b. Mar. 10, 1848

126325133	+	Sarah Dubois Carr	b. Mar. 13, 1851
126325134		Samuel Allen Carr	b. Oct. 21, 1853
126325135		Rualing Remington Carr	b. May 23, 1856
126325136		Clara Mumford Carr	b. Mar. 23, 1858

SAMUEL J. CARR 12632521

Born in Newport, R. I., Sept. 23, 1818
Died in Newport, R. I., Sept. 10, 1881
Married in Boston, Mass. on Oct. 7, 1851 to Mary Ann Tew. She was of Joshua and Christiana Tew. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Daniel Sharp of the Charles St. Baptist Church.

Newport was the home of these Carrs. The son Leander became a newspaper man of that city. In 1931 Leander was the Treas. and Gen. Manager of the Newport Herald Corp. He married Abbie W. Wescott of Newport in 1891. I have no information as to children of his marriage.

The two children of Samuel and Mary Ann were:

126325211	+	Alabama G. Carr	b. Sept. 13, 1853
126325212		Leander K. Carr	b. May 18, 1863

BENJAMIN UNDERWOOD CARR 12632523

Born in Newport, R. I., Feb. 14, 1826
Died (prob. in Newport)
Married in Nantucket, Mass. on Feb. 2, 1854 to Susan W. Brooks. She was of William and Emeline Brooks. Only her death date is known (Feb. 10, 1888).

This is another of the numerous and fine families of Newport Carrs. This one promises much to the searcher of these things. Five sons and three daughters seem to have grown to man and womanhood yet the marriage of only one is known to me.

These eight children of Benjamin and Susan I list below:

126325231		Philip Rider Carr	b. April 5, 1853
126325232		Sarah Emeline Carr	b. May 20, 1854
126325233		Frances Carr	b. July 30, 1856
126325234		Benjamin Underwood Carr	b. Aug. 19, 1859
126325235		Willis Brooks Carr	b. Feb. 1, 1862
126325236		Ferdinand Defrize Carr	b. Sept. 1, 1864
126325237	+	Susan Wheeler Carr	b. Dec. 6, 1866
126325238		Schuyler Colfax Carr	b. Sept. 27, 1868

MARY M. CARR 12632541

Born in New Beford, Mass., July 7, 1813
Died in
Married in on to
James Barton.

Mary and her husband must have lived in Newport. Both the children were born there.

The two children were:

Theodore A. Barton	b. July 2, 1843
Sarah C. Barton	b. May 6, 1847

DAMARIS U. CARR 12632542

Born in Newport, R. I., Dec. 1, 1816
Died in Sept. 24, 1848
Married in on to
David Taylor.

The one child born of this union was born in New Bedford, Mass. which would indicate that as the place of residence for a time at least.

This child was:

James Taylor	b. , 1841

CAPT. THOMAS B. CARR 12632543

Born in Newport, R. I., May 1, 1820
Died in Mar. , 1897
Married in Newport, R. I. on April 30, 1849 to Anne Sherman. She was of Perry and Harriet (Ward) Sherman.

Capt. Thomas followed a typical sea coast trade. He was a ships smith. His title came from the war between the States when he served as Capt. of Co. I of the 7th R. I. Vols. He was in much action during the war including the famous battle of Antietam.

One daughter and one son came to the home of Capt. Thomas and Anne. The daughter did not marry. She died in Dec. of 1891.

These two children were:

126325431		Alice Carr	b. Jan. 16, 1850
126325432	+	Clarence A. Carr	b. Oct. 31, 1864

JOHN M. CARR 12632545

Born in New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 2, 1825
Died in Newport, R. I., April 18, 1893
Married in on Oct. 4, 1844 to Harriet E. Cozzens.

John and Harriet Carr were residents of Newport, R. I. He served as a Naval Officer during the Civil War. His discharge is dated in August of 1866 from Annapolis.

They were the parents of the following three children:

126325451	+	Thomas G. Carr	b. Jan. 4, 1846
126325452	+	Charles C. Carr	b. Aug. 7, 1850
126325453	+	Harriet C. Carr	b. Dec. 13, 1863

JETHRO C. CARR 12632546

Born in New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 5, 1827
Died in Feb. 21, 1863
Married in on to Content Hazard. Of the wife of Jethro but her death date is at hand. That was Nov. 16, 1913.

The children of this marriage being born at Newport lends color to the guess that Jethro and Content spent their lives there.

They had the three children:

126325461	+	George Hazard Carr	b. Dec. 22, 1853
126325462		Florence T. Carr	b. Jan. 4, 1857
126325463	+	Samuel Engs Carr	b. Jan. 16, 1861

SAMUEL ROBINSON CARR 12632561

Born in Newport, R. I., Jan. 23, 1818
Died in Newport, R. I., Sept. 24, 1883

Married (1) in Newport, R. I. on Sept. 3, 1843 to Sarah G. Peckham. Her birth place and date are not given by Edson Carr but she died in Georgetown, S. C. on Aug. 24, 1867. Samuel married (2) in Georgetown, S. C. on Oct. 23, 1869 Emma M. Spears.

Samuel and his first wife went to South Carolina from Rhode Island sometime before 1867 and seem to have lived there several years. Edson Carr speaks of his holding an office of County Commissioner. I suppose that this was in Georgetown as the dates are 1867-1875. From the fact that his son married in Newport and from his death occurring there I deduce that he might have returned to Newport after his second marriage.

One son was born to Samuel and Sarah:

126325611	+	Robert Robinson Carr	b. June 7, 1850

One daughter was born to Samuel and Emma:

126325612		Keturah Gavitt Carr	b. Nov. 24, 1870

KETURAH GAVITT CARR 12632563

Born in Newport, R. I., June 17, 1823
Died in
Married in Newport, R. I. on May 13, 1847 to Daniel U. Boone. All that is recorded of him is that he died on April , 1854 .

Four children were born to them.

Mary Catherine Boone	b. Feb. 27, 1848
Sarah Gavitt Boone	b. Dec. 22, 1849
William Hull Boone	b. Jan. 12, 1852
Damaris Carr Boone	b. Nov. 3, 1853

SYLVESTER GAVITT CARR 12632564

Born in Newport, R. I., Oct. 8, 1826
Died in Married (1) in Tiverton, R. I. on June 10, 1849 to Amanda C. Stacy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jared Reed. Amanda lived only a few years after her marriage passing away on April , 1852. Sylvester married (2) in Jamaica, L. I. on Oct. 18, 1861 Annie Henderson.

Sylvester lived most of his life, if not all of it, at Newport. His trade, profession or business is not known.

Two children were born to Sylvester and Amanda. The daughter, Harriet died as an infant on April , 1852. The two were:

126325641	+	Robert Congdon Carr	b. Oct. 21, 1850
126325642		Harriet Wescott Carr	b. Jan. 12, 1852

Two children were also born to Sylvester and Annie:

126325643		George Henderson Carr	b. Nov. 22, 1867
126325644	+	Annie M. Carr	b. May 13, 1870

MARY ALLEN CARR 12632565

Born in Newport, R. I., Jan. 25, 1833
Died in
Married in Newport, R. I. on Nov. 26, 1863 to Stephen A. Ward.

The little that I have on this family can be soon set down. Stephen died Feb. 16, 1865 leaving Mary and the one child:

Sallie Carr Ward	b. Jan. 3, 1865

BENJAMIN MORRIS CARR 12632581

Born in Newport, R. I., July 7, 1833
Died in
Married in Tiverton, R. I. on April 21, 1861 to Harriet E. Underwood. She was born on , 1835 of Weeden T. and Susan Underwood. The ceremony was performed by Elder James A. McKensie.

Benjamin was a farmer and from the fact that much of the above information came from "R. I. Friends Records" we may assume that both Benjamin and Harriet were members of the Society of Friends. They resided near Newport, R. I.

We have record of the marriage of but two of the four children born to this family. Lucinda married Stuart Hale on Jan. 8. 1885. Francis married Jane Lewis on Sept. , 1889. Both of these marriages may have been fruitful. I have no information.

The four children of Benjamin and Harriet were:

126325811	Mary E. D. Carr	b. Jan. 15, 1863

Married in on Sept. 25, 1839 to Ann Chappell of Fall River, Mass. She was born Jan. 3, 1814 and died Jan. 11, 1892.

Quite likely this family lived at Fall River, Mass. The two younger children were born there as I suspect were the other two.

The eldest child, John, died in infancy. The son Franklin married Mrs. Amelia Whalon. The son William became a Baptist Minister after graduating from Brown Univ., class of 1872. He also married. His wife was Marion Elizabeth Foster born in Waterloo, Prov. of Quebec on Dec. 3, 1864. They were married at Windsor, Vt., June 4, 1890. I can find no record of children of either Franklin or William although they may well have been the heads of large families.

Married in on Feb. 27, 1844 to Mary Maria Young. She was born in Scituate, Mass., Sept. 16, 1819.

The Rev. Samuel was a minister of the Baptist Church. We can make the shrewd guess that he served churches in the five Mass. towns which I shall list. This guess is based on the fact that their five children were born in these five towns in the order listed, thus, Norton, South Hanson, Medfield, South Hopkinton and South Dartmouth.

There are scraps of information available on several of the children of this family although I know of children of but the one carried to Generation IX. These bits that may serve in the future to piece together the complete picture are as follows. The daughter, Sarah mar. Elisha Bourne in South Dartmouth, Mass. on April 7, 1866 and died in Freeman, Wis. on Aug. 5, 1867. Samuel mar. Lottie M. Billings in Milford, Mass. on Mar. 6, 1880. She was born Feb. 26, 1857. Elmer mar. Alma M. Stimpson in Milford, Mass. on Feb. 28, 1885. She was born in St. John, N. B., Jan. 1, 1862 and died Dec. 8, 1897.

The children of Samuel and Mary were:

126326271		Sarah Maria Carr	b. Dec. 27, 1844

There are excellent reasons to believe that Rufus and his wife Mary spent most, or perhaps all, of their lives at Pawtucket, R. I. The children were born there and Edson Carr reports in 1890 that Rufus was then living in that city.

Generation IX

If you are of the school that points off history with wars you should note that Generation IX of our family in America was the "Civil War Generation". It is impossible to say how many of the male Carrs of this Generation took part in this conflict but it was many. A great many for a family with a staunch Quaker background. In several families you will find record of two, three and four sons serving in the Army. Do I need to add, with our New England ancestry, that they were all in the Union Army. One caution, dear reader, if you be bent upon Civil War research. Although the greater number of us that served in that conflict are to be found in the generation before you, not all such are recorded there. Both the generation preceeding and the one following contain Civil War records.

One thing worthy of remark in our study of our expanding family is the spread in the period covered by a single generation which has developed over the period of these nine generations. In the pages before you dates of birth that are known range from 1814 to 1889 or a spread of seventy five years. All that among persons that are all the same distance removed from the common ancestor. It is for this reason becoming more difficult to say that any particular generation among us was involved in any particular episode of our American history.

Generation IX sets up a mark among us for longevity that may stand for much time. See the sketch of Lydia Carr on p. 397

The dispersion of us Carrs about the continent continued with greatly abated pace during Gen. IX. California annexed several of us after the Civil War.

Of all the generations this is the most numerous in recorded numbers. Sketches ranging from mere peeps to full size portraits of three hundred and fifty six of us await your wondering eyes in the pages of Gen. IX.

They seem to have gone to Chicago for he was for some time engaged there in the insurance business. The oldest son is listed as being born at Oswego, N. Y. The notation "d." which Edson Carr places after the names of both sons may mean that they died as youngsters.

These two sons were:

CHARLOTTE JANE CARR 111219194

Born in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y.
Died in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. about 1932
Married in on to
William Stiles.

Charlotte Carr or, as we knew her, Aunt Jane Stiles is one of the reasons why this book was written. When I first became interested in the records of the Carrs Aunt Jane was nearly a century old but fortunately possessed of one of the finest memories that I have ever known. A large group of Carrs had for several generations lived in the south and west parts of the town of Wilton and the records of many of them existed only in the mind of Aunt Jane. Realizing that her death would remove forever from the mind of man this family data I sat with her and took down much of the data that appears in this book regarding these Wilton Carrs. Dates, relationships, anecdotes. All came quickly to her mind as we talked of our people that had gone before. I have since deeply regreted the fact that I was then so inexperienced in genealogy that I did not ask all the questions that I should and that the records must suffer because of that.

The long life of Charlotte Carr had not been an easy one. After an unusual education for a girl of those days (she was a graduate of Temple Grove Seminary in Saratoga Springs and an accomplished musician) she knew little but poverty and hard work. Despite this she was always sweet, calm and tolerant. She is a part of the picture that my memory summons up of my childhood. A warm, bright part.

She and her husband are buried in the Brick Church cemetery in west Wilton.

Charlotte and William had three children:

Edward Stiles	b.
Anna Stiles	b.
Lottie Stiles	b.

HESTER ANN CARR 111219195

Born in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y. , 1843
Died in the town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Apr. 23, 1879
Married in Wilton, N. Y. on to William Carr (11122745)

Although not at all closely related, the husband of Hester was also a descendant of the same ancestor. Her line is therefor carried on under his name. See p. 210.

MARIETTE CARR 111219211

Born in Dryden, N. Y., Mar. 28, 1815
Died in
Married in Almond, N. Y. on Oct. 10, 1842 to George Karr. He was born in Almond, N. Y. Sept. 17, 1803 and died June 8, 1875.

I do not know the place of the residence of this family. Edson Carr reports that Mariette resided in Glen Hazle, Pa. in her declining years.

Six children came to the home of Mariette and George Karr. Half of this number died as young folks. These were Helen, Ada and George.

The six children were:

Helen Amanda Karr	b. June 25, 1843
Mary Alice Karr	b. May 19, 1846
Ada Demaris Karr	b. Nov. 15, 1848

SYBIL AMANDA CARR 111219212

Born in Dryden, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1816.
Died in
Married (1) in Almond, N. Y. on May 19, 1836 to Rev. George Washington Webb. He was born in on July 24, 1808 and died in Sunderlinville, Pa. on June 3, 1863. Sybil married (2) in Academy Corners, Pa. on Aug. 19, 1865 to John George. Regarding John George, I have only the death date which was Jan. 19, 1881.

Sybil and the Rev. Webb were the parents of eight children. The places of birth of these children give a clue to the pastorates that were served by The Rev. Webb. Three of these places were Almond, Chautauqua and Ripley, N. Y.

A story of tragedy and sorrow is partially told by the records of the children of Sybil and Rev. Webb. Of the eight children five died when from two to twenty four years of age. Only Nancy, Josephine and Evangeline survived.

The eight children were:

Helen Amanda Webb	b. Feb. 24, 1837
Oscar Irving Webb	b. Feb. 7, 1839
Nancy Elizabeth Webb	b. Sept. 24, 1841
Mary Maria Webb	b. July 29, 1843
Josephine Matilda Webb	b. Sept. 4, 1848
George Stafford Audubon Webb	b. Feb. 17, 1851
Evangeline St. Clair Webb	b. Feb. 15, 1854
Charles Augustus Webb	b. July 4, 1857

Most of the details of the life of this family must be filled in by other hands. I have little information. Edson Carr records that the Rev. Edward was residing in Raymond, Pa.

Five children were born to Edward and Lorana. The daughter Mary d. June 14, 1858.

The five children were:

1112192144	+	George Norman Carr	b. Aug. 6, 1853
1112192145	+	Edward Augustus Carr	b. Sept. 16, 1857

Stutely Carr saw service in the Union Army during the Civil War. They resided at Caton, N. Y. about 1890 but had resided before that in Almond, N. Y. and Hector and Clymer, Pa. to judge by the fact that they had children born in those towns.

Of the children born to them, The eldest, Gaius, died Apr. 22, 1850. The son, Stutely, married but was without issue. His wife was Emma Herrington whom he married in Woodhull, N. Y. on March 12, 1884. She was born in Burlington, N. J. Aug. 30, 1853. They resided at Bingham Center, Pa.

Harvey Carr served in the Union Army during the war between the States. His service was short however as he contracted malaria, or as it was then popularly called "fever and ague", soon after his mustering in. He was a member of Co. E. 103rd Pa. Vols. and stationed at New Berne, N. C. when taken ill. He was soon transferred to Baltimore and discharged on July 14, 1865. She was able, however, by hard work and careful planning to keep the family together and rear the children. She remarried in 1888 and resided at Norrisville, Pa.

Harvey Carr was a dealer in Nursery stock.

Two long distance moves were made by this family. First in 1877 they left Penn's woods and settled somewhere in the State of Michigan. Evidently that situation was not to their liking for again in Jan. of 1879 they made another long jump. This time they came to rest in Franklin Co., Ark. where Harvey's death soon occurred.

The two youngest of the seven children of Harvey and Mary died young. Bertha on the day of her birth and Harvey on April 1, 1882. The daughter Myrtle did not marry. She went to Lakewood, Ohio in 1899 to attend High School after which she taught school in Conneautville, Pa. for several years. Orlena was the mother of:

Hettie Locke b.

SPENCER CARR 11121–13–611

Born in , 1838

It is most certainly regretable that almost nothing is available on the personal history of this head of a family of nine children. We may be permitted one guess. The only two children of whom we have anything seem to have been married in Ironton, Wis. therefor we may guess that Amos and his family resided there. The two children that married in Wisconsin were Addie, who married A. M. Smith on April 20, 1889 and Bertha May who married E. F. Sprague on June 16, 1889. He is buried in the "Carr" cemetery four miles north of Ashland, Neb. Lenora Carr was residing in Yutan, Neb. around 1890. She was likely living with the daughter, Clara who resided there. Married in Brooklyn, N. Y. on June 28, 1855 to Harriet Florence Northrop. She was born in Utica, N. Y. Dec. 25, 1835.

I do not have the place of residence of Walter and his family but due to his business having been in New York City it is reasonable to expect that they lived somewhere in that vicinity. He was a Commission Merchant.

They had six children. The sons Arthur and Adelbert both died in infancy. Edson Carr records the marriages of two of the daughters. Neither are known to have had issue so the little data that I have on them is given here. The daughter Minnie married Will K. Bareau on Oct. 26, 1887 and resided in Brooklyn, N. Y. The daughter Lelia married Gilbert

H. Badeau on Feb. 26, 1884. They also resided in Brooklyn, N. Y. where Mr. Badeau was an Attorney. He died in 1888.

Joseph and Mary set up housekeeping on one of his father's two farms. About two years later they built a house at what is known as Dwelly's Corners one mile north of Sloansville. Here Joseph took up the practice of Veterinary Medicine for which he had previously studied.

For about forty five years this family resided at or near the hamlet of Dwelly's Corners. About 1915 they purchased a residence in the Village of Sloansville and there lived out their lives.

Joseph E. Carr for more than fifty consecutive years served the town of Esperence as a Justice of the Peace and Member of the Town Board. He was held in great respect and affection by all who knew him.

William H. Carr married (2) in Walworth Co., Wis. on Oct. 30, 1886 to Carrie Louisa Culver. She was born in Leroy, Ill. on June 3, 1867.

Edson Carr's record, which is all that I have on this family, is not clear as to the place of residence. They were said to reside in Leroy (I suppose Leroy, Ill.) and yet their address is given as Sharon, Wis. My guess is that they resided for a time in Leroy, Ill. and later removed to Wis. This guess is strengthened by the fact that at least one child was born in Leroy.

William was the father of three children. The son John was married and may have had children. His wife was Mary Iva Dean. She was also from Leroy, Ill. having been born there Mar. 3, 1872. They were married in Walworth, Wis., Aug. 31, 1890.

GENERAL EUGENE ASA CARR 111272721

Born in town of Concord, Erie Co., N. Y., Mar. 20, 1830
Died in , 1910
Married in St. Louis, Mo. on to Mary McConnell. She was a daughter of General McConnel of St. Louis.

Of General Carr the Columbia Encyclopedia has this to say:

"He received his training at the Cavalry School at Carlisle, Pa. He served at the frontier until the outbreak of the Civil War. During his Civil War service he advanced from Captain to Major General of Volunteers. Mustered out of volunteer service he again joined the regular army and was sent to the western frontier where in many campaigns in the next twenty five years he became one of the best known calvary leaders and Indian fighters of the period."

General Carr was a graduate of West Point, Class of 1850.

He was the holder of a Congressional Medal of Honor for distinguished service at the battle of Pea Ridge during the Civil War. He was several times wounded in this engagement which he took part in while commanding the 3rd Ill. Cavalry.

He retired from military service on Feb. 15, 1893.

General Carr and his wife, Mary had one son. I have nothing regarding this son except that in St. Louis, Mo. on Feb. 3, 1891 he married Mimi Morrison.

This son was:

1112727211	Clark Merwin Carr	b. Aug. 8, 1866

COLONEL BYRON OSCAR CARR 111272722

Born in town of Concord, Erie Co., N. Y., April 24, 1832
Died in
Married (1) in on Oct. 19, 1858 to Mary E. Buck. She was born in Fairfax, Vt. , 1839 and died in Galesburg, Ill. Mar. 16, 1861. Col. Carr married (2) in Carlin, Neb. on Feb. 15, 1872 to Sarah Pratt. She was born in Freeport, Me. July 17, 1850.

Col. Carr was a veteran of the Civil War. He saw service in that unhappy conflict as Quartermaster of the Army of the Southwest in which service he received the rank of Colonel.

After the war he took a position with the Union Pacific R. R. For four years he was Supt. of the Ogden Division of that Railroad. This position was terminated by his appointment as a Government Inspector of Steamboats on the Mississippi River the duties of which he assumed for several years.

He later removed to California. Edson Carr states that he resided at Lemoore, Cal. where he was a Cashier in a Bank. The town History "Original town of Concord" says that he lived at St. Helena, Cal.

I have a suspicion that the account of Col. Carr's employment after the war as given above is reversed in its order. The information I have taken from the town history mentioned above. However it would seem more than likely that the Govt. appointment would have been the natural job to be given a Colonel when mustered out of the service and the R. R. job taken later. More to the point perhaps is the fact that the daughter Mary was born in Memphis, Tenn. in 1873, and the son Murray in Helena, Mont. in 1884.

It is more than likely that some of the five children of Byron and his wives had children to carry on the name but the scant information that I have on hand does not warrant considering any of them in the next Generation. The son Eugene was married in Lodi, Cal. on Feb. 19, 1889 to Alice R. Preston. She was born in Natchez, Miss. on Dec. 4, 1865.

This son Eugene became a distinguished attorney of the State of Washington serving at one time as Adjutant General of the State. I do not know that they had children. The son, Byron Thrope Carr was married in Lakeport, Cal. on Aug. 28, 1882 to Amy Childs. She was born in Sacramento, Cal. Oct. 6, 1861 and died in St. Helena, Cal. Jan. 17, 1884. They had one son who lived but three days. The second child of Byron and Sarah, George Pratt Carr, died Nov. 25, 1877.

The two children of Byron and Mary were:

1112727221	Eugene Merwin Carr	b. Aug. 30, 1859
1112727222	Byron Thrope Carr	b. Mar. 16, 1861

The three children of Byron and Sarah were:

1112727223	Mary Louisa Carr	b. Aug. 7, 1873
1112727224	George Pratt Carr	b. Sept. 6, 1875
1112727225	Murray Torry Carr	b. Nov. 19, 1884

The Rev. Carr removed from western New York State to Illinois as a child with his father, step mother and brothers.

His education was gained at Knox College in Galesburg. Ill. and in Colgate University (then called Madison Univ.) in Hamilton, N. Y. His graduation from Colgate was with the class of 1856. After a three year theological course also pursued at Colgate he entered the ministry of the Baptist Church being ordained in Nov. of 1859. He was then beginning his service at his first Church which was at Ogdensburg, N. Y.

His ministry was interrupted by the war between the states. He enlisted at the outbreak of the war as a Chaplain and served with the 3rd Ill. Cav. under his brother General Eugene Carr until Nov. 27, 1863 when he was appointed Hospital Chaplain of Volunteers. He was mustered out of service June 15, 1865.

After the return of peace the Rev. Horace Carr again took up the work of a Baptist minister. Among the Churches served by him were the Baptist Churches of Belvidere, Springfield, and Virden, Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, Farmington and Downer's Grove, Ill. and Parsons, Kan.

Rev. Carr and Sally had one son who is not recorded as having married. He was possessed of great talent and became a newspaper man in Mexico City, Mexico.

Married in Providence, R. I. on April 17, 1871 to Imogene Mathews. She was of Bradford N. and Harriet (Rogers) Mathews. Vol. 7 of "American Ancestry" gives Mrs. Carr's name as Imogen Matthewson but as "Carr Family Records" contains an unusually complete sketch of the life and accomplishments of Dr. Carr I am satisfied that Edson Carr had his information direct from the family and therefore I would be inclined to accept "Imogene Mathews" as correct.

Dr. Carr was a surgeon who served his community and his country with honor and distinction.

He was a graduate of Brown University of the class of 1857 with a M. A. Degree.

After graduation he studied medicine in a practical way for a short time in the office of Dr. J. W. C. Ely of Providence, R. I. He then took up the study seriously at the National Medical Institute of Washington, D. C. and at the University of Pennsylvania receiving a M. D. Degree from the Univ. of Pa. in 1860.

His Providence practice was resumed after the war and brought him considerable fame.

He was a member of both the Rhode Island and the Providence Medical Societies. He served as President of the Providence Society from 1870 until 1872.

Died in Santa Fe, N. M. Jan. , 1936
Married in Los Angeles, Cal. on June 30, 1902 to Alice Eaton.

She was the daughter of William and Emma (Harlow) Eaton.

When only ten years of age Henry Carr, or Harry as he became known, was taken by his parents to Los Angeles, Cal. where they at that time took up their permanent residence. Here he grew up and here he achieved considerable fame as an author and newspaper man.

In 1896 he took a position with the Los Angeles Times. At the time of his death he was a Director of the Times and had for some years written a column for that fine Pacific Coast daily that he titled "The Lancer".

Harry Carr's life was a colorful one including experiences as a world traveler, an author, a sports editor and war correspondent.

His travels were in the interest of his newspaper work and the books that he published. One of the most important contributions to the literary world made by Harry Carr was his book on the imperialism of Japan which he titled "Riding The Tiger". This book which was based on travel and observation in Asia proved almost prophetic.

Other products of his pen were, "The West is Still Wild", "Old Mother Mexico", "Los Angeles, City of Dreams", and several motion picture scenarios.

A sample of Harry Carr's work having reference to the family may be found as Appendix 7 of this book.

As a war correspondent during world war I he was in France. He also covered uprisings in Central and South America. At the time of the San Francisco earthquake and fire he wrote widely used accounts of the catastrophe.

Beside all this and work with D. W. Griffith, Cecil B. DeMille, Mack Sennett, Jesse Lasky and Erich Von Stroheim on motion pictures he maintained his place with the Los Angeles Times.

George Caleb was a dairyman on the island of Jamestown where he cultivated acres that have been cultivated by Carrs since their purchase from the Indians in 1659. This includes the Homestead farm. The house at the Homestead is occupied by a sister of George and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Bowser.

George and Hope were the parents of ten children. The son, Robert B., died as a lad of ten on Dec. 3, 1933. Beside the dau. carried to Gen. X one other of the children is married. This is the daughter Phyllis who married Medias J. DuFour on April , 1944.

Four of the sons of this family have served in the armed forces during the war just concluded. George served in France and Germany as a Corp. in the 243rd Field Artillery. He was discharged in late 1945. Theodore served as Mach. Mate 3rd. Class on the Coastal Patrol boat Y. P. 15 and in the Pacific on the U. S. S. Cacapon. Thomas served as a Seaman on the U. S. S. Married in Chicago, Ill. on Mar. 1, 1867 to Mary Jane Hobbs.

When the Civil War began Henry Carr had just finished his education in a commercial School in Chicago. He quickly traded his pen for a sword by enlisting in the 105th Ill. Vols. He was attached to Co. H. of that regiment and saw much action. He was under Sherman in the celebrated march "From Atlanta to the Sea".

After the war he returned to Chicago, soon married and began his commercial career as a bookkeeper. In 1871 his home and its furniture were destroyed in the great fire.

Mr. Carr was all his active life connected with the wholesale business in Chicago. He eventually had a business of his own known as H. H. Carr & Co. They dealt in grain and other produce.

Edson Carr notes that Mrs. Carr was of the noted New England families of Hobbs and Brown.

REV. JEROME S. CARR 124144431

Born in Marlboro, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1849
Died in Litchfield, Ill., Mar. 4, 1892
Married in East Union, Ohio on May 20, 1872 to Martha Lightfoot. She was a daughter of Samuel and Mary Lightfoot. She was born on Aug. 11, 1845 and died on June 16, 1916.

No drab and commonplace life was the life of Jerome and Martha. From their meeting at Mt. Union College to his death some twenty years later their lives were crammed with action and excitement.

Their first venture was a Commercial College at Hillsdale, Mich. Then came work as a surveyor and land agent in and around Cincinnati, Ohio. From this Jerome expanded into Colonization activities in Texas with long trips across the untouched prairies. From these trips he brought home to Martha and the children many thrilling tales and wonderful souveniers such as buffalo pelts and rattlesnake skins.

A later venture in Birmingham, Ala. in the coal business proved without profit so the family went to St. Louis, Mo. where Jerome engaged in the insurance business.

About 1888 they resided in Carrondolet, Mo. where Jerome became a Methodist minister in which profession he died four years later while serving a circuit of Churches from Litchfield, Ill. He achieved marked success as a Minister of the Gospel.

Jerome Carr not only possessed a keen, active mind but an inventive one as well. In 1884 while at Cincinnati he built and patented what was the forerunner of the motor bus. Although it failed to meet requirements due to the crude gas engines of the day it attracted much attention. The family preserved a letter from P. T. Barnum offering to equip his circus with the new transportation if it proved successful. (See under Philonzo D. Carr)

Jerome was a member of the Masonic fraternity and was buried in Cincinnati with Masonic rites. After the death of Martha his body was taken to Orville, Ohio where he and his beloved wife lie side by side in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Nine sons and daughters were born to Jerome and Martha. Three of them, Torrence, Samuel and Mary, died as infants. The other six are all considered in the next Generation.

The nine children were:

1241444311	+	Emma Patience Carr	b. April 11, 1873
1241444312	+	David Chalmer Carr	b. Jan. 27, 1876

P. D. Carr was for some years the manager of the D. H. Baldwin Piano Co. store in Nashville, Tenn. He later operated a business of his own as the P. D. Carr Piano Co. in Nashville.

Philonzo was a member of the Spruce St. Methodist Church. He was honored by his Church by being sent to Cleveland, Ohio as a delegate to the Methodist General Conference.

One son was born to Philonzo and Sarah. This son married and had at least one child but no other data is available except that the given name of his wife was Ann and that he was a moulder.

The marriage of Philonzo and Addie produced three sons. The information that I have on these sons is sketchy so it will be noted here. Lucien became Asst. Civil Eng. for the city of Cincinnati and died there in 1925 unmarried. Philonzo Jr. married and lived in Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio. He was for a year or two a sales manager in Honolulu, H. I. They adopted a daughter. Marion married in Cincinnati but died young in 1921 or 22. His wife was Mary Phillips, the daughter of a prominent physician.

Like his forebears Samuel Carr was a tiller of the soil and like them held a respected place in his community.

Two of his sons did not marry. Arthur was a graduate of Mt. Union College in 1909 later receiving his Masters Degree at Columbia Univ. and a Doctorate from Western Reserve. LYDIA CARR 126312111

Born near Watervale, N. Y., Mar. 23, 1814

Died in Lockport, Ill., Dec. , 1917

Married in Lockport, Ill. on May 23, 1851 to Aaron H. Barnes. He was born on Nov. 12, 1816. This was the second marriage of Mr. Barnes. He was the father of two children by his first marriage.

Lydia Carr Barnes lived the longest of any Carr yet brought to my knowledge. She was nearing her 104th birthday when the end came.

She was born in the old Carr homestead in Watervale which is still (in 1945) standing and owned by a Carr descendant.

Preparing herself to teach school she very likely practiced the art to some extent nearby her home at Watervale. At the age of twenty five she went to Wisconsin, perhaps with her brother, Allen. Here she taught for some years in the early log school houses of that State. Later she removed to Lockport, Ill., which is a town near Joliet and there married as shown above.

Here in Lockport she spent the many remaining years of her life. Some of these years, her last at least, she spent with her younger sister who also lived in Lockport.

An account of her centenary celebration published in an Illinois paper reunited her with her cousin, Miss Florence Carr, in Fayetteville, N. Y. which is close by the old Carr Home. Lydia Carr had lost all track of the home town that was then seventy five years behind her, and to the Carrs of Onondaga Co. she was by that time a family myth.

One daughter was born to Lydia and Aaron. This daughter died in her twenty fourth year on July 14, 1876.

This daughter was:

Ellen Barnes	b. Nov. 9, 1852

LYMAN CARR 126312112

Lyman married (3) in 1886 to Sarah Shorthouse.

The later twenty or so years of the life of Lyman Carr were probably spent in North Fairfield, Ohio. From the fact that the son Zenus was born in Eagle, Wis. it might be supposed that the family lived there at one time.

Both of the first two marriages of Lyman were fruitful. One child of each marriage died in infancy. There were Urzella who d. April 9, 1840 and Theodore who d. Feb. 17, 1853. The son Zenus married but was childless. He married Frances Curtis on June 18, 1866.

Two children were born to Lyman and Olive. They were:

1263121121		Urzella Adelaide Carr	b. Dec. 2, 1838

EDSON I. CARR
Author of "Carr Family Records"

EDSON IRVING CARR 126312254

Born in Ticonderoga, N. Y., Sept. 11, 1831

Died in

Married in Castleton, Vt. on Mar. 3, 1853 to Mary Ann Ward. She was born in West Rutland, Vt. on Jan. 16, 1834.

The spring following their marriage Edson and Mary Carr removed to Illinois. They resided for several years at Manchester, Boone Co. in that state. A period of residence at Beloit, Wis. is indicated also before 1890. After about 1890 the family seems to have lived at Rockton, Ill. Here Edson Carr for many years published the "Rockton Herald".

"Carr Family Records" published in 1894 was the work of Edson Carr. To this published account of the Carr families your present compiler is most deeply indebted. It is my hope that in this present work sufficient credit is given to the magnificent contribution of Edson Carr to the study of our common family. "Carr Family Records" has been out of print for many years. It deals with several other families of Carrs beside the one appearing between the covers of this book. It is much sought after by students of genealogy as well as members of the family.

Edson and Mary were the parents of twelve children. Four of the twelve died as infants or young people. These with their death dates were, Alard, Aug. 13, 1889; The tenth child, Feb. 8, 1874; Irena, Jan. 4, 1891 and the twelfth child Nov. 14, 1882. Beside the children carried to the next generation the son, Merritt was also married and quite possibly may have had issue. His wife was Phebe May Jenkins who he married in Beloit, Wis. on Dec. 24, 1894. She was born in Darien, Wis. Sept. 17, 1874.

CHAUNCEY CARR 126312611

Born in Pompey, N. Y., Mar. 20, 1817
Died in Riverside, Iowa, Feb. 25, 1904
Married (1) in Rock Creek, Kendall Co., Ill. on April 10, 1842 to Sophia Evans. She was born in North Carolina on Mar. 30, 1822 and died in Rock Creek, Ill., April 21, 1844.

Chauncey married (2) in Long Grove, Ill. on Mar. 23, 1845 to Hannah Ann Moore. She was born Mar. 19, 1820 and died at Long Grove, Ill. on April 9, 1847.

Chauncey married (3) in Long Grove, Ill. on June 6, 1847 to Mary Mitchell Morgan. She was born in Stockton, N. Y. on May 27, 1820 and died near Riverside, Iowa on Mar. 22, 1873.

Chauncey married (4) in Johnson Co., Iowa on Oct. 1, 1873 to Catherine Snyder. She was born in Morristown, Green Co., Pa. on May 30, 1836.

When about twenty one years of age (in 1838) Chauncey Carr went west with his parents. Soon after he married and set out for himself.

He like his father moved around quite a bit before coming to live in one place for long. Among his places of residence were Little Rock, Rock Creek and Aurora, Ill. About 1865 he bought a farm near Riverside, Iowa and there spent the remainder of his life.

An early directory of the city of Aurora gives some interesting details of the life of this ambitious member of the family. Under the heading of a historical sketch of the town this old directory says that Chauncey Carr came to Aurora in 1845 and bought the farm with a log house below town long known as the "Carr Place". This source further states that he was the first President of the County Temperance Society and that he opened a stone quarry in Aurora in 1853 that played a large part in the construction of the buildings of the city. This quarry was later filled in and now provides the site for the C. B. & A. R. R. Depot.

During the California Gold Rush the subject of this sketch made several trips across the plains and Rockies to the wildly developing country beyond. I imagine that these trips were made with supplies. His first trip was made with an ox team in 1852 and his last completed on New Years Day in 1867 when he arrived at his home near Riverside, Iowa. In one instance, his daughter Matilda informs me, he made the return trip via the Isthmus of Panama, the Gulf of Mexico and the Mississippi River.

Chauncey Carr and all of his family were Methodists. He was politically a Republican. He was the first President of the Aurora Temperance Union of Aurora, Ill.

For over thirty five years he operated his farm near Riverside, Iowa. The farm was known as Yankee Ridge.

All four marriages of Chauncey Carr were fruitful although eight of his thirteen children were born to his third wife, Mary.

Considerable information regarding the children that are not considered in the next Generation is available. I give it here. Phoebe mar. Marquis G. Troup who later became County Court Judge of Cowles Co., Kansas. She died in New Albany, Kansas on Jan. 30, 1871 leaving a ten months old son. This son (Thomas Troup) was reared by Thomas Moore near Riverside, Iowa, but died when about twenty years of age.

Frank Eugene as a young man on June 22, 1876 gave a lift to a stranger whom he passed upon the road. This proved fatal as the stranger robbed and murdered him.

Fred Henry died as a youngster on April 16, 1865.

Alvah Jay did not marry. He made his home with his brother James. He died Aug. 13, 1932.

Matilda mar. John Albert Meesz in Riverside, Iowa on Mar. 22, 1899. He was born at St. Charles, Ill. on Dec. 6, 1870 and died at Iowa City, Iowa on Dec. 30, 1927. Matilda was childless and resided in Iowa City in 1946.

They had three daughters and one son. The three daughters are carried to Gen. X. The son, Edgar Daru, married Harriet Price on Sept. 24, 1891. She was born in Iowa City, Sept. 25, 1871 and died in that city on July 18, 1947. They were childless. After teaching school for a few years, as did his wife, he operated a photographic Studio in Iowa City. In 1902 ill health compelled him to give this up. In 1909 they moved to California but returned to Iowa later. He died in Iowa City on Aug.11 1936 and was laid to rest in a granite Mausoleum that he himself designed and had erected on the Carr lot in Iowa City Cemetery. About 1860 the three Carr sisters, Marion, Esther and Minerva with their small children were bundled into covered wagons and with their three husbands driving set out from their Illinois homes for the Pacific Coast. To this bare statement of fact one can add with his imagination the hardships and adventures as well as the thrills and delights of new scenery and the new life in California. All three families remained on the Pacific Coast and there are doubtless many of their descendants living there to this day.

The years before their journey to California seem to have been spent in Clintonville, Ill.

I feel as though I should apologize for presenting a record with as scant information as this contains. REV. NORMAN CARR 126312743

Born in Eden Valley, N. Y., July 15, 1842
Died in Aurora, Ill., July 4, 1913
Married (1) in on Oct. 6, 1867 to Augusta Amelia Kennedy. She was born in Alymer, P. O. on , 1845 and died in on Aug. 26, 1873. Rev. Norman married (2) in the town of Blue Creek, Ind. on Aug. 4, 1875 to Eliza Esther Wood. She was born on Mar. 11, 1852. She died on Oct. 13, 1943.

Like his two brothers above Norman Carr was a veteran of the Civil War. Like them he also enlisted at Buffalo, N. Y. in August of 1862 (he on the 12th). He also suffered a wound in the same engagement as his brother Eron. In fact the parallel of the lives of these three brothers is striking for as it will be noted that in addition to their similar services in the Civil War each was twice married and each was the father of two sons.

After the war Norman Carr at the age of twenty seven was ordained to the ministry of the Baptist Church. His ordination took place at Flower Creek, Mich. on Jan. 1, 1870. He later entered the Baptist Theological Seminary at Morgan Park which later became The Univ. of Chicago and received the degree of B. D. from that institution in 1875.

He served pastorates at Lena, Ill. and at Kokomo, Ind. He resigned this last on Oct. 1, 1882 to become the Secretary of Franklin College at Franklin, Ind. It was in this position that Rev. Carr accomplished his greatest work. For twenty years he labored inceasingly for this institution. Three brief quotations from a brocure published in his honor by former students of Franklin College will serve to show his activity and influence in that work. One former student says:

"His major task had to do with money, building and material things but his task was spiritualized by the devotion, prayers and Christ-likeness that were always his. He was responsible for most of the present buildings and equipment. It was his effort that brought to Franklin College thousands of dollars for current expenses and that started the endowment with a half million dollars."

Another writes:

"To me Norman Carr represented Franklin College long before I knew the name of any one else at Franklin. It was Mr. Carr that traveled all over the state, to our Churches, to our associations and to our Sunday School Conventions, and not only collected the funds without which the College could not have carried on but brought to the boys and girls a vision of wider horizons. He gave us an inspiration to work for an education and pointed the way to Franklin."

Still another relates:

"Norman Carr was a great influence in my life. Just his way of living and his intense fervor in doing his work well left an impress that has helped me over the most difficult situations in my work in Burma."

In 1903 the Rev. Carr, feeling that Franklin College was on a firm foundation transferred his activities to Shurtleff College at Alton, Ill. In this work he was also very successful but his health became impaired and he resigned in 1909 to become the pastor of the Marion Ave. Baptist Church at Aurora, Ill. After about four years in the pulpit of that Church both his pastorate and his long active life were suddenly terminated by his death as indicated above.

Each of the marriages of the Rev. Carr produced two children.

The daughter, Lucile, who is not carried to Generation X is a Doctor of Osteopathy and like others of the family possessed of much musical ability. She is a graduate, with a degree of B. A., of Franklin College and from the Chicago College of Osteopathy in 1917. She has since practiced in Aurora, Ill. For some time she taught in the Chicago College of Osteopathy until her practice became too heavy to permit.

In 1902 she married the Rev. Henry Clay Miller. They reside in Aurora, Ill. They have no children.

The children of Norman and Augusta were:

1263127431	+	Lillian Augusta Carr	b. Nov. 2, 1869

The first husband of Lydia served in the war between the states. He was a member of the 151st Pa. Vol. and saw action at the famous battle of Gettysburg.

During both her first and her second marriages Lyda seems to have resided at Russell, Pa.

Like his older brother, John, Jehial was a soldier of the Union Army during the Civil War. I do not know the company and regiment to which he was attached. Edson Carr records that he was both wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Gettysburg.

Jehial was active in Church work serving as a Sunday School Superintendent for many years.

The second marriage of Jehial was without issue. Three children were born to Jehial and Clara:

1263127912	Claud Theron Carr	b. Dec. 12, 1876

ALONZO CARR 1263127-10-2

Born in , 1835
Died in
Married in on to Elizabeth Hines.

Many are the holes to fill in this record. The fact that Elizabeth married a cousin of Alonzo's in 1888 and was then the widow of Alonzo indicates that he died previously. See under Jehial Carr (126312776). Edson Carr records that the children of Alonzo and Elizabeth were residing at Hammondsport, Pa.

Three children were born to Alonzo and Elizabeth. The youngest died as an infant. They were:

1263127-10-21	John Carr	b.

Born in Erie Co., N. Y., Aug. 22, 1837
Died in
Married in on Mar. 25, 1860 to Mary L. Hines. She was born in on April 30, 1842.

Edson Carr records this family as residing in Randolph, N. Y. From the fact that the oldest child was born in Warren Co., Pa. I assume that they also resided for some time on the south side of the N. Y.-Pa. border. Randolph is situated in Cattaragus Co. which has a common border with Warren Co., Pa.

Three sons were born to John and Mary. The middle son, Frank, died as an infant on Oct. 20, 1867.

The three sons were:

1263127-10-31	+	Clarence Eugene Carr	b. April 9, 1861

Generation X

Up until now we have traced nine of the known generations of our common ancestry and like the Bibical accounts we have, inferentially at least, added to each generation the phrase "and they now sleep with their fathers". Now in this tenth generation we deal with a few of those that sleep not with their fathers but toil at bench, at desk, on the farm, in the class room, in the pulpit and in many and various other ways and places to bear their part of the contemporary burdens and to enjoy their part of the joys of this present age.

In the main the members of Generation X are the fathers and grandfathers of the active young Carrs of 1947.

In most of the past generations we have noted the constant geographical expansion of our typical New England family. This is the first non-pioneer generation since the Revolutionary War. It will be difficult to purge the "yender grasses" from our blood. It is a part of our inheritance. Perhaps we should not try. Who knows but that the coming facility of travel and of communication may bring a new era of pioneering. This time on a global scale. If so, I'll wager you will again find Carrs on the trail.

Here in Generation X. I have assigned each male a new number. This will replace, in the coming generation, the number which has now built up to undue cumbersomeness. Children of this generation are given this new number plus a hyphen (-) and their own digit as will be evident.

The comparative ease of genealogical research among the living is a challenge to us to complete the scant sketches and to search out the missing ones of Generation X. I solicit your assistance in this continuing work.

1 ORR ELKANAH CARR 1112154142

Born in Redford, Mich., Dec. 16, 1860
Died in Fowlerville, Mich. , 1937

Married in Iosco Twp., Livingston Co., Mich. on Mar. 7, 1883 to Maria Jane Kirkland. She was born in Iosco, Mich. on Aug. 6, 1852 and died in Fowlerville, Mich. Feb. 23, 1931. Her parents were George Albert and Jane (Cobb) Kirkland who came in 1850 to pioneer Michigan from England. One of their grandchildren has this to say of the parents of Maria Kirkland. "Coming to Michigan with a young family they had little but rugged strength of body and mind to help pioneer a home from the forest. The whippoorwill that sang at dusk from the log cabin roof did not strike the most cheerful note to the ears of a lonesome young mother. The father with moral fiber as fair and as honest as his body and mind were strong accumulated considerable land and wealth and died at eighty seven years." Maria herself was a graduate of the Ypsilanti State Normal School. She taught in Livingston, Mich. It is said of her that she continued through life studious and keenminded, blessing the lives that she touched by her wisdom and charity.

Orr Carr was a farmer working at home until his marriage. He then bought a farm one mile west of Fowlerville, Mich. where the family lived, where he died and which is still in the family.

13 NELSON FRANKLIN CARR 1112191324

Born in town of Wilton, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Sept. 2, 1844

Died in Bartlesville, Okla., Nov. 3, 1925

Married in Oswego, Kan. on Aug. 25, 1866 to Sarah Ann Rogers. She was the daughter of Hilliard and Patsy (Fields) Rogers. She was born at Honey Creek, Okla. (then Ind. Ter.) on Nov. 3, 1849 and died in Bartlesville, Okla. on Aug. 6, 1929.

As eventful and colorful a story as can be found in this history of a family is the story of the life and adventures of Nelson F. Carr.

Mr. Frank M. Carr has written a sketch of the life of his father. This is much to lengthy for such a work as this but to it I wish to acknowledge my indebtedness for the information given here.

Left fatherless at four years of age Nelson's start was indeed the hard way. Not much time for education, none at all for play when at nine years old he began to shoulder the family responsibility. At fifteen he was the main support of his mother and two sisters.

It was when he was fifteen (April of 1859) that the family decided to seek better fortune in the excitingly new west. By rail as far as it then went and beyond by ox team they journeyed until after four months of travel they settled near Ft. Scott, Kan. Here they took up 320 Acres of homestead land and began life anew.

Realizing his lack of education Nelson returned to Saratoga Springs in 1860 for a year in school. This year he must have used to tremendous advantage as he returned to a book keeping position in Ft. Scott.

During the Civil War he served with distinction in Co. B. of the 6th Kansas Cavalry from 1862 until 1865.

The fifteen years of his life after the war was a period of adventure and frontier fortune making such as we expect to find only in fiction.

Love and marriage, the raising of a fine family, fur trading, founding towns, traversing game filled, primitive country, building grist mills, building and supporting a school, lumbering and farming were among the adventures.

His marriage was interesting and fortunate. Meeting the lovely daughter of his friend, the highly honored Cherokee scout Hilliard Rogers, he promptly fell in love as did she. Their marriage soon took place. For nearly sixty years they lived and worked together.

Oswego, Kansas was founded by Nelson Carr. He founded its first business (a trading post) and served as its first postmaster. Bartlesville, Okla. is another city which owes its beginnings largely to Nelson Carr.

The family removed from Oswego, Kan. to Bartlesville, Okla. in Sept. of 1867.

After 1875 he gave most of his time to agriculture. At one time he owned about 5000 acres of excellent grazing and cropping land near Bartlesville, Okla.

In ________ oil was discovered on the Carr farm and a fortune for him and his family resulted.

Nelson F. Carr was a member of Old Parker Lodge F. & A. M. of Coffeyville, Kan. and later of a lodge in Bartlesville, Okla.

Both Nelson and his wife died in Bartlesville where since 1909 they had maintained a fine home. They are both buried in a Mausoleum in White Rose Cemetery.

Eight children were born to Nelson and Sarah Ann. Of these Edward died as a youngster of nine. The daughter Josie May was married but was childless. Her husband was Mr. L. J. Brower. The dau., Grace, married Mathew Elam on June 30, 1889 and died the 28th of the October following.

ver) Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton was a veteran of the Civil War and a Newspaper editor.

Charles E. Carr resides in Chicago, Ill. He is a Controller for a Machinery Dealer. Twenty five years of his life have been spent as an Executive of a Bolt and Nut Mfg. Co. His business has taken him to residence in several of the large cities of Pa. and Ohio.

Mr. Carr is possessed of considerable artistic talent and has recently produced studies of Generals MacArthur and Eisenhower.

Two sons and two daughters were born of Mr. Carr's first marriage and two sons of the second. All four of these sons volunteered for service in the conflict that has just closed. All four served overseas and have none suffered injury. Something of the military record of the son, Charles, is given under his notice in Gen. XI. The son, Albion, had just finished his second year of Art at Santa Barbara College at the time of his enlistment in June of 1941. He enlisted for training as a pilot in the Naval Air Service but was kept from this position by the lack of engineering in his college training. He returned to Long Beach and enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps. As a "Leather Neck" he spent nearly a year and a half in Pacific duty all the time endeavoring to get into the air service. He was at last successful and underwent training which resulted in assignment as a Port Wing Gunner on a B 25 Bomber just before the cessation of hostilities. William chose the Army and enlisted at Chicago in Nov. of 1942. His service, like that of his older brothers was in the Pacific. He saw active service in Rendova Island, New Georgia, Guadalcanal, Bougainville, Lingayen Gulf (where he landed on his birth day), Manila (witnessing the release of prisoners from Santa Tomas and Pilibid prisons), and Shiogama, Japan. While in Japan William purchased an elaborate Samouri Sword from a prominent but destitute Japanese family. Little can be said of the military record of the youngest of these four sons. This is not because the service of Theodore was short or unimportant. It was neither. The reason is because his service was in the O. S. S. and of a highly confidential nature. Theodore enlisted in the U. S. Signal Corps immediately upon his graduation from High School. After basic training he transferred to O. S. S. and served with distinction until his discharge early in 1946. Theodore, like his father, has much artistic ability. A full page of his drawings was published on Aug. 18, 1945 in the Chicago Herald Tribune.

79 JAMES EDWARD CARR 1263126113

Born in Aurora, Ill., July 14, 1848

Died in Riverside, Iowa, Mar. 2, 1907

Married in Riverside, Iowa on Oct. 6, 1874 to Mary Jane Craig. She was of Robert and Sarah (Godlove) Craig. She was born in Riverside, Iowa April 6, 1855 and died in the same place on Feb. 27, 1907.

In presenting the life of these fine people we can do no better than use the words of their daughter as contained in a letter to me. "He was very young when his father made his first trip to the Gold Fields but as he grew older he, with his younger brothers and sisters helped his mother "keep the home fires burning" while his father was away.

James was obliged to leave school at a very early age and when it was not necessary for him to be at home, he worked out for other farmers and managed to get his education by studying at nights. He taught school for twenty-five years, working at whatever he could find to do each summer. He was the first school teacher in Riverside, Iowa. His summer work consisted of farming—first on rented farms but later purchased a farm of his own, selling school supplies, Singer Sewing machines, Organs, insurance—ANYTHING to make an honest dollar to support his family. James listened to the call of "Go West, Young Man" and in 1885 sold his farm near Riverside and went to western Kansas where he purchased many more acres of land and he and his brother Alvah undertook to farm it and raise cattle. He kept up his school teaching in the winters—was Justice of the Peace, and both he and his wife were active in church work in the little schoolhouses. After four years of hardships, filled with first hope, then despair, as hot winds, prairie fires, grasshoppers, etc. took their crops just when they showed much promise, James and Mary Jane, joined by another family who had shared all the joys and sorrows of pioneering with them (the Willard and Carolyn Tatman (Mary Jane's sister) family) packed their belongings, loaded their families into covered wagons, and drove back to Iowa. They stopped in Leon, Iowa, for four years and then returned to Riverside where they lived the remainder of their lives.

In 1902 they were able to do what had been their wish for years—buy a small acreage and have a fruit farm. This was right where they had met in church as boy and girl in the little village of Yatton which was the original town until the railroad went through a mile north and the town was built up there and named Riverside. The fruit farm was proving a success and was enjoyed by the whole family for five years until diabetes with Mary Jane, and pneumonia with James Edward, took them both in one week's time in February and March of 1907.

James Edward and Mary Jane were devout Christians and belonged to the Methodist Church, and raised their four girls to be Methodists, also. While they never accumulated a great amount of this world's goods, they made—and kept—friends all along the way and never hesitated to lend a helping hand to others.

James was a Prohibitionist—almost a radical along that line—and a 100% Republican. He took his daughters to political meetings, lectures, debates, etc., always saying: "The time will come when you will need to know these things and I want you to be ready for it." (that was before women were allowed to vote but he felt sure it was coming).

James and Mary Jane were wonderful parents and the examples of real living which they left their daughters, were worth much more than an inheritance of a lot of wealth would have been."

James and Mary Jane had four daughters. Maude is the only one that did not marry. She is a business woman in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Here she and Miss Stella O. Steffenson have for several years maintained a fine relationship as friends and partners. Maude is a member of Ashley Chapter D. A. R. of Cedar Rapids.

Generation XI

Again the smell of powder is on our clothes. Again the women wait with fearful souls. Again the dogs of war are unleashed among us. For the first time one Generation of us Carrs takes part in two wars, or as some of us feel, in two phases of the same war. For the first time the women do not all wait at home. Some join in the conflict as Wacs, Waves, Spars etc.

Think not, you who in distant future days may read this, that we of this eleventh Generation were mainly engaged in war or that we craved the bloody business. No; we have been building. Between the birth of the eldest of us and the youngest lies a period of mechanical and technical advancement as yet unmatched. The oldest of us can remember our first sight of an automobile. Others not so ancient among this Generation date back to their first thrill of seeing humans borne aloft on wings of metal and fabric. The youngest are trying to comprehend nuclear fission. Truly a great age we of the eleventh Generation are priviledged to have a part in.

We are filling positions of trust scattered about this broad land of America. We are professional men and women, we are farmers, electricians, mechanics, printers, housewives, nurses etc., etc. All taking honorable part in the complex economy of a nation that our fathers and mothers have in a real sense helped to create.

About one hundred Carr sketches appear before you in this Generation. I am ashamed of the lack of information displayed among them but hopeful withal because this is a Generation that is alive and able to correct and elaborate the records. Won't you do that?

Generation XII

"FINIS" cannot be written at any point in the story of any family such as ours. This generation is the last to be recorded in this book but even as it comes to your hands the lusty cries of Generation XIII may quite likely be rising among us. Thus have we come, generation quickly following generation, each filling its place and transmitting those sturdy qualities of body, mind and soul that have insured and still insure the place of our family among all those who together have made and now make up this America.

Let us be proud. Not in any overweening way but rather in the manner of our Quaker ancestors. Humbly proud that we Carrs have filled an honorable place in American life from the beginning. Determinedly proud that our descendants will continue to keep the name above reproach.

And further, my will is, that if my wife Sarah Carr ought not of, nor be satisfied with what I shall have given her by this my will in lieu of her dowery, and give discharge under her hand and seal that my estate shall not be troubled or disturbed by herself or any other person, by, from, or under her, in the hands of these I have bequeathed it unto; but on ye contrary shall cause disturbance unto them in the possession thereof about her dowery, then my will is, that my executors shall take all my estate both real and personal into their hands, and whatsoever she shall recover shall be abated out of what estate I gave unto my four children which I had by her, and in lieu thereof, only twenty pounds apiece shall be paid to each of them by my executors herein after named, and all other lands that are mine and not disposed of in this my will, I give and bequeath to my grandchildren, to be equally divided among them.

And this my last will and testament I make and ordain my well beloved sons, Nicholas Carr and Caleb Carr, my full and whole executors, and if one of them die, then my will is that the other of them yt shall survive shall be full and whole executor thereunto, and do hereby utterly disallow, revoke, annul and make void all and every other former testament, wills, legacies, bequests and executors, by me in anywise before this time willed and bequeathed, ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal ye day and year above written.

APPENDIX NO. 6

An interesting extract from the will of Thurston Carr. It gives some idea of the manner of life of our Stephentown families. See No. 11121-13-

To his widow, Thurston Carr bequeathed as follows: "The use of west room, in the house, bed room back of it, liberty in the cellar, chamber what she needs for her use, one cow well kept on the farm, winter and summer the use of the cow for her, fire wood cut up at the door what is necessary for her use. One hundredweight of good pork well salted up every year. Also six bushels of corn and six bushels of rye yearly. And sauce of all kinds raised on the farm for her own use both winter and summer and privilege of all fruit growing on the farm for her use and when the orchard makes cider she shall have one bbl. of cider and one bbl. of water (sic), cider and casks to hold it. Also her bed and bedding to be at her disposal."

APPENDIX NO. 7

Henry Clay Carr Jr. was for many years in the official family of the "Los Angeles Times". During this period his column was a daily feature of that paper. In 1925 Henry paid a visit to his ancestral home in Rhode Island. The following appeared in his daily column at that time. See under 121-10-63113.

"Jamestown (R. I.) Sept. 20. I think I am falling in love with the ghost of my great grandmother.

I am writing this in the bedroom of the old colonial farmhouse where she came as a young bride—and in which she died.

Her portrait hangs above the old mantel.

That was before the days of daguerrotypes. The young ladies of her day sat in a chair that had a screen at one side and a candle on the other. An artist outlined the shadow of their faces on the screen—the silhouette portrait.

My great grandmother's silhouette is lovely—a delicate patrician profile with little love curls caressing her forehead and the nape of her sweet, proud young neck.

Her name was Mary Cross. I imagine that her marriage must have been quite a society affair. Her husband was the great-grandson of old Governor Caleb Carr, who was one of the last of the royal governors of Rhode Island. She was the daughter of a colonel in the Colonial army.

My great-grandfather must have been a beau; for in the bedroom hangs an old "courting mirror", such as the young dandies used to carry in wooden cases in their saddlebags, whereby to arrange their wigs when they went a-wooing.

The old farm house was already twenty years old when Mary came there in 1805 as a bride. She rode behind her husband on a pillion.

I don't know whether she had slaves to help her. In many of the old family wills slaves were given away.

But it was a Quaker family, and they early turned against slavery. So I imagine that my beautiful great grandmother contrived with her sweet, lovely, young hands alone.

Up in the old garret I found her old spinning wheel and her old linen wheel.

Yes, and the candle moulds into which she poured the tallow for the winter lights.

Down stairs is an old clock, builded in 1640, which still ticks just as it ticked to Mary Cross on the summer days when the sun danced on the water of Narragansett Bay.

Most of the time Mary must have been rocking a baby in the old box cradle that lies mouldering in the dim, wan light of the garret.

Those were the days of huge New England families when every father was head of a clan.

In the seventeen years of her married life she had ten children. The last was born in Oct. 1822. It lived only a little while. The little wife died the following December, three days after the seventeenth anniversary of her wedding. She died on Christmas eve.

My great grandfather loved her so dearly—and who would not—that he could not live without her. He died the following April. They say he just wasted away.

And this in "cold New England".

A little boy of fourteen found himself head of a family of ten to feed. But he valiantly tackled the work on the old farm, while a little sister mothered the family.

They say that the spirit of Mary Cross comes back by night to this old bedroom—yearning over the little boy and his little sister, struggling to raise the family she left.

Every night I go to sleep in the old four poster bed hoping her ghost will come.
I hear the old trumpet vine rapping and tapping on the window.
But my beautiful great grandmother does not come.

APPENDIX NO. 8

This dignified certificate of marriage is preserved as an example of the form that many of our Quaker forebears affixed their signatures to. See under No. 124144.

"Whereas Samuel Carr, son of Caleb and Sarah his wife, of the tonwship of Northampton, in the County of Burlington, and province of West Jersey; and Ann French, daughter of Robert French and Hannah his wife, of the township of Chester, in the county and province aforesaid; they having declared their intentions of marriage with each other before several monthly meetings of the people called Quakers, held at Evesham in the county and province aforesaid, and having consent of parents and relatives concerned, their said proposals were allowed by said meeting.

Now this may certify to all whome it may concern, that for the full accomplishment of their said intentions, this twentieth day of the twelfth month one thousand seven hundred and eighty one, 1781, they the said Samuel Carr and Ann French appeared in a public meeting of the aforesaid people, met together at their house in Evesham; and the said Samuel Carr taking the said Ann French by the hand, did in a solmn manner openly declare that he took her, the said Ann French, to be his wife, promising through divine assistance, to be unto her a loving and faithful husband until death should separate them.

And then and there in the same assembly, the said Ann French did in like manner declare that she took him, the said Samuel Carr to be her husband, promising through divine assistance, to be unto him a loving and faithful wife until death should separate them; and moreover, they the said Samuel Carr and Ann French, she according to the custom of marriage assuming the name of her husband, as a further confirmation thereof have hereunto set their hands."

APPENDIX NO. 9

Capt. John Carr was the grandfather of the author of "Carr Family Records". This story which is included in that treatise on the Carr family evidently came down through the author's father as Capt. John died when his grandson was but seven months old. See under 1263122.

"Before he had arrived to manhood, he with six of his comrades were one day surprised and captured by a band of Indians who lay in ambush along their route, and taken a long distance into the Indian country. The usual penalty of death was the decree of the redmen's council, and active preparations were made to have the execution as painful as possible. They were all staked down to the ground, blazing fagots applied to their bodies, and subjected to a lingering death of most excruciating agony. All suffered death in this horrible manner but John Carr, whom they discovered to be a fine singer, and while his comrades shrieked in their awful suffering by the slow fire of death, he was made to sing their heart-rending requiem. After the consummation of this fiendish work of the savages, they all got beastly drunk on the liquor they had plundered from the settlers on their raid, excepting one who was to guard the remaining prisoner. Toward morning when the whole camp was in a drunken stupor, the guard sent Carr with a camp kettle to a spring near by for some water. He gladly complied with the order, but instead of returning, left the kettle at the spring and boldly struck out for liberty. For three days and the intervening nights he kept on his weary way without sleep, subsisting only on a few berries and such slender twigs as he could grasp in his hasty flight. It was nearly nightfall of the third day when he came out of the forest and found protection and safety; and only an hour later, his Indian captors who had pressed so closely on his trail, appeared in the edge of the woods, but too late to recover their escaped prisoner."
